U. N. DELAYS PALESTINE DECISION

French Cabinet Seeks Power To End Strikes

Parliament Called To Act On Demands

PARIS, Saturday, Nov. 29 (AP)—Premier Robert Schuman's Cabinet summoned Parliament to meet at 10:30 a. m. (4:30 a. m., Eastern Standard Time) today to act upon its demands for extraordinary powers to cope with spreading strikes.

The Cabinet held a three-hour emergency meeting last night after the Premier had fired 66 police commissioners and called 80,000 troops back to the Army in the midst of a strike of 2,000,000 to 4,000,000 men in 20 national unions, including railwaymen.

The demands the Cabinet agreed upon were not disclosed officially, but they were understood to include authorization to (1) mobilize certain public service workers; (2) take stern measures against sabotage, particularly of railroads, post offices, communications and electric light plants, and (3) deal strictly with civil servants and employes of the nationalized railroads judged guilty of breaking discipline.

Strike Curbs Seen

There was a posibility also, a parliamentary source said, that the National Assembly might be asked to limit the right to strike.

The Cabinet also decided to meet tomorrow to vote on proposals for reclassification of civil servants—a measure that would in many cases result in pay rises intended to satisfy the strikers' demands.

Minister of Commerce and Industry Robert LaCoste, in a radio broadcast, asked coal miners to return to work. He cited critical needs for fuel for homes and industries.

Meanwhile, a split widened in the General Confederation of Labor between Communists and anti-Communists over the strike movement, which was getting a stranglehold on the French economy.

The government's recall of half of the 1946 class of conscripts, just a week after half the 1947 class was remobilized, was decided upon at a Cabinet meeting yesterday morning with President Vincent Auriol. The equivalent of 15 divisions thus had been called in to strengthen the army.

Reds Charge "Purge"

The firing of the 66 police commissioners, each in charge of a district corresponding to an American precinct, was called a "purge" by the Communist newspaper L'Humanite. It was reported the step was taken because Schuman feared Communists might get control of the police force as they did in some Balkan countries. The 66 had been members of the wartime "resistance" who were appointed after the liberation.

An informant close to the Premier's office said Schuman already had decided not to attempt to mobilize striking dock workers because they were too solidly Communist.

He was reported seriously considering mobilizing the railroad workers, however, because opposition to the strike already had become strong within the railway union ranks.

The national strike committee directing operations of the 20 unions, on which there are no representatives of the anti-Communist minority of the General Confederation, issued a communique calling on all members to give aid to the railroad strikers wherever necessary.

Curley Back At Desk; Receives Warm Welcome

BOSTON, Nov. 28 (AP) — Just as jaunty as ever, James M. Curley today took over as Mayor of this city of 770,000 again as political followers gave him a warm welcome back from federal prison where he served five months for mail fraud.

Curley's six to 18 months sentence was commuted by President Truman on Thanksgiving Eve.

Asserting he felt 10 years younger than when he entered the Federal Penitentiary at Danbury, Conn., Curley told reporters he had no immediate plans for a vacation.

Bevin Warns Soviet Union Western Powers May Act If Big Four Fails To Agree

Word Battles Mark Ministers' Session

LONDON, Nov. 28 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin warned Russia tonight that the Western Powers possibly would act on their own to save Germany and Europe from "chaos" if the Big Four failed to agree on Germany's future.

The warning came during a session of the Foreign Ministers conference marked mainly by confusion and disagreements, informants said.

Bevin, the sources added, looked straight at impassive Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and asked:

"Are we going to leave Europe in chaos? Is chaos our objective? If it is we had better know now. If a settlement is to be blocked every time we try, I say we cannot go on forever with chaos in Europe as it is now."

Border Commission Blocked

Bevin asked the question after Molotov blocked agreement on setting up a border commission to examine territorial claims on Germany and a proposal to allow economic integration of the Saar with France.

Molotov then charged that even before the conference started Britain had a plan to set up a Western German government. He then asked that the four powers condemn the setting up of any "segment" German government in place of the central administration desired by the Soviet Union.

Bevin denied Molotov's charge.

The exchange on the creation of a German government in the occupation zones of the Western Powers came, the informants said, as Molotov hammered on his familiar theme "that the Western Powers want a partitioned Germany."

Secretary of State George Marshall said the record of the United States was clear on the subject of German unity. He pointed out the Soviet Union had been asked repeatedly to join its zone with the economically merged British-American zones. The offer still stands, Marshall said.

New French Proposal

Meanwhile, the Foreign Ministers' deputies heard a French proposal that Russia receive $100,000,000 from current production in Austria as part of the general reparations settlement.

The French proposal was described as a new attempt to break the four-power deadlock on what constitutes German assets in Austria and what might be used for reparations. Once this deadlock is resolved the way would be open for the writing of an Austrian peace treaty.

Informants predicted that Russia likely will await the outcome of the Ministers' deliberations on Germany before committing herself to removing Soviet troops from Austria—a step which Russia would be required to take if an Austrian treaty is concluded.

Cop Is Convinced; Finds 12 Mice In Woman's Purse

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 28 (AP)—Police said today an unnamed woman was picked up Thanksgiving Eve on "suspicion of shoplifting" after she failed to pay for a box of crackers.

Police Lt. Earl Cornelison looked in her purse to corroborate her story she "forgot" to pay for the crackers used for "feeding her mice" and had $26 with her. Convinced, he hastily snapped the purse shut and sent the woman on her way.

The 12 mice, Cornelison said, were frolicking inside the oversize purse.

Administration Accused Of "Bad Faith" By Taft

Quizzes Harriman On Economic Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP) — Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) today challenged the administration's "good faith" in asking "limited" economic control powers, while two high administration officials disagreed on the best way to curb inflationary bank loans.

Taft took issue with Secretary of Commerce Harriman's testimony before the Senate-House Economic Committee that only "limited" authority was being sought by President Truman to control and allocate scarce goods and commodities with the view to halting the rising cost of living.

The Ohio Senator contended that what was really being sought was blanket "100 per cent authority."

"I don't think your proposals are in good faith," he said.

Snyder, Eccles Disagree

Harriman told the committee the overall aim was to channel scarce supplies into the most essential uses. He mentioned meats, steel and lumber as major fields where in he "hoped" lower prices would result.

Secretary of Treasury Snyder told the committee he disagreed with the proposal of Federal Reserve Board Chairman Marriner Eccles that banks be required to set aside special reserves. Eccles, in making the proposal last week, asserted the special reserves would cut down the amount of money banks can lend and thus be anti-inflationary.

Snyder said he believes the best way to reduce the banks' lending ability is to keep tax revenues higher than government spending and use the surplus to pay off government securities owned by banks.

Snyder gave support to Eccles' proposal to restore controls over consumer credit and installment buying. And he served notice he will ask Congress for funds to step up the campaign to sell savings bonds to soak up potential buying power in the hands of the public.

Several Hearings Being Held

The Senate-House group is one of several congressional committees holding hearings on Mr. Truman's anti-inflation program. Though Republican leaders have said some portions may be enacted, they have marked those dealing with a "standby" control authority over wages and prices for discard.

Harriman was questioned closely by Taft and Sen. Watkins (D-Utah) about the "overall plans" of the administration.

Taft asked if the shortage of newsprint would be solved if controls were set up.

Harriman said the newsprint shortage probably will continue for some time and that controls would help, but not solve the problem.

Finnish Strike Ends

HELSINKI, Finland, Nov. 28—(AP)—More than 40,000 Finnish government employes called off their strike today after Premier Mauno Pekkala's Cabinet reportedly made plans to conscript the strikers into the army.

POLICE RULE COLLEGE GIRL'S DEATH SUICIDE

WAYLAND, Mass., Nov. 28. (AP)—An attractice 22-year-old college girl was ruled a suicide today as police said they had not found a motive for the act of the philosophy student whom a roommate described as seeming to "wish the world would end."

Nude and frozen, the body of Frances G. Flint, Vassar alumna and graduate student at Radcliffe, was found in lonely woods Thursday night. Near the corpse was a rifle in a pool of blood. The girl's clothes were scattered 75 feet away.

Associate Medical Examiner J. Harry McCann, who ruled Miss Flint had been dead about two days, said she stumbled against branches before falling lifeless after being blinded by a bullet in the head.

Her Radcliffe roommate, Margarita Silva, of Puerto Rico, told police Miss Flint appeared lately to be "very nervous" and "seemed to wish the world would end."

Miss Flint's mother, Mrs. William Flint, Radcliffe house mother and former president of the New Hampshire League of Women Voters, said her daughter had appeared "moody and downcast".

Lardner Is Dismissed By 20th Century-Fox

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 28 (AP) — Writer Ring Lardner, Jr., one of 10 film figures cited by the Thomas Un-American Activities Committee for contempt in refusing to testify whether he is a member of the Communist Party, was dismissed today by 20th Century-Fox.

The action was in line with a decision of movie executives in New York earler in the week.

W Lardner issued this statement:

"I have been informed that the studio will not continue to pay me beyond today, but so far they have not given me grounds for this action. But I naturally suspect that the Thomas committee blackmail operations have something to do with it."

U.S. Is Determined To Remain Strong, Truman Declares

Again Sounds Call For Training Laws

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—(AP)—President Truman, calling again for universal training legislation, said today this nation is determined to remain strong as it pursues its policies of peace and freedom.

Speaking first to a crowd in Union Station after a 30-minute inspection of historic documents aboard the "Freedom Train," he said he wished all the people of the world could see them and know "what we are fighting for now—world peace."

Later addressing a group of champion recruiters of the National Guard, Mr. Truman said he would send Congress in January another message calling for universal training legislation. He urged them to work among their congressmen and senators in behalf of its passage.

The recruiting officers had called at the White House to receive the President's congratulations on signing up boys for the National Guard.

Mr. Truman, who commanded Battery D 129th Field Artillery in World War I, told the young men he was a National Guardsman before most of them were born.

Smiling at them, he declared:

"I am still a colonel in the field artillery and they won't promote me."

Sgt. James B. Bryant, of West Virginia, inquired whether the President was "backing us up on a universal training program."

"That's my program," Mr. Truman replied quickly.

Bryant remarked that "you seem to be having trouble with Sen. Taft."

The President avoided direct answer to this but said he was sending a new message on the subject to the next session of Congress.

Bill To Boost All Tax Exemptions Introduced

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—(AP)—A bill to increase all individual income tax exemptions was introduced today by Rep. Youngblood, (R-Mich). He said it would "assist people in the lower income brackets to meet present high costs."

Taft Charges FDR-Truman Policies Led To European "Chaos," Demands For Aid

MORE ARMY OFFICERS FACE INVESTIGATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—Several more wartime purchasing officers of the armed forces will be called upon to explain their relations with contractors who made large profits, members of a House committee indicated today after a long hunt for war frauds.

Chairman Bender (R-Ohio), of the House Expenditures Subcommittee, which has been digging into war transactions for several months, said he is "ready to go" on certain cases involving plane contracts.

Bender predicted that the results of its inquiry will compare favorably with those of the Senate War Investigating Subcommittee which unearthed the secret wartime dealings of Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, Air Force procurement officer.

Naming no names, Bender said that investigators have been examining the relations of several wartime purchasing officers with manufacturers who later were listed as having been greatly overpaid by the government.

A report from the General Accounting Office, turned over to Congress early this year, is the foundation for the Bender committee's inquiry. The accounting office report said that some of the Army and Navy officers who handled war contracts since have been hired by the manufacturers whose contracts they renegotiated.

The committee plans a series of hearings running into January.

Bennett Meyers, central figure in the Senate subcommittee's investigation, already has been stripped of h': $550 (gross) a month pension and of his military honors as a result of the testimony. He also faces the threat of military and civil prosecution.

Winter Relief Bill Encounters Delay

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—A charge that Roosevelt-Truman policies bred economic chaos in Europe and led to demands for billions in American aid was made today by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) as the $597,000,000 winter relief bill encountered a delay.

Taft, while announcing that he would vote for the bill, told the Senate that the executive branch of the government let the Russians build themselves up as a strong power in Eastern Europe, and gave them the opportunity to prevent the recovery of Western Europe.

He also declared that the Morgenthau plan for reducing Germany to an agricultural state dealt a severe blow to Europe's economy.

With many Senators absent because of a prolonged Thanksgiving Day holiday, the Senate quit for the weekend in the middle of the afternoon after approving an amendment of the $597,000,000 measure forbidding foreign countries to use any of the money to buy arms.

Vandenberg Displeased

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.), of the Foreign Relations Committee, was obviously displeased that he could not dispose of all amendments today to clear the way for a final decision on the bill Monday.

On the House side, three southern Democrats protested House delay on the bill.

Rep. Jarman (D-Ala.) noted that the Foreign Affairs Committee took a recess last Tuesday until Monday and has not yet sent legislation to the House floor.

"The Foreign Affairs Committee has been unfair to the members of this House, to the President of the United States, to the State Department and the world," Jarman told his colleagues. "This is being done while turmoil reigns in France, and while the future of that country remains in the balance.

"Profound Concern" over delay in passing the bill was expressed by former Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson in a telegram to congressional leaders. Patterson is chairman of the Executive Committee for the Marshall Plan to Aid European Recovery.

U. S. Yielded to Russia

The pending bill would make up to $597,000,000 available for food, fuel and fertilizer for France, Italy and Austria for the winter months.

Taft, who voted previously to cut this amount, said that the administration "to a large extent" is responsible for the conditions which

Works Board To Meet

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 28—(AP)—Gov. Lane announced today the Board of Public Works would meet Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the executive offices at the State House.

One subject to be considered will be a priority list for disposing of materials at the Solomons amphibious base recently acquired from the Navy by the state.

Gen. LeClerc, French War Hero, Dies In Plane Crash

PARIS, Nov. 29 (AP)—Gen. LeClerc, the hero of the march from Lake Chad, and the man who led French troops back into Paris, has been killed in an airplane crash in Africa, the Air Ministry announced tonight.

The 46-year-old expert in armored warfare died in the Sahara Desert where he first gained fame in World War II. Air Secretary Andre Maroselli said the accident occurred 20 miles from Colomb-Bechar near the Algeria-Morocco border. It was understood that all the 12 persons aboard the plane were burned to death. Just when the crash occurred was not announced.

A member of an old and aristocratic French family, the General assumed the name LeClerc during the war to shield his wife and six children in German-occupied France from reprisals. His real name was Count Philippe De Hautecloque.

The slight, fair-haired LeClerc firmly established his military reputation when he led a Free French force on an epic march of almost 2,000 miles from Fort Lamy in the Lake Chad region of French Equi-

Police Of 13 States Seek Walda Winchell

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—Police of 13 states along the Eastern Seaboard searched today for Walda E. Winchell, attractive 20-year-old actress-daughter of Columnist Walter Winchell, but no clues were reported.

Miss Winchell's mother reported her absence to police yesterday, saying her daughter had been missing from her Fifth Avenue hotel since Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Winchell told police her daughter was ill. Winchell, in Hollywood, said several doctors had pronounced her "very, very ill," and in need of immediate hospitalization. The nature of her illness was not disclosed, however.

Masquerade Over

Women Arraigned On Three Charges As Result Of Their June "Marriage"

SANTA ROSA, Calif., Nov. 28 (AP)—Thelma Walter, 27, and her 26-year-old girl friend "husband" Marietta Cook, were arraigned today on three charges growing out of their June wedding and were freed on bail of $750 each.

They entered no plea.

District Attorney Charles McGoldrich said the girls told him they had been in love since they met at the University of California seven years ago. Since their "marriage," they have lived on a Valley of the Moon ranch as "Mr. and Mrs. David Warren."

They were charged with perjury in the marriage affidavit, conspiracy to violate the state law against impersonation of another person for lewd and licentious purposes, and impersonating another person for the purpose of marriage.

McGoldrick said Miss Cook figured as "the husband, Miss Walter "the wife," is a teacher as Sonora Valley Union High School.

They were arrested Wednesday at the ranch on which they had been living since their "marriage."

The district attorney said they told him they decided to marry because "we couldn't figure out any other way to live."

Freakish Storm Lashes Florida; Boats Damaged

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 28 (AP)—A freakish storm which lashed Key West with near-hurricane winds this afternoon showed signs of weakening tonight but still promised to buffet the Miami area with winds up to 40 miles an hour.

In a special bulletin at 10 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time) the Weather Bureau said that the storm—which has developed no circular motion — was still accompanied by winds up to 40 and 50 miles per hour, but the disturbance "has weakened considerably."

The freak blow which roared in from the Gulf of Mexico, caused an estimated $15,000 damage to some 20 small boats in Key West.

A Navy blimp being flown at its mooring as the Boca Chica Naval Air Station near Key West was torn loose by gusts that reached 86 miles an hour and was blown down the field before crashing into the runway.

Milan Prefecture Again Is Besieged By Demonstrators

Troops Standing By; Streets Barricaded

ROME, Saturday, Nov. 29—(AP)—Leftist organizations, which almost vaulted to power in the province and city of Milan yesterday, wrung from the government today an agreement that the Prefect, whose transfer the leftists vehemently protested, would stay on temporarily.

In return, the leftists said, they agreed to end a general strike they had called and enforced to make effective their protest against the Italian government's announcement that Ettore Troilo, the leftist Prefect, was being replaced.

ROME, Nov. 28 (AP) — Demonstrators in Milan were reported gathering again tonight around the Prefecture, besieged earlier by 9,000 partisans protesting the transfer of Leftist Prefect Ettore Troilo.

Late today a dispatch from the northern industrial city, Italy's second largest, had reported the crowd drifting away from the Prefecture, government building of Milan province. Interior Minister Mario Scelba told newsmen here that Mlan seemed quiet.

But a later dispatch said the crowd was back and had grown by 4,000 in an hour as truckloads of demonstrators arrived amid a light snowfall. Partisans wearing red neckerchiefs were reported prominent. Sixty-odd carabinieri, national policemen, were stationed at the Prefecture, and troops stood by.

Streets were blocks by barricades erected by the demonstrators, who also had maintained picket lines around the Prefecture part of the day.

A "citizens' committee" claiming to speak for the demonstrators kept representatives in the Prefecture throughout the day, along with Prefect Troilo and Gen. Manlio Capizzi, commander of the Milan army garrison, the dispatch said.

Earlier, Scelba informed Italian reporters that troops ordered to take over Milan today had found the step unnecessary. In a night news conference, he said the national government had ordered the army to take command of the city when it received information that a "so-called citizens' committee" intended to take over the Prefect's office.

The orders were given to Gen. Antonio Norgen, commanding Legnano Division near Milan, when the government found it "impossible to establish immediate contact with the prefect," Scelba said.

"Later, Prefect Troilo sent a telephone denial that his powers had been taken over by the citizens' committee, confirming that he was still at his post," the minister said.

Scelba denied reports that other public offices and the radio station in Milan had been occupied. He said it had been necessary, however, to take down "a few" roadblocks.

Scelba's statement came at the end of a day of conflicting accounts. Some reports were that the army had taken over all civil powers in the city and province.

French Motion To Adjourn 24 Hours Adopted

Issue Is Thrown Wide Open Again

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—An unexpected French compromise move today put off for at least 24 hours a showdown vote in the United Nations Assembly on a scheme to partition Palestine and threw the whole controversial issue wide open once more.

The Assembly voted 25 to 15 for a simple request by France that it adjourn 24 hours so the delegates could make one more attempt to find a "good-will formula" to end the conflict between Jews and Arabs.

The delegates had been on the verge of a vote on the so-called Soviet-American plan to partition the Holy Land into Jewish and Arabic countries with several leading delegates predicting the plan would be approved.

But the concensus hours later was that there might be a new floor fight over whether to vote on a Colombian move, which has the effect of postponing action until next year, before voting on the partition plan. Several delegates also indicated that other last-minute maneuvers might be forthcoming in the bitter fight.

Arab Countries Hold Caucus

These developments were noted also:

1. The six Arab countries in the Assembly went over the new situation throughly in a secret caucus. Informed sources said they were not yet ready to offer any proposals at this stage but that they wanted the delegates to know they were not "too stiff" on the Palestine question. This was an answer to complaints from some delegates that the Arabs would not listen to conciliatory moves. They will meet again tomorrow before the Assembly reconvenes.

2. Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, of Brazil, Assembly president, stood by, awaiting developments. He insisted he was "neutral" in the fight and would be governed by the action of the Assembly.

3. Iran and Afghanistan, who have lined up with the Arabs against partition, were said to be considering bringing before the assembly a proposal for a federalized Palestine, with Jerusalem as the capital.

The sudden delay in consideration of the partition plan came after several delegates, including Aranha predicted off the floor that the plan would be approved with one or two votes to spare.

A motion for adjournment takes precedence over all other business, must be voted on promptly, and requires only a simple majority for adoption.

Alexandre Parodi, chief French delegate, proposed the postponement with the avowed hope that some "good-will formula" might be found in those hours to end the Arab-Jew impasse. Arab countries are bitterly opposed to partition; Zionist Jews favor it.

Another Surprise Move

When the Assembly reconvenes tomorrow at 4 p. m. (EST) it must also consider a surprise move by Colombia which would in effect de-

Man Admits Hammering Grandson, 11, To Death

CLEVELAND, Nov. 28. (AP)—Joseph Hurley, 62-year-old grandfather, today signed a written statement admitting he hammered to death his 11-year-old grandson, and declared only "God knows" why he did it, Detective Lt. David E. Kerr reported.

Kerr said the rotund dairy collector wrote in the statement: "I'm a guilty man — and why, God knows." The confession was signed a few hours after the body of Donald J. Hurley was found in bed at his grandparents' home, Kerr added.

Two patrolmen reported the elder Hurley voluntarily surrendered when they went to the home to investigate the boy's death. The grandfather stepped from the family garage, they said, and declared, "I guess I'm the man you're looking for."

"Beep" Is Warning

Recording Devices For Telephone Conversations Authorized By FCC

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP) — Legalizing a practice long in common use, the Federal Communications Commission today formally authorized recording devices for telephone conversations. It stipulates, however, that all such recordings must be announced by a short "beep" as a warning signal to all participants.

The order, applying only to interstate and foreign toll calls, is effective January 15, 1948. On that date, the telephone companies will be required to cancel their long-standing regulation against the use of such recorders on interstate and foreign calls.

It will be up to the state public utility commissions to say whether they will legalize recording devices on local and within-state conversations.

Data presented at the hearings on the subject showed that thousands of such devices are in use throughout the country, notwithstanding phone company opposition.

The FCC announced several months ago that it believes the recorders have "a useful and legitimate place in the conduct of government and private business," but asserted that phone calls "should be free from any listening-in by others that is not done with the knowledge and authorization of the parties to the call."

U. N. DELAYS PALESTINE DECISION

French Cabinet Seeks Power To End Strikes

Parliament Called To Act On Demands

PARIS, Saturday, Nov. 29 (AP)—Premier Robert Schuman's Cabinet summoned Parliament to meet at 10:30 a. m. (4:30 a. m., Eastern Standard Time) today to act upon its demands for extraordinary powers to cope with spreading strikes.

The Cabinet held a three-hour emergency meeting last night after the Premier had fired 66 police commissioners and called 80,000 troops back to the Army in the midst of a strike of 2,000,000 to 4,000,000 men in 20 national unions, including railwaymen.

The demands the Cabinet agreed upon were not disclosed officially, but they were understood to include authorization to (1) mobilize certain public service workers; (2) take stern measures against sabotage, particularly of railroads, post offices, communications and electric light plants, and (3) deal strictly with civil servants and employes of the nationalized railroads judged guilty of breaking discipline.

Strike Curbs Seen

There was a posibility also, a parliamentary source said, that the National Assembly might be asked to limit the right to strike.

The Cabinet also decided to meet tomorrow to vote on proposals for reclassification of civil servants—a measure that would in many cases result in pay rises intended to satisfy the strikers' demands.

Minister of Commerce and Industry Robert LaCoste, in a radio broadcast, asked coal miners to return to work. He cited critical needs for fuel for homes and industries.

Meanwhile, a split widened in the General Confederation of Labor between Communists and anti-Communists over the strike movement, which was getting a stranglehold on the French economy.

The government's recall of half of the 1946 class of conscripts, just a week after half the 1947 class was demobilized, was decided upon at a Cabinet meeting yesterday morning with President Vincent Auriol. The equivalent of 15 divisions thus had been called in to strengthen the army.

Reds Charge "Purge"

The firing of the 66 police commissioners, each in charge of a district corresponding to an American precinct, was called a "purge" by the Communist newspaper L'Humanite. It was reported the step was taken because Schuman feared Communists might get control of the police force as they did in some Balkan countries. The 66 had been members of the wartime "resistance" who were appointed after the liberation.

An informant close to the Premier's office said Schuman already had decided not to attempt to mobilize striking dock workers because they were too solidly Communist.

He was reported seriously considering mobilizing the railroad workers, however, because opposition to the strike already had become strong within the railway union ranks.

The national strike committee directing operations of the 20 unions, on which there are no representatives of the anti-Communist minority of the General Confederation, issued a communique calling on all members to give aid to the railroad strikers wherever necessary.

Curley Back At Desk; Receives Warm Welcome

BOSTON, Nov. 28 (AP) — Just as jaunty as ever, James M. Curley today took over as Mayor of this city of 770,000 again as political followers gave him a warm welcome back from federal prison where he served five months for mail fraud.

Curley's six to 18 months sentence was commuted by President Truman on Thanksgiving Eve.

Asserting he felt 10 years younger than when he entered the Federal Penitentiary at Danbury, Conn., Curley told reporters he had no immediate plans for a vacation.

Bevin Warns Soviet Union Western Powers May Act If Big Four Fails To Agree

Word Battles Mark Ministers' Session

LONDON, Nov. 28 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin warned Russia tonight that the Western Powers possibly would act on their own to save Germany and Europe from "chaos" if the Big Four failed to agree on Germany's future.

The warning came during a session of the Foreign Ministers conference marked mainly by confusion and disagreements, informants said.

Bevin, the sources added, looked straight at impassive Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and asked:

"Are we going to leave Europe in chaos? Is chaos our objective? If it is we had better know now. If a settlement is to be blocked every time we try, I say we cannot go on forever with chaos in Europe as it is now."

Border Commission Blocked

Bevin asked the question after Molotov blocked agreement on setting up a border commission to examine territorial claims on Germany and a proposal to allow economic integration of the Saar with France.

Molotov then charged that even before the conference started Britain had a plan to set up a Western German government. He then asked that the four powers condemn the setting up of any "segment" German government in place of the central administration desired by the Soviet Union.

Bevin denied Molotov's charge.

The exchange on the creation of a German government in the occupation zones of the Western Powers came, the informants said, as Molotov hammered on his familiar theme "that the Western Powers want a partitioned Germany."

Secretary of State George Marshall said the record of the United States was clear on the subject of German unity. He pointed out the Soviet Union had been asked repeatedly to join its zone with the economically merged British-American zones. The offer still stands, Marshall said.

New French Proposal

Meanwhile, the Foreign Ministers' deputies heard a French proposal that Russia receive $100,000,000 from current production in Austria as part of the general reparations settlement.

The French proposal was described as a new attempt to break the four-power deadlock on what constitutes German assets in Austria and what might be used for reparations. Once this deadlock is resolved the way would be open for the writing of an Austrian peace treaty.

Informants predicted that Russia likely will await the outcome of the Ministers' deliberations on Germany before committing herself to removing Soviet troops from Austria—a step which Russia would be required to take if an Austrian treaty is concluded.

Cop Is Convinced; Finds 12 Mice In Woman's Purse

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 28 (AP)—Police said today an unnamed woman was picked up Thanksgiving Eve on "suspicion of shoplifting" after she failed to pay for a box of crackers.

Police Lt. Earl Cornelison looked in her purse to corroborate her story she "forgot" to pay for the crackers used for "feeding her mice" and had $26 with her. Convinced, he hastily snapped the purse shut and sent the woman on her way.

The 12 mice, Cornelison said, were frolicking inside the oversize purse.

Quizzes Harriman On Economic Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP) — Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) today challenged the administration's "good faith" in asking "limited" economic control powers, while two high administration officials disagreed on the best way to curb inflationary bank loans.

Taft took issue with Secretary of Commerce Harriman's testimony before the Senate-House Economic Committee that only "limited" authority was being sought by President Truman to control and allocate scarce goods and commodities with the view to halting the rising cost of living.

The Ohio Senator contended that what was really being sought was blanket "100 per cent authority."

"I don't think your proposals are in good faith," he said.

Snyder, Eccles Disagree

Harriman told the committee the overall aim was to channel scarce supplies into the most essential uses. He mentioned meats, steel and lumber as major fields where in he "honed" lower prices would result.

Secretary of Treasury Snyder told the committee he disagreed with the proposal of Federal Reserve Board Chairman Marriner Eccles that banks be required to set aside special reserves. Eccles, in making the proposal last week, asserted the special reserves would cut down the amount of money banks can lend and thus be anti-inflationary.

Snyder said he believes the best way to reduce the banks' lending ability is to keep tax revenues higher than government spending and use the surplus to pay off government securities owned by banks.

Snyder gave support to Eccles' proposal to restore controls over consumer credit and installment buying. And he served notice he will ask Congress for funds to step up the campaign to sell savings bonds to soak up potential buying power in the hands of the public.

Several Hearings Being Held

The Senate-House group is one of several congressional committees holding hearings on Mr. Truman's anti-inflation program. Though Republican leaders have said some portions may be enacted, they have marked those dealing with a "stand-by" control authority over wages and prices for discard.

Harriman was questioned closely by Taft and Sen. Watkins (D-Utah) about the "overall plans" of the administration.

Taft asked if the shortage of newsprint would be solved if controls were set up.

Harriman said the newsprint shortage probably will continue for some time and that controls would help, but not solve the problem.

POLICE RULE COLLEGE GIRL'S DEATH SUICIDE

WAYLAND, Mass., Nov. 28. (AP)—An attractice 22-year-old college girl was ruled a suicide today as police said they had not found a motive for the act of the philosophy student whom a roommate described as seeming to "wish the world would end."

Nude and frozen, the body of Frances G. Flint, Vassar alumna and graduate student at Radcliffe, was found in lonely woods Thursday night. Near the corpse was a rifle in a pool of blood. The girl's clothes were scattered 75 feet away.

Associate Medical Examiner J. Harry McCann, who ruled Miss Flint had been dead about two days, said she stumbled against branches before falling lifeless after being blinded by a bullet in the head.

Her Radcliffe roommate, Margarita Silva, of Puerto Rico, told police Miss Flint appeared lately to be "very nervous" and "seemed to wish the world would end."

Miss Flint's mother, Mrs. William Flint, Radcliffe house mother and former president of the New Hampshire League of Women Voters, said her daughter had appeared "moody and downcast".

Lardner Is Dismissed By 20th Century-Fox

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 28 (AP) — Writer Ring Lardner, Jr., one of 10 film figures cited by the Thomas Un-American Activities Committee for contempt in refusing to testify whether he is a member of the Communist Party, was dismissed today by 20th Century-Fox.

The action was in line with a decision of movie executives in New York earlier in the week.

W Lardner issued this statement:

"I have been informed that the studio will not continue to pay me beyond today, but so far they have not given me grounds for this action. But I naturally suspect that the Thomas committee blackmail operations have something to do with it."

Again Sounds Call For Training Laws

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—(AP)—President Truman, calling again for universal training legislation, said today this nation is determined to remain strong as it pursues its policies of peace and freedom.

Speaking first to a crowd in Union Station after a 30-minute inspection of historic documents aboard the "Freedom Train," he said he wished all the people of the world could see them and know "what we are fighting for now—world peace."

Later addressing a group of champion recruiters of the National Guard, Mr. Truman said he would send Congress in January another message calling for universal training legislation. He urged them to work among their congressmen and senators in behalf of its passage.

The recruiting officers had called at the White House to receive the President's congratulations on signing up boys for the National Guard.

Mr. Truman, who commanded Battery D 129th Field Artillery in World War I, told the young men he was a National Guardsman before most of them were born.

Smiling at them, he declared:

"I am still a colonel in the field artillery and they won't promote me."

Sgt. James B. Bryant, of West Virginia, inquired whether the President was "backing us up on a universal training program."

"That's my program," Mr. Truman replied quickly.

Bryant remarked that "you seem to be having trouble with Sen. Taft."

The President avoided direct answer to this but said he was sending a new message on the subject to the next session of Congress.

Bill To Boost All Tax Exemptions Introduced

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—(AP)—A bill to increase all individual income tax exemptions was introduced today by Rep. Youngblood, (R-Mich). He said it would "assist people in the lower income brackets to meet present high costs."

Taft Charges FDR-Truman Policies Led To European "Chaos," Demands For Aid

MORE ARMY OFFICERS FACE INVESTIGATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—Several more wartime purchasing officers of the armed forces will be called upon to explain their relations with contractors who made large profits, members of a House committee indicated today after a long hunt for war frauds.

Chairman Bender (R-Ohio), of the House Expenditures Subcommittee, which has been digging into war transactions for several months, said he is "ready to go" on certain cases involving plane contracts.

Bender predicted that the results of its inquiry will compare favorably with those of the Senate War Investigating Subcommittee which unearthed the secret wartime dealings of Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, Air Force procurement officer.

Naming no names, Bender said that investigators have been examining the relations of several wartime purchasing officers with manufacturers who later were listed as having been greatly overpaid by the government.

A report from the General Accounting Office, turned over to Congress early this year, is the foundation for the Bender committee's inquiry. The accounting office report said that some of the Army and Navy officers who handled war contracts since have been hired by the manufacturers whose contracts they renegotiated.

The committee plans a series of hearings running into January.

Bennett Meyers, central figure in the Senate subcommittee's investigation, already has been stripped of h: $550 (gross) a month pension and of his military honors as a result of the testimony. He also faces the threat of military and civil prosecution.

Winter Relief Bill Encounters Delay

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—A charge that Roosevelt-Truman policies bred economic chaos in Europe and led to demands for billions in American aid was made today by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) as the $597,000,000 winter relief bill encountered a delay.

Taft, while announcing that he would vote for the bill, told the Senate that the executive branch of the government let the Russians build themselves up as a strong power in Eastern Europe, and gave them the opportunity to prevent the recovery of Western Europe.

He also declared that the Morgenthau plan for reducing Germany to an agricultural state dealt a severe blow to Europe's economy.

With many Senators absent because of a prolonged Thanksgiving Day holiday, the Senate quit for the weekend in the middle of the afternoon after approving an amendment of the $597,000,000 measure forbidding foreign countries to use any of the money to buy arms.

Vandenberg Displeased

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.), of the Foreign Relations Committee, was obviously displeased that he could not dispose of all amendments today to clear the way for a final decision on the bill Monday.

On the House side, three southern Democrats protested House delay on the bill.

Rep. Jarman (D-Ala.) noted that the Foreign Affairs Committee took a recess last Tuesday until Monday and has not yet sent legislation to the House floor.

"The Foreign Affairs Committee has been unfair to the members of this House, to the President of the United States, to the State Department and the world," Jarman told his colleagues. "This is being done while turmoil reigns in France, and while the future of that country remains in the balance.

"Profound Concern" over delay in passing the bill was expressed by former Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson in a telegram to congressional leaders. Patterson is chairman of the Executive Committee for the Marshall Plan to Aid European Recovery.

U. S. Yielded to Russia

The pending bill would make up to $597,000,000 available for food, fuel and fertilizer for France, Italy and Austria for the winter months.

Taft, who voted previously to cut this amount, said that the administration "to a large extent" is responsible for the conditions which

Works Board To Meet

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 28—(AP)—Gov. Lane announced today the Board of Public Works would meet Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the executive offices at the State House.

One subject to be considered will be a priority list for disposing of materials at the Solomons amphibious base recently acquired from the Navy by the state.

Gen. LeClerc, French War Hero, Dies In Plane Crash

PARIS, Nov. 29 (AP)—Gen. LeClerc, the hero of the march from Lake Chad, and the man who led French troops back into Paris, has been killed in an airplane crash in Africa, the Air Ministry announced tonight.

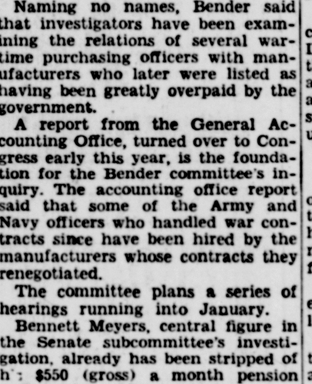

The 46-year-old expert in armored warfare died in the Sahara Desert where he first gained fame in World War II. Air Secretary Andre Maroselli said the accident occurred 20 miles from Colomb-Bechar near the Algeria-Morocco border. It was understood that all the 12 persons aboard the plane were burned to death. Just when the crash occurred was not announced.

A member of an old and aristocratic French family, the General assumed the name LeClerc during the war to shield his wife and six children in German-occupied France from reprisals. His real name was Count Philippe De Hautecloque.

The slight, fair-haired LeClerc firmly established his military reputation when he led a Free French force on an epic march of almost 2,000 miles from Fort Lamy in the Lake Chad region of French Equi-

Masquerade Over

Women Arraigned On Three Charges As Result Of Their June "Marriage"

SANTA ROSA, Calif., Nov. 28 (AP)—Thelma Walter, 27, and her 26-year-old girl friend "husband" Marietta Cook, were arraigned today on three charges growing out of their June wedding and were freed on bail of $750 each.

They entered no plea.

District Attorney Charles McGoldrich said the girls told him they had been in love since they met at the University of California seven years ago. Since their "marriage," they have lived on a Valley of the Moon ranch as "Mr. and Mrs. David Warren."

They were charged with perjury in the marriage affidavit, conspiracy to violate the state law against impersonation of another person for lewd and licentious purposes, and impersonating another person for the purpose of marriage.

McGoldrick said Miss Cook figured as "the husband, Miss Walter "the wife," is a teacher as Sonora Valley Union High School.

They were arrested Wednesday at the ranch on which they had been living since their "marriage."

The district attorney said they told him they decided to marry because "we couldn't figure out any other way to live."

Freakish Storm Lashes Florida; Boats Damaged

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 28 (AP)—A freakish storm which lashed Key West with near-hurricane winds this afternoon showed signs of weakening tonight but still promised to buffet the Miami area with winds up to 40 miles an hour.

In a special bulletin at 10 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time) the Weather Bureau said that the storm—which has developed no circular motion—was still accompanied by winds up to 40 and 50 miles per hour, but the disturbance "has weakened considerably."

The freak blow which roared in from the Gulf of Mexico, caused an estimated $15,000 damage to some 20 small boats in Key West.

A Navy blimp being flown at its mooring as the Boca Chica Naval Air Station near Key West was torn loose by gusts that reached 86 miles an hour and was blown down the field before crashing into the runway.

Milan Prefecture Again Is Besieged By Demonstrators

Troops Standing By; Streets Barricaded

ROME, Saturday, Nov. 29—(AP)—Leftist organizations, which almost vaulted to power in the province and city of Milan yesterday, wrung from the government today an agreement that the Prefect, whose transfer the leftists vehemently protested, would stay on temporarily.

In return, the leftists said, they agreed to end a general strike they had called and enforced to make effective their protest against the Italian government's announcement that Ettore Troilo, the leftist Prefect, was being replaced.

ROME, Nov. 28 (AP) — Demonstrators in Milan were reported gathering again tonight around the Prefecture, besieged earlier by 9,000 partisans protesting the transfer of Leftist Prefect Ettore Troilo.

Late today a dispatch from the northern industrial city, Italy's second largest, had reported the crowd drifting away from the Prefecture, government building of Milan province. Interior Minister Mario Scelba told newsmen here that Milan seemed quiet.

But a later dispatch said the crowd was back and had grown by 4,000 in an hour as truckloads of demonstrators arrived amid a light snowfall. Partisans wearing red neckerchiefs were reported prominent. Sixty-odd carabinieri, national policemen, were stationed at the Prefecture, and troops stood by.

Streets were blocks by barricades erected by the demonstrators, who also had maintained picket lines around the Prefecture part of the day.

A "citizens' committee" claiming to speak for the demonstrators kept representatives in the Prefecture throughout the day, along with Prefect Troilo and Gen. Manlio Capizzi, commander of the Milan army garrison, the dispatch said.

Earlier, Scelba informed Italian reporters that troops ordered to take over Milan today had found the step unnecessary. In a night news conference, he said the national government had ordered the army to take command of the city when it received information that a "so-called citizens' committee" intended to take over the Prefect's office.

The orders were given to Gen. Antonio Norgen, commanding Legnano Division near Milan, when the government found it "impossible to establish immediate contact with the prefect," Scelba said.

"Later, Prefect Troilo sent a telephone denial that his powers had been taken over by the citizens' committee, confirming that he was still at his post," the minister said.

Scelba denied reports that other public offices and the radio station in Milan had been occupied. He said it had been necessary, however, to take down "a few" roadblocks.

Scelba's statement came at the end of a day of conflicting accounts. Some reports were that the army had taken over all civil powers in the city and province.

Police Of 13 States Seek Walda Winchell

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—Police of 13 states along the Eastern Seaboard searched today for Walda E. Winchell, attractive 20-year-old actress-daughter of Columnist Walter Winchell, but no clues were reported.

Miss Winchell's mother reported her absence to police yesterday, saying her daughter had been missing from her Fifth Avenue hotel since Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Winchell told police her daughter was ill. Winchell, in Hollywood, said several doctors had pronounced her "very, very ill," and in need of immediate hospitalization. The nature of her illness was not disclosed, however.

French Motion To Adjourn 24 Hours Adopted

Issue Is Thrown Wide Open Again

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—An unexpected French compromise move today put off for at least 24 hours a showdown vote in the United Nations Assembly on a scheme to partition Palestine and threw the whole controversial issue wide open once more.

The Assembly voted 25 to 15 for a simple request by France that it adjourn 24 hours so the delegates could make one more attempt to find a "good-will formula" to end the conflict between Jews and Arabs.

The delegates had been on the verge of a vote on the so-called Soviet-American plan to partition the Holy Land into Jewish and Arabic countries with several leading delegates predicting the plan would be approved.

But the concensus hours later was that there might be a new floor fight over whether to vote on a Colombian move, which has the effect of postponing action until next year, before voting on the partition plan. Several delegates also indicated that other last-minute maneuvers might be forthcoming in the bitter fight.

Arab Countries Hold Caucus

These developments were noted also:

1. The six Arab countries in the Assembly went over the new situation throughly in a secret caucus. Informed sources said they were not yet ready to offer any proposals at this stage but that they wanted the delegates to know they were not "too stiff" on the Palestine question. This was an answer to complaints from some delegates that the Arabs would not listen to conciliatory moves. They will meet again tomorrow before the Assembly reconvenes.

2. Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, of Brazil, Assembly president, stood by, awaiting developments. He insisted he was "neutral" in the fight and would be governed by the action of the Assembly.

3. Iran and Afghanistan, who have lined up with the Arabs against partition, were said to be considering bringing before the assembly a proposal for a federalized Palestine, with Jerusalem as the capital.

The sudden delay in consideration of the partition plan came after several delegates, including Aranha predicted off the floor that the plan would be approved with one or two votes to spare.

A motion for adjournment takes precedence over all other business, must be voted on promptly, and requires only a simple majority for adoption.

Alexandre Parodi, chief French delegate, proposed the postponement with the avowed hope that some "good-will formula" might be found in those hours to end the Arab-Jew impasse. Arab countries are bitterly opposed to partition; Zionist Jews favor it.

Another Surprise Move

When the Assembly reconvenes tomorrow at 4 p. m. (EST) it must also consider a surprise move by Colombia which would in effect de-

Man Admits Hammering Grandson, 11, To Death

CLEVELAND, Nov. 28. (AP)—Joseph Hurley, 62-year-old grandfather, today signed a written statement admitting he hammered to death his 11-year-old grandson, and declared only "God knows" why he did it, Detective Lt. David H. Kerr reported.

Kerr said the rotund dairy collector wrote in the statement: "I'm a guilty man — and why, God knows." The confession was signed a few hours after the body of Donald J. Hurley was found in bed at his grandparents' home, Kerr added.

Two patrolmen reported the elder Hurley voluntarily surrendered when they went to the home to investigate the boy's death. The grandfather stepped from the family garage, they said, and declared, "I guess I'm the man you're looking for."

Recording Devices For Telephone Conversations Authorized By FCC

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP) — Legalizing a practice long in common use, the Federal Communications Commission today formally authorized recording devices for telephone conversations. It stipulates, however, that all such recordings must be announced by a short "beep" as a warning signal to all participants.

The order, applying only to interstate and foreign toll calls, is effective January 15, 1948. On that date, the telephone companies will be required to cancel their long-standing regulation against the use of such recorders on interstate and foreign calls.

It will be up to the state public utility commissions to say whether they will legalize recording devices on local and within-state conversations.

Data presented at the hearings on the subject showed that thousands of such devices are in use throughout the country, notwithstanding phone company opposition.

The FCC announced several months ago that it believes the recorders have "a useful and legitimate place in the conduct of government and private business," but asserted that phone calls "should be free from any listening-in by others that is not done with the knowledge and authorization of the parties to the call."

Doten Pictured As "Scapegoat"

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 28—(AP)—The Ottawa Citizen said in an editorial today that the removal of Dana Doten, an attache in the United States Embassy here, had raised the question of whether he had been a "scapegoat."

The Citizen said his removal was "presumably because of intrigue against the appointment of Edmund Turcotte as Canadian Consul General to Chicago."

"To recall an official of lower rank has every appearance of trying to smooth over a regrettable incident without it reflecting on those to whom the real responsibility belongs," the newspaper commented.

The Toronto Star declared today that United States Minister Julian Harrington may leave Canada as a result of the affair, and that United States Ambassador Ray Atherton may be assigned to a new post.

The appointment of Turcotte raised a diplomatic controversy about a month ago. Reliable informants said Atherton drew the Canadian government's attention on October 28 to complaints that there were anti-American expressions in the writings of Turcotte, American-born editor of the Montreal newspaper, Le Canada. Doten, as special assistant to Atherton, had charge of preparing a file on Turcotte.

The United States State Department said yesterday that Doten was being let out as part of an economy policy. Doted declared, however, "it's a bit late in the day to be saying this is an economy move."

Faith Healer Avak Contemplates Destiny

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28 (AP)—Avak Hagopian, self-professed faith healer who came from Iran six months ago to treat the son of a wealthy Armenian, was contemplating his own destiny today.

Now in seclusion here, the monkish 20-year-old former goldsmith's assistant wants to go to Mexico, presumably to re-enter this country, but the United States Immigration Service reported that the Mexican government has not issued a visa.

Army Assembles Records Of Retired Officers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—The Army began assembling today, in answer to a White House request, the records of more than 28,000 officers who are receiving or are eligible to receive tax-free disability retirement.

A White House announcement said President Truman had requested such material "for his information." It was not disclosed whether the President contemplated depriving some of the officers of retirement money.

Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, subject of a congressional committee investigation and currently of an inquiry by the Justice Department and Federal Bureau of Investigation, is among the long list of officers ranging from generals down to secopd lieutenants. The Air Force, in which Meyers served until his retirement in 1945, stopped his retirement pay of $550 after the Senate committee probed into his financial activities while a member of the Army.

Five Hunters Drown When Wind Upsets Boat

FOREST CITY, Me., Nov. 28 (AP)—Five deer hunters were drowned today in East Grand Lake when a gust of wind overturned their boat.

Included among the victims were Lincoln County Attorney Giles and an unidentified woman.

Also drowned were Maurice Crawford, Donald Gates, and "Duck" Grafton (addresses not available).

The tragedy occurred shortly before noon, but was not known until the lone survivor, Ormond Cummings, was picked up by a motorist while he walked along a road near Forest City some hours later.

Unusual Recovery

Boy, Given Vitamin "E" For Disease Which Turns Body To Stone, Rallies

CHICAGO, Nov. 28 (AP)—Children's Memorial Hospital reported today that a 10-year-old boy, after given vitamin "E" for a disease which virtually turns the body to stone, has shown improvement and may be the first ever to recover.

The boy, John Crowe, is suffering from a disease known as dermatomyositis ossificans, which causes the body to become calcified.

The hospital quoted the report of his physician, who did not permit use of his name, as saying that since the boy underwent treatment "there has been a dramatic disappearance of the deposited calcium."

"The unusual recovery is attributed to vitamin 'E'," the doctor was quoted. "There is a good chance that this young patient will be almost normal within another year or two."

A hospital spokesman said it had no knowledge of any cases of the disease in which a patient fully recovered.

When the Crowe youngster first went under treatment in July, 1942, he was able only to crawl and to sit. Now he walks with the help of braces and physicians expect him to be able to walk normally within a year.

Committee Disapproves Liquor Advertising Bill

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—A Senate Committee Subcommittee disapproved today a bill by Sen. Capper (R-Kas) to ban interstate movement of newspapers and magazines advertising intoxicating liquors, but suggested that such advertising be regulated.

The subcommittee report, signed by Sens. Reed (R-Kas), chairman, and Johnson (D-Colo), said that "undoubtedly such advertising is for the purpose of conveying to men and women, especially young men and women, that consumption of alcoholic beverages is socially smart; is conductive to physical well-being and is tradition in American life."

There was no demonstration in the jammed Assembly hall as Aranha announced the adjournmant. But many delegates smiled as they arose.

Earlier, applause and laughter from the public section had prompted the United Nations Security Office to send five guards to that section for the first time in United Nations Assembly history. The United Nations also spotted more New York police about the hall than usual.

Parodi and Dr. Alfonso Lopez, former president of Colombia and leader of his delegation, pleaded with the Assembly not to act now and asked rather that it try to take all possible ways toward settling the problem to the satisfaction of both the Jews and Arabs.

In doing so, they seized upon what appeared to be a slight crack in the solid Arab opposition. This was a statement in a speech this morning by Dr. Fadhil Jamali, foreign minister of Iraq and one of the foremost opponents of partition that "conciliation is still possible."

Doten Pictured As "Scapegoat"

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 28—(AP)—The Ottawa Citizen said in an editorial today that the removal of Dana Doten, an attache in the United States Embassy here, had raised the question of whether he had been a "scapegoat."

The Citizen said his removal was "presumably because of intrigue against the appointment of Edmund Turcotte as Canadian Consul General to Chicago."

"To recall an official of lower rank has every appearance of trying to smooth over a regrettable incident without it reflecting on those to whom the real responsibility belongs," the newspaper commented.

The Toronto Star declared today that United States Minister Julian Harrington may leave Canada as a result of the affair, and that United States Ambassador Ray Atherton may be assigned to a new post.

The appointment of Turcotte raised a diplomatic controversy about a month ago. Reliable informants said Atherton drew the Canadian government's attention on October 28 to complaints that there were anti-American expressions in the writings of Turcotte, American-born editor of the Montreal newspaper, Le Canada. Doten, as special assistant to Atherton, had charge of preparing a file on Turcotte.

The United States State Department said yesterday that Doten was being let out as part of an economy policy. Doted declared, however, "it's a bit late in the day to be saying this is an economy move."

Faith Healer Avak Contemplates Destiny

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28 (AP)—Avak Hagopian, self-professed faith healer who came from Iran six months ago to treat the son of a wealthy Armenian, was contemplating his own destiny today.

Now in seclusion here, the monkish 20-year-old former goldsmith's assistant wants to go to Mexico, presumably to re-enter this country, but the United States Immigration Service reported that the Mexican government has not issued a visa.

Army Assembles Records Of Retired Officers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—The Army began assembling today, in answer to a White House request, the records of more than 28,000 officers who are receiving or are eligible to receive tax-free disability retirement.

A White House announcement said President Truman had requested such material "for his information." It was not disclosed whether the President contemplated depriving some of the officers of retirement money.

Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, subject of a congressional committee investigation and currently of an inquiry by the Justice Department and Federal Bureau of Investigation, is among the long list of officers ranging from generals down to second lieutenants. The Air Force, in which Meyers served until his retirement in 1945, stopped his retirement pay of $550 after the Senate committee probed into his financial activities while a member of the Army.

Five Hunters Drown When Wind Upsets Boat

FOREST CITY, Me., Nov. 28 (AP)—Five deer hunters were drowned today in East Grand Lake when a gust of wind overturned their boat.

Included among the victims were Lincoln County Attorney Giles and an unidentified woman.

Also drowned were Maurice Crawford, Donald Gates, and "Duck" Grafton (addresses not available).

The tragedy occurred shortly before noon, but was not known until the lone survivor, Ormond Cummings, was picked up by a motorist while he walked along a road near Forest City some hours later.

Election Holiday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—(AP)—Legislation to provide that Tuesday after the first Monday in November of even numbered years shall be a legal holiday known as National Election Day was proposed today by Sen. Magnuson (D-Wash).

Unusual Recovery

Boy, Given Vitamin "E" For Disease Which Turns Body To Stone, Rallies

CHICAGO, Nov. 28 (AP)—Children's Memorial Hospital reported today that a 10-year-old boy, after given vitamin "E" for a disease which virtually turns the body to stone, has shown improvement and may be the first ever to recover.

The boy, John Crowe, is suffering from a disease known as dermatomyositis ossificans, which causes the body to become calcified.

The hospital quoted the report of his physician, who did not permit use of his name, as saying that since the boy underwent treatment "there has been a dramatic disappearance of the deposited calcium."

"The unusual recovery is attributed to vitamin 'E'," the doctor was quoted. "There is a good chance that this young patient will be almost normal within another year or two."

A hospital spokesman said it had no knowledge of any cases of the disease in which a patient fully recovered.

When the Crowe youngster first went under treatment in July, 1942, he was able only to crawl and to sit. Now he walks with the help of braces and physicians expect him to be able to walk normally within a year.

Committee Disapproves Liquor Advertising Bill

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—A Senate Committee Subcommittee disapproved today a bill by Sen. Capper (R-Kas) to ban interstate movement of newspapers and magazines advertising intoxicating liquors, but suggested that such advertising be regulated.

The subcommittee report, signed by Sens. Reed (R-Kas), chairman, and Johnson (D-Colo), said that "undoubtedly such advertising is for the purpose of conveying to men and women, especially young men and women, that consumption of alcoholic beverages is socially smart; is conductive to physical well-being and is tradition in American life."

There was no demonstration in the jammed Assembly hall as Aranha announced the adjournmant. But many delegates smiled as they arose.

Earlier, applause and laughter from the public section had prompted the United Nations Security Office to send five guards to that section for the first time in United Nations Assembly history. The United Nations also spotted more New York police about the hall than usual.

Parodi and Dr. Alfonso Lopez, former president of Colombia and leader of his delegation, pleaded with the Assembly not to act now and asked rather that it try to take all possible ways toward settling the problem to the satisfaction of both the Jews and Arabs.

In doing so, they seized upon what appeared to be a slight crack in the solid Arab opposition. This was a statement in a speech this morning by Dr. Fadhil Jamali, foreign minister of Iraq and one of the foremost opponents of partition that "conciliation is still possible."

Demand For Toys Sets New Record

Toy trains whiz around tracks. Sleek station wagons park nearby. Young lady dolls with nipped waistlines and full skirts gaze with boredom on the scene. The 1947 Christmas toy village reproduces America to the last modern detail, says Pathfinder.

As in the rest of America, there will be shortages in Toyland. Some $250,000,000 worth (retail) of toys have been produced during 1947, equalling the 1946 output. But the 15,000,000 potential stocking hangers born during the war have boosted demand to record heights.

Toy prices, averaging about 10 per cent more than last year, are somewhat offset by the widest variety in history, better quality and bigger stocks of medium- and low-priced toys.

Thanksgiving Meal America-Germany

For 325 Thanksgivings Americans have punctuated their annual expressions of gratitude with prodigious gulps of turkey, dressing, cranberry sauce, mincemeat pie and whatever else comes under the wonderful word: "fixin's." This Thanksgiving should top them all, declares Pathfinder.

Between grace and dessert chances are pretty good that most table-talk will center around the feast's dollar count, not the calorie count. But in both cases the score per celebrant will about tie last year's; calories, 2,500; dollars, $2.50.

And just about the time the head of the house has adjusted his belt buckle for comfortable listening to football scores, another family — 2,763 miles away in Hamburg, Germany—will sit down to their Thursday night supper.

The menu: potatoes, black bread, ersatz coffee. The individual calorie count: 300. The grace: "Thank God we're alive."

The money that is saved on education this year will be spent later on jails and reformatories.

Two never could live as cheaply as one but now one can live as expensively as two.

Fort Hill Sentinels Again Football Champs

The curtain has fallen once again on a scholastic football season, and from out of the maze of games Fort Hill High School has once more emerged grasping the city championship.

Fort Hill annexed the crown for the second consecutive year by, this time, overwhelming a weaker but stout-hearted Allegany team.

The outcome of the Turkey Day event was no surprise. It had been generally conceded that only by some miracle could Allegany High overcome a superior Fort Hill team. The Campers' showing during the season had left much to be desired, and as a result of this had entered the Thanksgiving Day game very much the underdogs.

Despite this, followers of the Blue and White nursed a hope that the "breaks" of the game might favor their team, or that it might be a much greater inspired eleven that would take the field in this annual scholastic contest. Thus, the element of possible surprise which existed in and out of school circles drew thousands of fans into the stadium stands.

But the so-called "breaks," instead of favoring the blue-and-white-clad warriors, went to their opponents via fumbles and questionable strategy during crucial periods of the contest. It must be said, however, that fighting spirit on the part of Allegany was never lacking, and its display of determination to win, if at all possible, stirred up within its supporters great admiration for the team.

It might have been expected that a team, which had lost but one game early in the season and then went on to annex everyone of their next eight contests, would enter this final and major battle with some degree of overconfidence. Not Fort Hill. The wearers of the Scarlet and White gave evidence early in the game that they would prove themselves masters of the situation, and would not be denied that which they believed should rightfully be theirs—the championship crown.

Fort Hill played with the alertness of the well-coached outfit it was, capitalizing on every misplay by its foes and driving on the ground with bulldog tenacity to carry the ball over the goal line on four occasions. That the Sentinels deserved to win, no one will question, especially in the face of the stubborn battle put up by Allegany. The Blue and White put everything they had into the game—but it wasn't enough. Fort Hill was, indeed, magnificent in victory and deserves the plaudits of followers of the game. Allegany went down fighting. Supporters need be unashamed of its efforts.

Democrats continue to insist Eisenhower would make an ideal candidate for the Republicans, but the general—generally regarded as a Democrat—hasn't announced his conversion.

One Federal Appointment That Really Makes Sense

There have been a lot of precedents shattered in Washington, but President Truman's appointment of a post office career man to be Postmaster General is something all by itself.

Jesse M. Donaldson, who has been named to succeed Postmaster General Hannegan on Monday, will, if his nomination is approved, be the first man in history to rise from the ranks of the postal service to head the department. It has been the custom for generations to name a high party politician, usually the chairman of the national party committee, to the office of Postmaster General.

While this practice has not necessarily hurt the Post Office Department, it has been a strange one. President Truman's break with this precedent is welcome. Mr. Donaldson has been with the Post Office Department for 42 years, beginning his career as a letter-carrier, and advancing to his present position as first assistant postmaster-general, incidentally being only the third career man to hold that position. He knows the ropes. The postal service and the country should benefit by having him in the President's cabinet.

How Much Food Can We Allocate For Europeans

Rose-tinted glasses are very dangerous things. They impart a cheerful hue, even to a wart. It is better not to use them when you really want to see what you're looking at.

It is the same with making plans. Plans must be based upon assumptions. If Assumption A turns out to be correct, Course of Action A is the one to be taken. If, however, Assumption B most accurately describes the conditions, then Course of Action B is indicated.

We are faced with these considerations in determining the type and extent of our aid to Europe, particularly in the food we propose to allocate for this purpose.

We know the goal at which we are aiming, and we have assessed the price of success and the cost of failure. How we must audit the supplies on hand and expected to become available in the future.

The Senate Appropriations Committee is undertaking this task, by questioning Department of Agriculture experts, representatives of farm organizations, grain markets, the commercial grain trade, and principal users of grain in the United States.

This is a vital task. Upon their assessment will be based the extent of our food allocations to starving Europe.

The committee must be sure that its estimates are correct—a lot more correct than some of the figures that have been issued in Washington from time to time. Erroneous estimates could lead not only to failure to deliver to Europe what we had promised, but could produce very serious dislocation at home.

Suppose, for instance, vast quantities of grain were shipped abroad, and then we found that our supplies were far below what had been forecast. High prices would not be the only serious result.

The appropriations committee has a difficult assignment, but it must be well done. Bad plans based on true assumptions can win battles. Good plans undermined by false assumptions can lose wars. And we are not playing with marbles.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

THE DIABETIC CHILD

WHEN a child develops diabetes today, treatment is started immediately. A special diet is essential and insulin is usually required. In this way the disease is controlled and the young victim knows that if he keeps his body well nourished, a normal life lies ahead.

This is in contrast to the utterly hopeless situation that existed before insulin was discovered. The physician who made the diagnosis also pronounced the death sentence. The family was informed of the outcome and did everything possible to ease the few years left to the youngster. It was useless to prepare him for adulthood and, by being oversolicitous, father and mother were only doing their part. A starvation diet helped temporarily but, in the absence of insulin, death was sure to follow.

Such a concept of diabetes is difficult to erase from the minds of those who lived thru the pre-insulin era. As a result, many parents are shocked when told that their son or daughter has the disorder. They often blame themselves unnecessarily fearing that too many sugars and starches had been given. Meanwhile, the little patient accepts the condition and will proceed naturally under modern management.

But all too often Johnny becomes aware of the anxiety of his parents, or is spoiled by coddling or pampering. The lad begins to feel that he is "different" and may become resentful of his handicap especially if the grownups in the household assume an overprotective attitude. If of school age, he is frequently ashamed of his affliction and makes every attempt to escape detection by eating everything including sweets.

The diabetic today has a good chance of living a normal life expectancy. He is restricted to a certain extent but modern menus are more liberal and, with the newer insulin preparations, fewer shots are needed. These children should not be segregated as is done with victims of other ailments. Consquently the boy or girl should never think that he is unlike any one else. Furthermore, by assuming a healthy mental outlook, Johnny is happier and will cooperate by taking care of himself.

Physical activity need not be limited. Gym, therefore, is helpful as exercise may actually lessen the amount of insulin required. This explains why less of the hormone may be used during the summer when much time is spent at the playground and more in the winter when a good part of each day is passed at a school desk.

The adolescent sufferer may become dismal about the future, the girls fearing that motherhood is out of the question. But this is not true except that it would be better to marry a man who does not have the malady or a family history of it. If this hule is followed the chances are lessened of having diabetic offspring. Boys who are afflicted may think that they will make burdensome husbands but this too is often a fallacy.

Diabetic children are not always easy to handle but behavior problems can be minimized if the parents know the truth about the disease so that they can assist in creating a wholesome environment for the youngsters.

REST FOR STRAIN

L. D. writes: Will walking and other exercise help sacroiliac strain?

REPLY

Rest is indicated at first but, after healing is complete, graduated exercises are often helpful in strengthening the parts. In this way a second bout may be prevented.

CONTAGIOUS EYE SORE

Mrs. A. G. writes: What is pink-eyes?

REPLY

This is an extremely contagious type of eye infection that is likely to occur in the spring and autumn. The membranes lining the inside of the lids and the white of the eyes become reddened and exude a profus discharge. Many organisms have been blamed including the pneumococcus and a strain of the Haemophilus influenzae.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

LONDON—I attended my first soccer match today, but my thoughts went racetrackward by mistake . . . All the players were running around the field in their shorts!

In one respect British soccer is like American football. Each game has two kinds of stars, amateur and collegiate.

You could tell it was a British game. Whenever there was time out the waterboy dashed onto the field with tea and crumpets!

And what weather! It was so murky the pea in the referee's whistle turned into soup.

I'd like to say here that British sportsmanship on the field is exemplary. After a player gets his teeth kicked out, the fellow who does the kicking hands him a handkerchief and jewelbox in which to take the teeth home.

And of course they don't have cheerleaders. Each spectator brings along pen and stationary and sends the team notes of encouragement.

They didn't have a groundskeeper to make those white lines. They just had Churchill run across the field a dozen times shaking his cigar ashes.

After the winners ran out and tore up the goalposts, the losers rushed out and planted a geranium in each hole!

DIDN'T THEY BRING A ROPE OR A PLANK OR SOMETHING?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28—Today the last section of the Friendship Train pulls into Philadelphia, 202 cars strong. Started in the Southwest because the folks down there didn't want to be left out when it came to friendship, this section of the train was sparkplugged by the Wichita Eagle, carried by the Santa Fe, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Baltimore and Ohio railroads, and loaded by just about everyone.

Tomorrow, the American Leader, a ship patriotically allocated by the United States Lines for purposes of friendship, will sail from Philadelphia carrying part of this carefully collected cargo, via New York, to France.

Later the SS Exiria, also contributing cargo space to the cause of friendship, will sail from New York with part of the cargo for Italy. A few days afterward two other American steamship lines, the Waterman and the States Marine Corporation, are generously helping to clean up the final cargoes in their SS Alewai and the SS Hoosier City. All this is being done by the steamship lines, as by the railroads and everyone else connected with the Friendship Train, absolutely free of charge.

The French cargo should arrive before Christmas. Because of the longer trip through the Mediterranean, the Italian cargoes will arrive a little after Christmas, but in time for the Italian gift-giving day; for the Italian people exchange gifts not only at Christmas time as in the United States but on the feast of Epiphany, January 6.

Meanwhile, many generous American communities not on the main line of the Friendship Train have been rushing voluntary contributions to the boat. The city of Nashville, Tenn., entirely unsolicited, loaded up 100,000 pounds of flour and trucked it all the way to Philadelphia. Chattanooga did the same thing with two huge truckloads of evaporated milk.

And up in New England, not to be left out when it comes to generosity, Manchester, New Hampshire's radio station WFEA sparked the loading of two boxcars now being rushed to New York, while Bridgeport, Conn., is feverishly loading a small train of its own in order to reach New York before the "friend ships" sail.

Translating The Story

To some extent the most difficult part of the Friendship Train has just begun—namely, to make the people of Europe understand how all sorts of Americans poured out their good will to fill the Friendship Train.

The story is already being told to Europe in part by newsreels, radio and newspaper stories; and it will be told further when the food arrives. But no medium can really tell this story of spontaneous American generosity.

When this columnist first suggested the idea of a train starting from Los Angeles with one boxcar to load food on the way, I must now confess that I was worried sick for fear we would not start with a single car. My humble apologies go to the people of Los Angeles and everyone else for grossly underestimating American generosity!

For the real story that must be told to Europe is a story of towns and people Europeans never heard of, pouring out ton after ton of food; of farmers loading wheat into trucks and carrying it miles to the train, of school children lined up at the stations—how they ever knew the train was coming by we never knew—and the train in many cases couldn't even stop; but the kids had heard about it and were at the tracks waving just the same. And the railroad men! They'd seen a thousand trains, but they said they'd never handled one like this before. You'd thought at times there was a halo over the engine the way they handled it.

U.S. and French RR Men

And if the French railroad men realize—and we shall most certainly tell them—that their brethren on the Santa Fe, the Union Pacific, the New York Central and several other roads—gave up their salaries to haul this train; and that the Pennsylvania Railroad men contributed not only one large car of flour but $10,000 in cash besides—well, it ought to help a little toward the brotherhood of man.

It is the story of all sorts of people. . . . The prisoners at Yadkinville, N. C., Prison Camp 810, who sent a check for $32 with the message: "It's a token of our feelings for our fellow men." . . . The story of go-getting young businessmen of the Toledo Junior Chamber of Commerce who loaded the tremendous total of nine tons of milk. . . . And of the American Legion, the D.A.R., boy scouts, schools and John Q. Citizens of Welch, West Virginia, who heard about the Friendship Train and, on two days' notice, shipped one full boxcar of canned milk from that tiny mountain community.

Then down in Bristol, Va.-Tenn., far off the main line of the train, the American Legion got busy. Nobody asked them; they just wanted to help. And before they finished, the students of Virginia Intermount College voted to give up their Thanksgiving banquet, contributing the money to the Friendship Train, while the churches—all denominations—chipped in, together with the radio stations and the newspapers until that mountain area not only loaded two cars of canned milk, but started a small train northward.

With the help of the Norfolk and Western Railroad, cars were picked up at Roanoke, Lynchburg, Danville, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Richmond, Petersburg and Suffolk—until the state of Virginia had worked up a special Friendship Train of its own.

A little farther south, Raleigh and Durham, North Carolina, refused to be ignored and sent their cars, while the Lions Club in Morehead City, N. C., got together with the Lions Club of Kinston, N. C., both small towns, and shot their own car up to join the main Friendship Train.

Do They Want Low Prices?

THE current boom, stimulated by an inflationary tendency, is favored by the Administration because it benefits them politically. Everybody is at work. Everybody has money in the pocket. Prices are high, but the people can pay for what they want. There is grumbling but no real dissatisfaction. Any lowering of prices would develop fears that the depression, which the Russians and Henry Wallace have regarded as "inevitable," has actually arrived.

Therefore, the Administration keeps prices high and shouts against the Inflation. They act one way and talk another. The President's Ten-Point Program was a talking matter; not a single step has been taken to implement it, in spite of the fact that the President possesses ample powers to curb the inflation in many directions—certainly in reducing the amount of money in circulation.

Marriner Eccles, for instance, proposed that bank credits be limited, a step that would, if properly handled, lessen the inflation. As a matter of fact, sound bankers have for some time been conservative in granting credits, particularly consumers credits, but they ought to increase loans for productive purposes as opposed to speculation. When a loan is made that adds nothing to the general welfare but merely gives an individual an opportunity to gamble in an inflationary market, it is not sound to assist him.

John Snyder, Secretary of the Treasury, who more closely represents the Administration than does Marriner Eccles, opposed Eccles's proposals for limiting bank credits. When Eccles insisted upon limiting government expenditures, he hit the Administration more fiercely than even Senators Taft or Byrd have, for he, being in the family, even as a feltover, knows what the canker of governmnt spending is upon the body politic.

This Administration means to spend more and more between now and Election Day on the Al Smith formula, "Nobody shoots Santa Claus," which Harry Hopkins turned into a political gold mine.

Again in the matter of conserving food supplies, the Administration talks one way and acts another. The Luckman dramatization is, of course, finished and never was needed. Nothing was actually saved by it. Yet, there was something that both Luckman and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson could have done and did not do. A very bad practice exists in the baking industry which is unnecessary, wasteful and serves no purpose but grew up in the competition for retail outlets; that is, the over-stocking of bread in groceries and the acceptance of returns by bakers. Those returns of old bread are ground up for feed, but a great waste is involved.

The bakers would like to get away from the practice but dare not enter into an agreement lest the Department of Justice institute anti-trust proceedings against them.

It certainly ought to be possible for the bakers, the Department of Agriculture, the Department of Justice, and the White House to work out a procedure for ending this wasteful practice at a time when grain is so sorely needed without the bankers taking the additional risk of an anti-trust suit. But the Administration does nothing and the practice continues. Incidentally, the Secretary of Agriculture says that he does not know any way to limit the weight of hogs and cattle—so how does he expect, by government controls, to limit the consumption of grain?

The fact is that the Administration is not willing to take a single step to lower prices, if such a step would antagonize a sufficiently large and vocal group, as for instance, the farmers, just as it has been unwilling to offend the labor leaders by supporting the extremely mild controls on the predatory padrone system of the labor supply.

In a word, the Administration wants to keep the prices high to satisfy those who benefit from high prices, and talk low prices to please consumers. And then they can always blame the Republicans in Congress for not doing what the Administration is, by the Constitution and the law, empowered to do. They want to keep the boom going by keeping prices high for political reasons, while they talk anti-inflation for economic reasons. They hope that this paradox will keep them in office. And it might.

Union Bosses Are Bent On Breaking Up Printers' Union

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—Shall a union of skilled workers, a union of fine citizens, a union with decades of excellent employer relations be disrupted and perhaps destroyed altogether by a small group of dictators from within?

Shall this same group exercise a monopoly power to forbid a young man from entering that trade or occupation and limit the number of applicants even though more are needed, thus restricting production as well as the opportunity for individuals to make a living? There are thousands of veterans who would like to share in the high wages, now reaching from $3,000 to $5,000 a year, in many trades.

These are the issues emerging in the nation-wide controversy between the printers' unions and the employing businesses throughout the country, with strikes already occurring in Chicago and threatening printing plants in other cities.

The ostensible issue is whether the bosses of the International Typographical Union, against whom already an independent faction of workers has risen in dissent, shall use economic power to require employers to violate the laws which Congress passes.

The printers' union is demanding—in violation of the Taft-Hartley law—that employing printers shall, under duress, agree not to hire any but union printers or allow any nonunion printers to work alongside the union men.

This is known as the "closed shop" and is forbidden by law. The National Labor Relations Board will soon apply to the courts for an injunction against the union leaders for their efforts to induce a violation of law.

Law Provides For Closed Shop Status

The Taft-Hartley law itself, however, provides a method whereby only union men will work in a plant. This is called the "union shop" and the law stipulates that if the workers vote for it, newcomers must at the end of 30 days of employment joint the union.

It is a simple thing for the printers' unions to achieve the same status as a closed shop, and the Taft-Hartley law provides the machinery. Why then doesn't the International Typographical Union permit its local unions to comply with these routine requirements and assure a completely union shop? No employers, certainly, would dare stand in the way of such a step if the workers wanted it—in fact the law forbids the employer to interfere in any way with the process when a union shop is being requested and voted on.

The truth is that the union bosses want the right to say who shall be hired in the first place. They want also to limit the number who can be hired.

This is the crux of the issue—the right of the employer to hire when he pleases with the understanding that at the end of 30 days the worker must join the union.

The union bosses admit that they do not want more apprentices hired than they themselves may decide is adequate. On the witness stand in a hearing recently, a printers' union executive testified that less than 5,000 young men were being permitted annually to become apprentices. An apprentice must serve five years before he can become a full-fledged journeyman. Actually it takes only about six months to teach an intelligent worker enough to become a journeyman.

There are only about 85,000 journeymen printers in America. Some experts say it requires 15,000 apprentices to be put in training in order to get enough to replace those who reach old age or die in service annually, to say nothing of the increased demands for printing which obviously means more printers. Only a third of this needed supply of manpower is being permitted, though wages of printers nowadays run above $3,000 a year.

Strategy of Union Bosses

The strategy of the union bosses has been to insist on work weeks of under 40 hours. In many cities, it is 37 or even 36 hours a week and there are some instances of 30 hours. This means that overtime at rates of pay of time-and-one-half per hour force up the costs to the employer and, of course, there is no corresponding increase in output.

In the end there will be unemployment as prices go so high as to bring on a depression. At that time, many printers will suffer. But the union bosses, who draw fat salaries, will not be affected. Thus are the workers being victimized and some day they will rise up in their wrath against the present-day dictators of their unions and demand sensible leadersaip. For the rank and file of the workers now know it is not the employers but the union bosses who are bent on breaking up the splendd unions in the printing industry that has existed in America for nearly 100 years.

Quick Action On Dewey Plan Of China Aid Held Blow To Recs

By MARK SULLIVAN

On Monday, Governor Dewey of New York, in a formal speech urging that we aid China to resist Communism, declared that at least "modest aid" be included in the bills for aid to Europe: "If at least some aid is not given immediately by these bills, the moral effect upon our Chinese friends will be terrible beyond contemplation."

The following day, the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, in acting on the bill for emergency aid to Europe, added 60 million dollars for China.

This could be coincidence merely, but more probably is conferences by Republicans in Congress to a recommendation by an important Republican leader. It should be added that in this step the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House was not going over the head of the Truman Administration. Sixty million dollars for China had previously been recommended by Secretary of State Marshall as a matter to be acted upon later.

Republicans Embrace Policy

In all events an extraordinary development has taken place. Resistence to Communism on a world-wide basis has become a Republican policy even more fully than an Administration one. The new Republican policy far from opposing the Administration policy or even diverging from it, actually embraces it and goes beyond it.

The dismay this meant to the Communist heads in Moscow goes deep. It destroys hopes which were bases of their belief in the invincible superiority of their system. If they expected to derive advantage from political cleavage in the United States; if they expected that, on the eve of a Presidential campaign here the Republican and Democratic Parties would divide; if they relied upon our two-party system and free, democratic elections as a weakness compared with their one-party system and dictatorship—in every expectation they are now frustrated. Solidarity in America makes for peace, and the Communist heads now know that America has solidarity.

Within the immense significance of their development is a minor one having also to do with the American political system. The present proponent of enlargement of our resistence to Communism is not a leader in Congress nor a member of it, he is governor of a state. He is not called upon to take leadership in foreign relations unless he is strongly moved. He is an accepted candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination and in that role, so far as he felt called upon to take a position on the foreign policy of a Democratic Administration, might have confined himself to more formal endorsement of it. A platitude about politics stopping at the water's edge would have satisfied convention.

Instead Governor Dewey devoted the whole of a carefully thought-out speech to explanation of his policy and the reason for it. Some passages in his speech have the special value of making clearer to our people the score of the struggle which the course of Russian Communism has forced upon us:

"We are facing one whole problem . . . We have a whole struggle on our hands, world-wide in scope . . . In America we are under attack by propaganda, falsehood and economic sabotage. Free governments in Europe are under attack by rioting political strikes and armed violence."

Accepting fully the necessity of aid to Europe, and endorsing heartily the Administration policy of providing it, Governor Dewey points out the even greater urgency of aid to China:

"upt the program of Communist world conquest . . . Is furthest advanced in China. . . . The cold war which has become a warm war in Europe is a very hot and successful war in China. The inescapable fact is that unless we change our national policy immediately, there is good reason to believe that the 450 million people of China will soon fall wholly into Communist hands."

Dewey States Reasons

Governor Dewey is careful to stress the necessity of the aid we are about to give Europe: "A Communist police state in the Mediterranean and in France would be as serious a blow to the freedom of man as would have been the victory of the axis in its recent war." But he points out that while the Communist drive in Europe may cause civil wars there, and while that is presumably the Communist purpose, the stage of civil war has actually been brought about in China.

Governor Dewey's extremely thoughtful and thorough speech includes many points beaing on principle and on action. A concretely important one has to do with immediate practicability. Materials for present aid to the Chinese government are already nearly in the Philippines, Guam, Okinawa and Japan. "Only an order is needed from Washington and they could be shipped immediately to armies where men are dying for lack of them."

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

If it is not too quick after Thanksgiving I wish the witches' brooms department of aviation would tell me where Howard Hughes goes during investigations.

It is either through a trap-door or up the chimney. They have had Mr. Hughes on the loading platform twice. And he disappeared like rock salt in the rain.

Mr. Hughes stutters a bit, freckles easily and has more money than other people can count. Even with all these impediments in his obstacle race Mr. Hughes manages to breeze through an investigation like a protean actor in vaudeville.

While you are looking at Mr. Hughes he suddenly becomes another man. And the other man is the fellow they were looking for all the time.

Fort Hill Sentinels Again Football Champs

The curtain has fallen once again on a scholastic football season, and from out of the maze of games Fort Hill High School has once more emerged grasping the city championship.

Fort Hill annexed the crown for the second consecutive year by, this time, overwhelming a weaker but stout-hearted Allegany team.

The outcome of the Turkey Day event was no surprise. It had been generally conceded that only by some miracle could Allegany High overcome a superior Fort Hill team. The Campers' showing during the season had left much to be desired, and as a result of this had entered the Thanksgiving Day game very much the underdogs.

Despite this, followers of the Blue and White nursed a hope that the "breaks" of the game might favor their team, or that it might be a much greater inspired eleven that would take the field in this annual scholastic contest. Thus, the element of possible surprise which existed in and out of school circles drew thousands of fans into the stadium stands.

But the so-called "breaks," instead of favoring the blue-and-white-clad warriors, went to their opponents via fumbles and questionable strategy during crucial periods of the contest. It must be said, however, that fighting spirit on the part of Allegany was never lacking, and its display of determination to win, if at all possible, stirred up within its supporters great admiration for the team.

It might have been expected that a team, which had lost but one game early in the season and then went on to annex everyone of their next eight contests, would enter this final and major battle with some degree of overconfidence. Not Fort Hill. The wearers of the Scarlet and White gave evidence early in the game that they would prove themselves masters of the situation, and would not be denied that which they believed should rightfully be theirs—the championship crown.

Fort Hill played with the alertness of the well-coached outfit it was, capitalizing on every misplay by its foes and driving on the ground with bulldog tenacity to carry the ball over the goal line on four occasions. That the Sentinels deserved to win, no one will question, especially in the face of the stubborn battle put up by Allegany. The Blue and White put everything they had into the game—but it wasn't enough. Fort Hill was, indeed, magnificent in victory and deserves the plaudits of followers of the game. Allegany went down fighting. Supporters need be unashamed of its efforts.

Democrats continue to insist Eisenhower would make an ideal candidate for the Republicans, but the general—generally regarded as a Democrat—hasn't announced his conversion.

One Federal Appointment That Really Makes Sense

There have been a lot of precedents shattered in Washington, but President Truman's appointment of a post office career man to be Postmaster General is something all by itself.

Jesse M. Donaldson, who has been named to succeed Postmaster General Hannegan on Monday, will, if his nomination is approved, be the first man in history to rise from the ranks of the postal service to head the department. It has been the custom for generations to name a high party politician, usually the chairman of the national party committee, to the office of Postmaster General.

While this practice has not necessarily hurt the Post Office Department, it has been a strange one. President Truman's break with this precedent is welcome. Mr. Donaldson has been with the Post Office Department for 42 years, beginning his career as a letter-carrier, and advancing to his present position as first assistant postmaster-general, incidentally being only the third career man to hold that position. He knows the ropes. The postal service and the country should benefit by having him in the President's cabinet.

Physical activity need not be limited. Gym, therefore, is helpful as exercise may actually lessen the amount of insulin required. This explains why less of the hormone may be used during the summer when much time is spent at the playground and more in the winter when a good part of each day is passed at a school desk.

The adolescent sufferer may become dismal about the future, the girls fearing that motherhood is out of the question. But this is not true except that it would be better to marry a man who does not have the malady or a family history of it. If this hule is followed the chances are lessened of having diabetic offspring. Boys who are afflicted may think that they will make burdensome husbands but this too is often a fallacy.

Diabetic children are not always easy to handle but behavior problems can be minimized if the parents know the truth about the disease so that they can assist in creating a wholesome environment for the youngsters.

REST FOR STRAIN

L. D. writes: Will walking and other exercise help sacroiliac strain?

REPLY

Rest is indicated at first but, after healing is complete, graduated exercises are often helpful in strengthening the parts. In this way a second bout may be prevented.

CONTAGIOUS EYE SORE

Mrs. A. G. writes: What is pink-eyes?

REPLY

This is an extremely contagious type of eye infection that is likely to occur in the spring and autumn. The membranes lining the inside of the lids and the white of the eyes become reddened and exude a profus discharge. Many organisms have been blamed including the pneumococcus and a strain of the Haemophilus influenzae.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

LONDON—I attended my first soccer match today, but my thoughts went racetrackward by mistake . . . All the players were running around the field in their shorts!

In one respect British soccer is like American football. Each game has two kinds of stars, amateur and collegiate.

You could tell it was a British game. Whenever there was time out the waterboy dashed onto the field with tea and crumpets!

And what weather! It was so murky the pea in the referee's whistle turned into soup.

I'd like to say here that British sportsmanship on the field is exemplary. After a player gets his teeth kicked out, the fellow who does the kicking hands him a handkerchief and jewelbox in which to take the teeth home.

And of course they don't have cheerleaders. Each spectator brings along pen and stationary and sends the team notes of encouragement.

They didn't have a groundskeeper to make those white lines. They just had Churchill run across the field a dozen times shaking his cigar ashes.

After the winners ran out and tore up the goalposts, the losers rushed out and planted a geranium in each hole!

Says DREW PEARSON

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28—Today the last section of the Friendship Train pulls into Philadelphia, 202 cars strong. Started in the Southwest because the folks down there didn't want to be left out when it came to friendship, this section of the train was sparkplugged by the Wichita Eagle, carried by the Santa Fe, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Baltimore and Ohio railroads, and loaded by just about everyone.

Tomorrow, the American Leader, a ship patriotically allocated by the United States Lines for purposes of friendship, will sail from Philadelphia carrying part of this carefully collected cargo, via New York, to France.

Later the SS Exiria, also contributing cargo space to the cause of friendship, will sail from New York with part of the cargo for Italy. A few days afterward two other American steamship lines, the Waterman and the States Marine Corporation, are generously helping to clean up the final cargoes in their SS Alewai and the SS Hoosier City. All this is being done by the steamship lines, as by the railroads and everyone else connected with the Friendship Train, absolutely free of charge.

The French cargo should arrive before Christmas. Because of the longer trip through the Mediterranean, the Italian cargoes will arrive a little after Christmas, but in time for the Italian gift-giving day; for the Italian people exchange gifts not only at Christmas time as in the United States but on the feast of Epiphany, January 6.

Meanwhile, many generous American communities not on the main line of the Friendship Train have been rushing voluntary contributions to the boat. The city of Nashville, Tenn., entirely unsolicited, loaded up 100,000 pounds of flour and trucked it all the way to Philadelphia. Chattanooga did the same thing with two huge truckloads of evaporated milk.

And up in New England, not to be left out when it comes to generosity, Manchester, New Hampshire's radio station WFEA sparked the loading of two boxcars now being rushed to New York, while Bridgeport, Conn., is feverishly loading a small train of its own in order to reach New York before the "friend ships" sail.

Translating The Story

To some extent the most difficult part of the Friendship Train has just begun—namely, to make the people of Europe understand how all sorts of Americans poured out their good will to fill the Friendship Train.

The story is already being told to Europe in part by newsreels, radio and newspaper stories; and it will be told further when the food arrives. But no medium can really tell this story of spontaneous American generosity.

When this columnist first suggested the idea of a train starting from Los Angeles with one boxcar to load food on the way, I must now confess that I was worried sick for fear we would not start with a single car. My humble apologies go to the people of Los Angeles and everyone else for grossly underestimating American generosity!

For the real story that must be told to Europe is a story of towns and people Europeans never heard of, pouring out ton after ton of food; of farmers loading wheat into trucks and carrying it miles to the train, of school children lined up at the stations—how they ever knew the train was coming by we never knew—and the train in many cases couldn't even stop; but the kids had heard about it and were at the tracks waving just the same. And the railroad men! They'd seen a thousand trains, but they said they'd never handled one like this before. You'd thought at times there was a halo over the engine the way they handled it.

U.S. and French RR Men

And if the French railroad men realize—and we shall most certainly tell them—that their brethren on the Santa Fe, the Union Pacific, the New York Central and several other roads—gave up their salaries to haul this train; and that the Pennsylvania Railroad men contributed not only one large car of flour but $10,000 in cash besides—well, it ought to help a little toward the brotherhood of man.

It is the story of all sorts of people. . . . The prisoners at Yadkinville, N. C., Prison Camp 810, who sent a check for $32 with the message: "It's a token of our feelings for our fellow men." . . . The story of go-getting young businessmen of the Toledo Junior Chamber of Commerce who loaded the tremendous total of nine tons of milk. . . . And of the American Legion, the D.A.R., boy scouts, schools and John Q. Citizens of Welch, West Virginia, who heard about the Friendship Train and, on two days' notice, shipped one full boxcar of canned milk from that tiny mountain community.

Then down in Bristol, Va.-Tenn., far off the main line of the train, the American Legion got busy. Nobody asked them; they just wanted to help. And before they finished, the students of Virginia Intermount College voted to give up their Thanksgiving banquet, contributing the money to the Friendship Train, while the churches—all denominations—chipped in, together with the radio stations and the newspapers until that mountain area not only loaded two cars of canned milk, but started a small train northward.

With the help of the Norfolk and Western Railroad, cars were picked up at Roanoke, Lynchburg, Danville, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Richmond, Petersburg and Suffolk—until the state of Virginia had worked up a special Friendship Train of its own.

A little farther south, Raleigh and Durham, North Carolina, refused to be ignored and sent their cars, while the Lions Club in Morehead City, N. C., got together with the Lions Club of Kinston, N. C., both small towns, and shot their own car up to join the main Friendship Train.

Do They Want Low Prices?

THE current boom, stimulated by an inflationary tendency, is favored by the Administration because it benefits them politically. Everybody is at work. Everybody has money in the pocket. Prices are high, but the people can pay for what they want. There is grumbling but no real dissatisfaction. Any lowering of prices would develop fears that the depression, which the Russians and Henry Wallace have regarded as "inevitable," has actually arrived.

Therefore, the Administration keeps prices high and shouts against the Inflation. They act one way and talk another. The President's Ten-Point Program was a talking matter; not a single step has been taken to implement it, in spite of the fact that the President possesses ample powers to curb the inflation in many directions—certainly in reducing the amount of money in circulation.

Marriner Eccles, for instance, proposed that bank credits be limited, a step that would, if properly handled, lessen the inflation. As a matter of fact, sound bankers have for some time been conservative in granting credits, particularly consumers credits, but they ought to increase loans for productive purposes as opposed to speculation. When a loan is made that adds nothing to the general welfare but merely gives an individual an opportunity to gamble in an inflationary market, it is not sound to assist him.

John Snyder, Secretary of the Treasury, who more closely represents the Administration than does Marriner Eccles, opposed Eccles's proposals for limiting bank credits. When Eccles insisted upon limiting government expenditures, he hit the Administration more fiercely than even Senators Taft or Byrd have, for he, being in the family, even as a feltover, knows what the canker of governmnt spending is upon the body politic.

This Administration means to spend more and more between now and Election Day on the Al Smith formula, "Nobody shoots Santa Claus," which Harry Hopkins turned into a political gold mine.

Again in the matter of conserving food supplies, the Administration talks one way and acts another. The Luckman dramatization is, of course, finished and never was needed. Nothing was actually saved by it. Yet, there was something that both Luckman and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson could have done and did not do. A very bad practice exists in the baking industry which is unnecessary, wasteful and serves no purpose but grew up in the competition for retail outlets; that is, the over-stocking of bread in groceries and the acceptance of returns by bakers. Those returns of old bread are ground up for feed, but a great waste is involved.

The bakers would like to get away from the practice but dare not enter into an agreement lest the Department of Justice institute anti-trust proceedings against them.

It certainly ought to be possible for the bakers, the Department of Agriculture, the Department of Justice, and the White House to work out a procedure for ending this wasteful practice at a time when grain is so sorely needed without the bankers taking the additional risk of an anti-trust suit. But the Administration does nothing and the practice continues. Incidentally, the Secretary of Agriculture says that he does not know any way to limit the weight of hogs and cattle—so how does he expect, by government controls, to limit the consumption of grain?

The fact is that the Administration is not willing to take a single step to lower prices, if such a step would antagonize a sufficiently large and vocal group, as for instance, the farmers, just as it has been unwilling to offend the labor leaders by supporting the extremely mild controls on the predatory padrone system of the labor supply.

In a word, the Administration wants to keep the prices high to satisfy those who benefit from high prices, and talk low prices to please consumers. And then they can always blame the Republicans in Congress for not doing what the Administration is, by the Constitution and the law, empowered to do. They want to keep the boom going by keeping prices high for political reasons, while they talk anti-inflation for economic reasons. They hope that this paradox will keep them in office. And it might.

Union Bosses Are Bent On Breaking Up Printers' Union

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—Shall a union of skilled workers, a union of fine citizens, a union with decades of excellent employer relations be disrupted and perhaps destroyed altogether by a small group of dictators from within?

Shall this same group exercise a monopoly power to forbid a young man from entering that trade or occupation and limit the number of applicants even though more are needed, thus restricting production as well as the opportunity for individuals to make a living? There are thousands of veterans who would like to share in the high wages, now reaching from $3,000 to $5,000 a year, in many trades.

These are the issues emerging in the nation-wide controversy between the printers' unions and the employing businesses throughout the country, with strikes already occurring in Chicago and threatening printing plants in other cities.

The ostensible issue is whether the bosses of the International Typographical Union, against whom already an independent faction of workers has risen in dissent, shall use economic power to require employers to violate the laws which Congress passes.

The printers' union is demanding—in violation of the Taft-Hartley law—that employing printers shall, under duress, agree not to hire any but union printers or allow any nonunion printers to work alongside the union men.

This is known as the "closed shop" and is forbidden by law. The National Labor Relations Board will soon apply to the courts for an injunction against the union leaders for their efforts to induce a violation of law.

Law Provides For Closed Shop Status

The Taft-Hartley law itself, however, provides a method whereby only union men will work in a plant. This is called the "union shop" and the law stipulates that if the workers vote for it, newcomers must at the end of 30 days of employment joint the union.

It is a simple thing for the printers' unions to achieve the same status as a closed shop, and the Taft-Hartley law provides the machinery. Why then doesn't the International Typographical Union permit its local unions to comply with these routine requirements and assure a completely union shop? No employers, certainly, would dare stand in the way of such a step if the workers wanted it—in fact the law forbids the employer to interfere in any way with the process when a union shop is being requested and voted on.

The truth is that the union bosses want the right to say who shall be hired in the first place. They want also to limit the number who can be hired.

This is the crux of the issue—the right of the employer to hire whom he pleases with the understanding that at the end of 30 days the worker must join the union.

The union bosses admit that they do not want more apprentices hired than they themselves may decide is adequate. On the witness stand in a hearing recently, a printers' union executive testified that less than 5,000 young men were being permitted annually to become apprentices. An apprentice must serve five years before he can become a full-fledged journeyman. Actually it takes only about six months to teach an intelligent worker enough to become a journeyman.

There are only about 85,000 journeymen printers in America. Some experts say it requires 15,000 apprentices to be put in training in order to get enough to replace those who reach old age or die in service annually, to say nothing of the increased demands for printing which obviously means more printers. Only a third of this needed supply of manpower is being permitted, though wages of printers nowadays run above $3,000 a year.

Strategy of Union Bosses

The strategy of the union bosses has been to insist on work weeks of under 40 hours. In many cities, it is 37 or even 36 hours a week and there are some instances of 30 hours. This means that overtime at rates of pay of time-and-one-half per hour force up the costs to the employer and, of course, there is no corresponding increase in output.

In the end there will be unemployment as prices go so high as to bring on a depression. At that time, many printers will suffer. But the union bosses, who draw fat salaries, will not be affected. Thus are the workers being victimized and some day they will rise up in their wrath against the present-day dictators of their unions and demand sensible leadersaip. For the rank and file of the workers now know it is not the employers but the union bosses who are bent on breaking up the splendid unions in the printing industry that has existed in America for nearly 100 years.

Quick Action On Dewey Plan Of China Aid Held Blow To Recs

By MARK SULLIVAN

On Monday, Governor Dewey of New York, in a formal speech urging that we aid China to resist Communism, declared that at least "modest aid" be included in the bills for aid to Europe: "If at least some aid is not given immediately by these bills, the moral effect upon our Chinese friends will be terrible beyond contemplation."

The following day, the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, in acting on the bill for emergency aid to Europe, added 60 million dollars for China.

This could be coincidence merely, but more probably is conferences by Republicans in Congress to a recommendation by an important Republican leader. It should be added that in this step the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House was not going over the head of the Truman Administration. Sixty million dollars for China had previously been recommended by Secretary of State Marshall as a matter to be acted upon later.

Republicans Embrace Policy

In all events an extraordinary development has taken place. Resistence to Communism on a world-wide basis has become a Republican policy even more fully than an Administration one. The new Republican policy far from opposing the Administration policy or even diverging from it, actually embraces it and goes beyond it.

The dismay this meant to the Communist heads in Moscow goes deep. It destroys hopes which were bases of their belief in the invincible superiority of their system. If they expected to derive advantage from political cleavage in the United States; if they expected that, on the eve of a Presidential campaign here the Republican and Democratic Parties would divide; if they relied upon our two-party system and free, democratic elections as a weakness compared with their one-party system and dictatorship—in every expectation they are now frustrated. Solidarity in America makes for peace, and the Communist heads now know that America has solidarity.

Within the immense significance of their development is a minor one having also to do with the American political system. The present proponent of enlargement of our resistence to Communism is not a leader in Congress nor a member of it, he is governor of a state. He is not called upon to take leadership in foreign relations unless he is strongly moved. He is an accepted candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination and in that role, so far as he felt called upon to take a position on the foreign policy of a Democratic Administration, might have confined himself to more formal endorsement of it. A platitude about politics stopping at the water's edge would have satisfied convention.

Instead Governor Dewey devoted the whole of a carefully thought-out speech to explanation of his policy and the reason for it. Some passages in his speech have the special value of making clearer to our people the score of the struggle which the course of Russian Communism has forced upon us:

"We are facing one whole problem . . . We have a whole struggle on our hands, world-wide in scope . . . In America we are under attack by propaganda, falsehood and economic sabotage. Free governments in Europe are under attack by rioting political strikes and armed violence."

Accepting fully the necessity of aid to Europe, and endorsing heartily the Administration policy of providing it, Governor Dewey points out the even greater urgency of aid to China:

"upt the program of Communist world conquest . . . Is furthest advanced in China. . . . The cold war which has become a warm war in Europe is a very hot and successful war in China. The inescapable fact is that unless we change our national policy immediately, there is good reason to believe that the 450 million people of China will soon fall wholly into Communist hands."

Dewey States Reasons

Governor Dewey is careful to stress the necessity of the aid we are about to give Europe: "A Communist police state in the Mediterranean and in France would be as serious a blow to the freedom of man as would have been the victory of the axis in its recent war." But he points out that while the Communist drive in Europe may cause civil wars there, and while that is presumably the Communist purpose, the stage of civil war has actually been brought about in China.

Governor Dewey's extremely thoughtful and thorough speech includes many points bearing on principle and on action. A concretely important one has to do with immediate practicability. Materials for present aid to the Chinese government are already nearly in the Philippines, Guam, Okinawa and Japan. "Only an order is needed from Washington and they could be shipped immediately to armies where men are dying for lack of them."

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

If it is not too quick after Thanksgiving I wish the witches' brooms department of aviation would tell me where Howard Hughes goes during investigations.

It is either through a trap-door or up the chimney. They have had Mr. Hughes on the loading platform twice. And he disappeared like rock salt in the rain.

Mr. Hughes stutters a bit, freckles easily and has more money than other people can count. Even with all these impediments in his obstacle race Mr. Hughes manages to breeze through an investigation like a protean actor in vaudeville.

While you are looking at Mr. Hughes he suddenly becomes another man. And the other man is the fellow they were looking for all the time.

Who does a kitbitzer kibitz?

The joke books define a kibitzer as a man with an interferiority complex. He generally resides over your left shoulder. Like the old maid who reads "Forever Amber," he has his fun without taking any chances. He's a blood-brother to the circus midget who goes around poking his nose in other people's business.

Billy Rose

The Greeks had words for him. Two thousand years back, kibitzers were called Furies, Fates, or sometimes The Chorus. I saw them last year in the Old Vic production of "Oedipus." These tipsters in togas followed Laurence Olivier around and wisecracked every time he sneezed or crooked his elegant pinky. At the end of the play, Olivier discovered he was married to his own mother. Horrified, he blinded himself. I don't know if Sophocles intended it that way, but I left the theatre feeling that his classical kibiters were responsible for the first Oedipus complex.

In studying this form of insect life, one must learn to distinguish between kibitzers and sidewalk superintendents. A sidewalk superintendent watches a gang of men digging a hole in the ground and is satisfied. A kibitzer waves his hand at the gent behind the crane and advises, "A little to the right buddy. Let her down easy now." Most sidewalk superintendents rate a kibitzer two notches lower than the peeping-tom.

There are many varieties of kibitzers, including the buttonholer, the elbow-nudger, and the guy who plays a paradiddle on your collar bone. It's generally agreed that the most deadly of the species is the silent kibitzer.

One morning a pair of chess players took their board out to Central Park and sat down on the grass to play. A few minutes later a silent kibitzer came along and sat down beside them to watch. The players were the sort who ponder a move for a half hour, reach out for a piece, and then pull back and decide not to be too hasty.

Through several hours of this, the kibitzer watched patiently. Then one of the players made an unorthodox move and an argument started.

"I'll tell you what," said player No. 1. "Let's ask the outsider for an objective opinion."

"I'm sorry," said the kibitzer, "but I don't even know what game you're playing."

"This I don't understand," said player No. 2. "Where do you get the patience to sit here all day when you don't know what's going on?"

"You'd understand," sighed the kibitzer, "if you knew my wife."

To study the kibitzer in his native habitat, one must go to the outskirts of a poker game. There he can be observed in his wild state. There's a story around the coffee house that a harried card player once got temporary relief by putting a mousetrap on his shoulder. A kibitzer leaned over too far—snap went the trap—and it was weeks before he again could stick his swollen schnoz into other people's business.

Other methods highly recommended include trap doors, iron maidens, and Chinese water torture. Genteel methods seldom work, as is proved by my favorite kibitzer story.

A group of card players decided to get rid of a particularly pestiferous specimen. While the kibitzer was answering a phone call, the boys dreamed up a screwball game to confuse him. When the kibitzer soft-shoed back and took up his coaching position, they began to play.

"What are you playing?" asked the kibitzer.

"Spraff," said the dealer. "It's a West Coast adaptation of Sprill. Fours, nines and one-eyed Jacks are wild unless you have a Flecker, which counts double."

"Oh," said the kibitzer.

The first player studied his hand. "I've got a Google," he said. "I'll bet fifty bucks."

"You don't scare me," said the second player. "I've got a Guggle. Raise you a hundred."

The third player said, "This is a cinch. I've got a Figgle and I'll up the pot two hundred."

The kibitzer clapped both hands to his cheek in amazement. Then he stuck his nose into the third man's ear and hissed, "Are you crazy? Against a Google and a Guggle, how can you raise on a measly Giggle?"

NOTICE TO DRIVERS OF VEHICLES

Notice is hereby given that the bridge over the C. and O. Canal on Ford Avenue will be closed to vehicular traffic beginning December 1, 1947, for an indefinite period. Pedestrian traffic will be maintained during the time this bridge is being reconstructed.

The joke books define a kibitzer as a man with an interferiority complex. He generally resides over your left shoulder. Like the old maid who reads "Forever Amber," he has his fun without taking any chances. He's a blood-brother to the circus midget who goes around poking his nose in other people's business.

Billy Rose

The Greeks had words for him. Two thousand years back, kibitzers were called Furies, Fates, or sometimes The Chorus. I saw them last year in the Old Vic production of "Oedipus." These tipsters in togas followed Laurence Olivier around and wisecracked every time he sneezed or crooked his elegant pinky. At the end of the play, Olivier discovered he was married to his own mother. Horrified, he blinded himself. I don't know if Sophocles intended it that way, but I left the theatre feeling that his classical kibiters were responsible for the first Oedipus complex.

In studying this form of insect life, one must learn to distinguish between kibitzers and sidewalk superintendents. A sidewalk superintendent watches a gang of men digging a hole in the ground and is satisfied. A kibitzer waves his hand at the gent behind the crane and advises, "A little to the right buddy. Let her down easy now." Most sidewalk superintendents rate a kibitzer two notches lower than the peeping-tom.

There are many varieties of kibitzers, including the buttonholer, the elbow-nudger, and the guy who plays a paradiddle on your collar bone. It's generally agreed that the most deadly of the species is the silent kibitzer.

One morning a pair of chess players took their board out to Central Park and sat down on the grass to play. A few minutes later a silent kibitzer came along and sat down beside them to watch. The players were the sort who ponder a move for a half hour, reach out for a piece, and then pull back and decide not to be too hasty.

Through several hours of this, the kibitzer watched patiently. Then one of the players made an unorthodox move and an argument started.

"I'll tell you what," said player No. 1. "Let's ask the outsider for an objective opinion."

"I'm sorry," said the kibitzer, "but I don't even know what game you're playing."

"This I don't understand," said player No. 2. "Where do you get the patience to sit here all day when you don't know what's going on?"

"You'd understand," sighed the kibitzer, "if you knew my wife."

To study the kibitzer in his native habitat, one must go to the outskirts of a poker game. There he can be observed in his wild state. There's a story around the coffee house that a harried card player once got temporary relief by putting a mousetrap on his shoulder. A kibitzer leaned over too far—snap went the trap—and it was weeks before he again could stick his swollen schnoz into other people's business.

Other methods highly recommended include trap doors, iron maidens, and Chinese water torture. Genteel methods seldom work, as is proved by my favorite kibitzer story.

A group of card players decided to get rid of a particularly pestiferous specimen. While the kibitzer was answering a phone call, the boys dreamed up a screwball game to confuse him. When the kibitzer soft-shoed back and took up his coaching position, they began to play.

"What are you playing?" asked the kibitzer.

"Spraff," said the dealer. "It's a West Coast adaptation of Sprill. Fours, nines and one-eyed Jacks are wild unless you have a Flecker, which counts double."

"Oh," said the kibitzer.

The first player studied his hand. "I've got a Google," he said. "I'll bet fifty bucks."

"You don't scare me," said the second player. "I've got a Guggle. Raise you a hundred."

The third player said, "This is a cinch. I've got a Figgle and I'll up the pot two hundred."

The kibitzer clapped both hands to his cheek in amazement. Then he stuck his nose into the third man's ear and hissed, "Are you crazy? Against a Google and a Guggle, how can you raise on a measly Giggle?"

Legion Post Co-Sponsor Of New Dixie Bowl Game

BIRMINGHAM, ALA. — Something new has been added to post-season football bowl games this year.

It is the Dixie Bowl classic to be played at Legion Field here on January 1, 1948, between the outstanding football team of the Southeastern Conference and one from the Southern or Southwestern Conference.

The General Gorgas Post 1 of The American Legion, will be the co-sponsor of this new post-season football bowl event, along with the Birmingham Park and Recreation Board.

Imposes Hardships

To the rank and file of the British people austerity is no longer a joke. Austerity means two ounces of bacon every two weeks, 20 clothing coupons to last through a long winter to March, a quart of milk every seven days, no more gasoline for pleasure driving, cigarets at 70 cents a pack (they may go to $1.20), a dab of lard now and then, an occasional tiny bag of candy, a sliver of soap, the promise of a pound of margarine once a month.

NOTICE TO DRIVERS OF VEHICLES

Notice is hereby given that the bridge over the C. and O. Canal on Ford Avenue will be closed to vehicular traffic beginning December 1, 1947, for an indefinite period. Pedestrian traffic will be maintained during the time this bridge is being reconstructed.

Mrs. Thelma Wigal Heads Kingsley Group, Gift Made

Arrangements Made For Dinner Meeting

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Kingsley Methodist Church elected officers for the coming year, following a covered dish supper at the church, as a closing feature of the year's work. Due to the date of the December meeting coming during the Christmas holidays, the November and December meetings were combined.

Rev. M. A. Keesecker was in charge of the election of officers. Mrs. Wigal was elected president; Mrs. Marie Arne, vice president; Miss Lottie Rollins, recording secretary; Mrs. Mae Kreger, promotion secretary and Miss Edna Durst, treasurer.

Various secretaries are Mrs. Thelma Minke, Missionary Education; Mrs. Minnie Wood, Spiritual Life; Mrs. Lelia Yates, Christian Social Relations; Mrs. Ethel Simmons, Local Church Activities; Mrs. Almeda Curry, Literature; Miss Annetta Yates, Student Work; Mrs. Ethel Zimmerman, Youth Work; Mrs. Marguerite Albertson, Children's Work; Mrs. Freda Nine, director of the Week of Prayer; Mrs. Maud Bolinger, Kitchen chairman; and Mrs. Bertie Hamilton, secretary of Supply Work.

Following the supper, Circle meetings were held after which the groups reassembled for the general business session. Mrs. Marguerite Albertson presided at the business meeting, when a cash gift of $10 was appropriated for supply work and will be sent to the district treasurer. Gifts of supplies were received for the Methodist Home for Girls in Baltimore and a letter of appreciation was read from the George O. Robinson School, Santurce, Porto Rico, for the gifts which were sent during the preceding quarter. A letter was also read in part from Miss Elizabeth Ourley, who is a missionary in Baroda, India.

A devotional service was led by Mrs. Zimmerman. Special music selections were presented by a group of girls from the Junior Choir of the church. They sang, "Thank You Lord," in keeping with the season; and "There's a Song in the Air," in recognition of the approaching Christmas season. The singers were Helen Benford, Dorothy Keesecker, Rosetta Croyle, Norma Jean Johnson and Mary Delozier.

Mrs. Minke gave a preview on the book, "World Evangelism," which is to be used as the new study course for the year; Mrs. Wigal read the Scripture and spoke briefly on "Giving Thanks;" Rev. Mr. Keesecker offered prayer, and Mrs. Lelia Yates discussed "Alcohol and the Drug Problems."

The meeting closed with the group singing as a benediction, "Come Into My Heart Lord Jesus."

There were 38 members present for the supper, for which Mrs. Zimmerman and Mrs. Albertson were co-chairmen.

Glenn E. Landis Held For Questioning

A man identified as Glenn E. Landis, 408 York Place, was being held in City Jail last night for investigation, police said, after he was caught "trying to break into the cellar of a Homer Street dwelling."

Officers making the arrest reported that they received a call from J. E. Torbet, informing them that he was holding a man who he caught trying to break into his cellar window.

Police said Landis "was too drunk to question" at the time of his arrest. He will be questioned today, they indicated.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Disillusion Always Hard But Better Lose Her Now Than Later

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Disillusion is always hard, of course, but if a man finds out in advance that the girl he hopes to marry is not likely to make him a satisfactory wife, I should think he would thank his lucky stars. It is much easier and less painful to stay out of marriage than to get out of it.

A young man from whom I have just heard, however, apparently does not consider it a stroke of good fortune to have got this sort of line on his girl's probable success as a wife. Instead of feeling that fate has been kind enough to give him the chance to avoid almost certain matrimonial discord, he is tearing himself to pieces emotionally because he is unable to decide whether or not to thank Fate and say goodby to the girl.

It seems to make as much sense as though he were about to enjoy a delicious-looking drink and someone suddenly told him it would poison him. Instead of pushing it away, he continues to sit in front of it, wondering if he should not perhaps drink it anyhow just because it looks so pretty.

This young man, who is 22, writes me about a 19-year-old girl whom he expected to marry. About three months ago, he says, the girl—who comes from a family in very comfortable circumstances, while his own is not so well off—suddenly told him she did not intend to have anything more to do with him because she couldn't see any future for him in the business world. He works for his father in a small business.

That ended the romance, and the the two have not been seeing each other since.

And now a queer turn of the wheel of fate has put a new aspect on the situation.

"A month ago, through some miraculous luck," writes the young man, "a very large sum of money was bequeathed to me, enough to give this girl and myself not only money to get married, but for me to go into business on my own. I know I can make her happy on this amount of money.

"My mother tells me not to ask her to come back to me, because she feels that if she did not want me before she is not good enough for me now. My father thinks that the only reason she would again see me is because of the money.

"I miss her very much, but I don't know what to do. I am sure she still cares for me and would be willing to see me again. Should I try to see her again or not? Please help me, as I am frantic with grief."

As must be apparent from what I have already said, I stand with the mother on this proposition. If this young man were to go to the girl and tell her about his bequest, and she were then willing to take up where they left off three months ago, it seems to me it would indicate clearly that her interest in him depended upon his fortunes. Does he want a wife whose love would come in like the tide when he had money in his pockets, and go out when he was low in funds? What kind of life would she lead him if the time should come when he was unable to support her in the "manner to which she would like to be accustomed," as the saying goes?

As I see it, this young man would be extremely foolish to let his emotions sweep him off his feet. I feel sure he will be sorry if he does.

KIDNEYS GETTING YOU UP NIGHTS?

● If you get up nights—have frequent desire to pass your water—but have only scanty passages—yes, and have backache due to excess acidity in the urine, be glad you're reading this:

Three generations ago Dr. Kilmer, a famous doctor, found hundreds of his patients with this trouble. Painstakingly he made a medicine of 16 herbs, roots, vegetables, balsams—Nature's own way to relief. He called it "Swamp-Root" and millions of grateful men and women have taken it—often with amazing results.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Disillusion Always Hard But Better Lose Her Now Than Later

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Disillusion is always hard, of course, but if a man finds out in advance that the girl he hopes to marry is not likely to make him a satisfactory wife, I should think he would thank his lucky stars. It is much easier and less painful to stay out of marriage than to get out of it.

A young man from whom I have just heard, however, apparently does not consider it a stroke of good fortune to have got this sort of line on his girl's probable success as a wife. Instead of feeling that fate has been kind enough to give him the chance to avoid almost certain matrimonial discord, he is tearing himself to pieces emotionally because he is unable to decide whether or not to thank Fate and say goodby to the girl.

It seems to make as much sense as though he were about to enjoy a delicious-looking drink and someone suddenly told him it would poison him. Instead of pushing it away, he continues to sit in front of it, wondering if he should not perhaps drink it anyhow just because it looks so pretty.

This young man, who is 22, writes me about a 19-year-old girl whom he expected to marry. About three months ago, he says, the girl—who comes from a family in very comfortable circumstances, while his own is not so well off—suddenly told him she did not intend to have anything more to do with him because she couldn't see any future for him in the business world. He works for his father in a small business.

That ended the romance, and the the two have not been seeing each other since.

And now a queer turn of the wheel of fate has put a new aspect on the situation.

"A month ago, through some miraculous luck," writes the young man, "a very large sum of money was bequeathed to me, enough to give this girl and myself not only money to get married, but for me to go into business on my own. I know I can make her happy on this amount of money.

"My mother tells me not to ask her to come back to me, because she feels that if she did not want me before she is not good enough for me now. My father thinks that the only reason she would again see me is because of the money.

"I miss her very much, but I don't know what to do. I am sure she still cares for me and would be willing to see me again. Should I try to see her again or not? Please help me, as I am frantic with grief."

As must be apparent from what I have already said, I stand with the mother on this proposition. If this young man were to go to the girl and tell her about his bequest, and she were then willing to take up where they left off three months ago, it seems to me it would indicate clearly that her interest in him depended upon his fortunes. Does he want a wife whose love would come in like the tide when he had money in his pockets, and go out when he was low in funds? What kind of life would she lead him if the time should come when he was unable to support her in the "manner to which she would like to be accustomed," as the saying goes?

As I see it, this young man would be extremely foolish to let his emotions sweep him off his feet. I feel sure he will be sorry if he does.

CAPUDINE

KIDNEYS GETTING YOU UP NIGHTS?

● If you get up nights—have frequent desire to pass your water—but have only scanty passages—yes, and have backache due to excess acidity in the urine, be glad you're reading this:

Three generations ago Dr. Kilmer, a famous doctor, found hundreds of his patients with this trouble. Painstakingly he made a medicine of 16 herbs, roots, vegetables, balsams—Nature's own way to relief. He called it "Swamp-Root" and millions of grateful men and women have taken it—often with amazing results.

For free trial supply, send to Dept. S, Kilmer & Co., Inc., Box 1255, Stamford, Conn. Or—get full-sized bottle of Swamp-Root today at your druggist.

Plumbing lines have been installed and electricians are working on the wiring. The main steam boiler for the central heating plant has been placed although lines have not been laid.

Work on the $90,000 Marine addition to the building will begin when plans arrive from Naval headquarters, he said.

O'Neil Asks Governors To Designate UMT Week

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—National Commander James O'Neil of The American Legion, has addressed a request to the governors of all states to proclaim January 5 to 12, 1948, as Universal Military Training Week. He asked that UM Week be observed as a period when every effort be made to acquaint all citizens with the advantages of Universal Military Training. He pledged full American Legion aid in such observance of UMT Week. The annual conference of governors held recently in Salt Lake City, Utah, unanimously went on record in favor of UMT.

Will Act On Offer

Members of Local 569, Bartenders Union, AFL, will meet tomorrow at 11 a. m. to act on a contract offer made by the Allegany County Retail Liquor Dealers Association, C. E. Stutzman, business agent, said.

The liquor dealers, he said, have offered a $3 weekly wage boost with two weeks vacation after two years and a seniority clause. The union had asked a $5 weekly boost and a 40 instead of the present 48 hour work week. The contract expries tomorrow.

Council Delays Action On Radio

The Mayor and Council are scheduled to discuss further Monday a proposal that an antenna for a new radio station be placed in Luray Street, near the Naval Armory.

After council members visited the site Wednesday, Mayor Thomas S. Post and Police Commissioner William V. Keegan said they were not opposed to the establishment of the new radio station in Cumberland but state use of a section on Luray Street for antenna site would create a "dead end" and might hamper the further development of four lots on adjoining Dewey Terrace.

Work On Naval Armory Nears Halfway Mark

The construction of Cumberland's Naval Reserve Armory on McKaig's Hill is nearing the halfway mark, it was announced yesterday.

A Naval inspector's report indicates 45.9 of the work has been accomplished, including the covering with sheeting of the sides and roof of the three Butler-type huts.

Plumbing lines have been installed and electricians are working on the wiring. The main steam boiler for the central heating plant has been placed although lines have not been laid.

Work on the $90,000 Marine addition to the building will begin when plans arrive from Naval headquarters, he said.

Paul Edward Price, 201 Laing Avenue, forfeited $6.45 for using dealers tags for more than 10 days.

George Melvin Crowe, Route 3, forfeited $6.45 for passing on a curve on Route 40.

O'Neil Asks Governors To Designate UMT Week

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—National Commander James O'Neil of The American Legion, has addressed a request to the governors of all states to proclaim January 5 to 12, 1948, as Universal Military Training Week. He asked that UM Week be observed as a period when every effort be made to acquaint all citizens with the advantages of Universal Military Training. He pledged full American Legion aid in such observance of UMT Week. The annual conference of governors held recently in Salt Lake City, Utah, unanimously went on record in favor of UMT.

Will Act On Offer

Members of Local 569, Bartenders Union, AFL, will meet tomorrow at 11 a. m. to act on a contract offer made by the Allegany County Retail Liquor Dealers Association, C. E. Stutzman, business agent, said.

The liquor dealers, he said, have offered a $3 weekly wage boost with two weeks vacation after two years and a seniority clause. The union had asked a $5 weekly boost and a 40 instead of the present 48 hour work week. The contract expries tomorrow.

Council Delays Action On Radio

The Mayor and Council are scheduled to discuss further Monday a proposal that an antenna for a new radio station be placed in Luray Street, near the Naval Armory.

After council members visited the site Wednesday, Mayor Thomas S. Post and Police Commissioner William V. Keegan said they were not opposed to the establishment of the new radio station in Cumberland but state use of a section on Luray Street for antenna site would create a "dead end" and might hamper the further development of four lots on adjoining Dewey Terrace.

Go to Church this Sunday, your Church, any Church, but go!

You'd be a stronger man, a stronger woman . . . if you could read her mind!

Those worries and fears that walk forever with us . . . they would fall behind. The sorrows that seem an inescapable part of life . . . they would suddenly be far away. And all of the boredom and drabness of life that make each day too much like the others . . . they, too, would disappear. Today would seem a privilege . . . tomorrow, a promise.

If you could read her mind you'd be a child again! And as a child you'd kneel and really pray. You'd know it makes a difference when we believe in God. You'd know there is a Way through all the clouds of life. And though you might not know the meaning of the word—you'd have a faith that gives each prayer an Answer.

We cannot, nor should we want to be children again. But that faith, so real in childhood, can be found again in later life. And whenever we find it . . . we're stronger men and women!

The Church can help you re-establish that faith.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday and read your Bible daily

Go to Church this Sunday, your Church, any Church, but go!

You'd be a stronger man, a stronger woman . . . if you could read her mind!

Those worries and fears that walk forever with us . . . they would fall behind. The sorrows that seem an inescapable part of life . . . they would suddenly be far away. And all of the boredom and drabness of life that make each day too much like the others . . . they, too, would disappear. Today would seem a privilege . . . tomorrow, a promise.

If you could read her mind you'd be a child again! And as a child you'd kneel and really pray. You'd know it makes a difference when we believe in God. You'd know there is a Way through all the clouds of life. And though you might not know the meaning of the word—you'd have a faith that gives each prayer an Answer.

We cannot, nor should we want to be children again. But that faith, so real in childhood, can be found again in later life. And whenever we find it . . . we're stronger men and women!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday and read your Bible daily

Ramblin' Wreck Of Georgia Tech To Play Kansas

Teams Are Selected For Orange Bowl Tilt

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 28—(AP)—Georgia Tech has been selected to oppose the University of Kansas in the Bowl here New Years Day.

Announcement that Tech—beaten only once in nine games—came only a few hours after the Orange Bowl committee announced that the Kansas Jayhawkers would appear in the 14th annual New Years Day classic.

Tech's only loss was a 14 to 7 beating by powerful Alabama.

It will mark the Ramblin' Wreck's third appearance in the Orange Bowl.

Dodd Accepts Bid

Bowl President John G. Thompson said the bid was accepted by Tech head coach Bobby Dodd by telephone.

Thompson said the bid was made this afternoon, Dodd called his players together and a vote was taken. The vote was unanimous to accept, Thompson said.

Georgia Tech has piled up 213 points against 35 for nine opponents. They started the season by drubbing Tennessee 27-0; Tulane, 20-0; VMI, 20-0; Auburn, 27-7; Citadel, 38-0; Navy, 16-14; and then lost to Alabama, 14-7; and last week swamped Furman, 51-0.

They have the traditional Georgia game to play tomorrow in the regular season.

Tech has been a bowl team contender for the past two decades. In 1929 when they beat California 8-7 in the Rose Bowl, in 1940 they beat Missouri here in the Orange Bowl, in 1943 Texas beat them in the Cotton Bowl 14-7; next year in the Sugar Bowl they deadlocked with Tulsa (Okla.) 20-20, the next year Tulsa beat them 26-12 in the Orange Bowl and last year swamped St. Mary's 41-19 in the Oil Bowl.

Kansas will be making its first bowl appearance and will receive in the neighborhood of $50,000, President Jack Thompson of the Orange Bowl committee said.

Of the three teams under consideration, Georgia Tech appears to be the number one contender, but Mississippi with its colorful passing combination of Chuck Conerly and Barney Poole rates about on even par, with the Tarheels bringing up the rear.

Kansas Tied Twice

The Jayhawkers were chosen, Thompson said, after receiving numerous favorable reports. "The team was described to me as a great, aggressive club, one bound to give a good show," he added.

The Jayhawkers have piled up 236 points to their opponents' 54. They battled to a 0-0 tie with Texas Christian in their season's opener, and halved at 13-13 contest with Oklahoma. They defeated Denver, 9-0; Iowa State, 27-7; South Dakota State, 86-6; Kansas State, 55-0; Nebraska 13-7; Okalhoma A&M, 13-7, and Missouri, 20-14.

Armed Is Voted Horse Of Year

Citation Is Named Best Two-Year-Old

By BOB GRUBB

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—Despite the fact that he was dethroned by Stymie as the world's leading money-winning thoroughbred, Calumet Farm's golden gelding Armed has been voted "horse of the year" in the first of two major polls among turf experts.

Of a total of 28 ballots cast by staff members of the Triangle Racing Publications, 25 went to the Calumet champion. Two voted for Assault, last season's choice, while Stymie was named on only one ballot.

Last year's poll crowned Armed chief of the handicap division, and he again leads in that category this time.

Another star of the Warren Wright stable, the brilliant colt Citation, took the divisional title of best two-year-old of either sex. The only dissenting vote went to still another Calumet candidate, Bewitch, which was an easy winner of the best two-year-old filly award.

King Ranch's But Why Not was easily the choice among the three-year-old fillies. C. V. Whitney's Phalanx was narrowly nominated over Pervent as the best three-year-old and as the best colt in his age division. But Why Not again emerged on top in the handicap division for fillies and mares, shading Gallorette by one vote.

Among the sprinters, Polynesian was an almost universal choice, Mrs. A. B. Widener's speedy stallion garnering all the votes except two for With Pleasure and two for Spy Song in this division.

War Battle was adjudged the best steeplechaser over Adaptable, winner of the Belmont Grand Nationau which Kent Miller's horse lost by a head. War Battle was carrving 163 pounds to Adaptable's 147 in that race.

Turn Down Bid

NICEVILLE, Fla., Nov. 28—(AP)—Niceville High School's football team, without a home gridiron or even a practice field with goal posts, received a bid for a post-season game but turned it down.

Principal J. H. Burner said in turning down the bid to play against Century, Fla., High, "Our boys have played enough considering the size of our squad and basketball starts soon."

POTOMAC STATE'S DEFENSIVE RECORD TOPS CONFERENCE

BECKLEY, W. Va., Nov. 28 (AP)—West Liberty State College and one of its star backs, Bill Young, led the West Virginia inter-collegiate conference in team and individual offensive performances during the football season ended last week conference statistician George Springer reported.

Springer said West Liberty rolled up an average per game of 253.1 yards rushing and 333.4 yards rushing and passing combined during the season, bowing to Davis and Elkins only in the yards-gained-passing department. The Senators were the leading passers, gaining 98.7 yards by that method.

On the defense, Potomac State held the lead in all departments, and 92.6 yards rushing and passing.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 28 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers will take the field for a pivotal National Football League game with the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday minus the service of four regular players.

The Eagles-Steeler clash at Philadelphia will decide leadership of the league's eastern division.

OX QUITS—John (Ox) DaGrosa, head football coach at Holy Cross College since 1945, has resigned as coach of the Crusaders, effective with the last game of the season today when the Crusaders meet Boston College. DaGrosa, seeking a long-term agreement, declined to accept a one-year contract.

Army, Navy Game At Philadelphia To Draw 102,000

Three Big Contests Scheduled In South

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—A team that has lost two and tied two of the eight games it has played—Army—and a team that has lost six and salvaged one tie out of eight starts—Navy—will get together tomorrow to prove that championships and bowls aren't the biggest thing in collegiate football.

The 48th Army-Navy game will, as usual, be about the biggest game of the college season in the eyes of the public. And it will, also as usual, draw a sellout crowd of 102,000 at Philadelphia's vast Municipal Stadium.

Elsewhere, the biggest games on the schedule probably are Georgia vs. Georgia Tech, Mississippi vs. Mississippi State, Texas Christian vs. Southern Methodist and Holy Cross vs. Boston College.

The Southeastern Conference championship and probably a bid to one of the major bowls is involved in the first two contests. Mississippi, the leader, has to win to take the title, but should Charley Conerly and his teammates falter, Georgia Tech could go to the top by beating Georgia or Mississippi State could make it by hopping over both the leaders. Each team has lost only once in conference play this season.

Southern Methodist, already elected to play Penn State in the Cotton Bowl, is aiming at a perfect season and an undisputed claim to the Southwest Conference championship. Boston College, frequently mentioned in speculation about Bowl teams, has to conquer its old and usually strong rival, Holy Cross, to remain in the running.

In the Border Conference Hardin-Simmons and Texas Tech, both unbeaten in league play, will have it out for the title while third-place West Texas State meets New Mexico.

Other traditional season-end pairings include Fordham vs. New York University, Maryland vs. North Carolina State, Oklahoma vs. Oklahoma A. and A., Rice vs. Baylor, Vanderbilt vs. Tennessee, Virginia vs. North Carolina and West Virginia vs. Pittsburgh.

Kansas State will meet Florida, Kansas will play Arizona, Oregon State will face Nebraska and Michigan State, traveling all the way to Honolulu, will play Hawaii.

ST. PATRICK'S WINS CYO LEAGUE TITLE

St. Patrick's won the football championship of the Catholic Youth Organization League, sponsored by the Cumberland K. of C., by defeating St. Mary's by the score of 27 to 7 in the preliminary to the LaSalle-Beall game in Frostburg on Thanksgiving Day.

Arnone scored two of St. Patrick's touchdowns while Long and O'Rourke registered one each. Sheffler made the three extra points. McKenzie scored St. Mary's touchdown and the extra point was chalked up by Brown. Lineups:

TERPS SEEK VICTORY TO GET BOWL INVITE

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 28 (AP)—The University of Maryland and North Carolina State, both fresh from upsets, meet here tomorrow in their final football game of the season before an anticipated capacity crowd of 16,000.

The Terrapins likewise are "up" after trouncing Vanderbilt to which they were figured to lose by two touchdowns.

By coincidence, a victory over the Wolfpack will give Maryland a chance for an invite to the 'Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla. That's the same bowl which Coach Jim Tatum took his Oklahoma team to last January 1 and beat North Carolina State.

Whether Maryland would accept a bowl bid is something not yet known. But with a victory tomorrow to make a record of eight wins and two losses in Tatum's first year here, the Terrapins definitely would be in line for a post-season invitation.

Freddie Mills Scores Over French Heavy

At 176 pounds, Mills was outweighed by 20 pounds but he attacked savagely in the first round, dropped Olek for a count of two and kept the Frenchman retreating until the third.

The middle rounds were more even but Mills stormed back to clinch the tenth with jarring left leads and crossing rights that had Olek wobbly.

Mills' handlers said he was out to justify his claims for return bouts with Gus Lesnevich, world light heavyweight champion, and Bruce Woodcock, European heavyweight titleholder.

WRITERS' CHOICE—His arm encased in a cast after a recent operation, Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees, turns southpaw to take a turn at the plate for his Thanksgiving dinner. The Baseball Writers' Association of America voted Joe the Most Valuable Player in the American League this year for the third time, the honor having been conferred on him previously in 1939 and 1941. DiMaggio received 202 points to Ted Williams' 201.

Half-Million Dollar Show

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 28—In a short while, over 100,000 spectators will be moving in the general direction of the Army-Navy football game at the Sesquicentennial Stadium.

Army hasn't won a big game this fall, with a record of two ties and two defeats against her toughest opponents. Navy has beaten Cornell, tied Duke and lost every other game. Yet this vast parade is paying over $500,000 to see two traditional rivals meet, regardless of past scores. This is the way football should be. College tradition means a great deal in football.

The Sesquicentennial Stadium is about as easy to reach as either the North or South Poles. There isn't a penguin in sight. The penguins can't take it. It is even tougher on the getaway after the game, where a year ago, after a three-mile walk carrying a typewriter, we finally reached the famous City of Brotherly Love, and were surrounded by a milling mob of some 50,000 spectators in the same fix—minus private cars, taxis or busses, with every subway station clogged. Napoleon, leaving Moscow, had a kick-in.

In the entrance and exit connected with an Army-Navy game, the spectator takes at least double the beating suffered by both teams on the field. When 104,000 spectators can pay out over $500,000 to hurdle these handicaps, an Army-Navy football game must have an appeal beyond all human logic. They must like the spirit and the all-out, hammer-and-tongs battle they are certain to see.

This game is part of a triple mop-up that no pro team could ever meet—102,500 for Southern California-U.C.L.A.,—105,000 for Notre Dame-Southern California—104,000 for Army and Navy—a total of more than 300,000 spectators for three games at $4 and $5 a crack—close to $1,500,000 for only three games.

As usual, the City of Brotherly Turmoil was another madhouse last night and today. Minus any reservation, you had to come disguised as a cue ball and sleep on a billiard table. Coaches from all over the map are here—Bernie Bierman, Lonnie Stagg, Lou Little, Dick Harlow, Howie Odell—on and on. Far too many to mention.

Stars long forgotten—and stars of today. Stars that take you back to the big days of Big Bill Hollenbach of Pennsylvania, who has shed 40 years and still might go for a period—Babe Brown of Navy, Red Reeder of Army, both of whom could wear more war decorations than Bronko Nagurski could carry.

Impending Navy Change

There is better than an even chance that Navy will finally give up its itinerant coaching policy, and name Tom Hamilton head coach indefinitely. This would be the smartest move Navy could make. Hamilton is already a high-class coach and, with a year or so more in the way of experience, would be even better. The Captain also has the mental attitude a team needs.

Army made its change several years ago, when Red Blaik was brought in from Dartmouth, and the difference has been entirely on the right side. Navy has a great chance to regain its old place in football in naming Hamilton indefinitely just as Army has done under Red Blaik.

Navy never had a luckier break in having a coach like Captain Tom Hamilton ready to take over a steady job—the same type of job that Lou Little, Fritz Crisler, Frank Leahy, Bernie Bierman and so many others have had through the years. If there is another war—there won't be anything left but war—the battle for existence, the fate of a panel. There certainly won't be any football.

Taking no credit away from Navy's brilliant rally last fall, the opening play injury that wrecked Arnold Tucker made a big difference. Tucker was just about as valuable as Glenn Davis was, even more valuable than Doc Blanchard was in that game. Tucker was a fine offensive leader and Army's best defense back.

He was practically out after the first play. So Navy came with a final rush and almost won. But on the side, this gave Navy a lift for 1947 that was all out of order. Navy was promptly picked as one of the strong teams of the East. But Navy had no material left to merit that rating—especially in her backfield with Bartos graduating and Pete Williams' early-season injury. Also with her killing schedule, far tougher than Notre Dame, Michigan or Penn State had to face.

Army was bitterly disappointed in losing the Rose Bowl bid a year ago. There is no such disappointment this year. So Army can concentrate entirely on Navy. Army's mental viewpoint will be far keener than it was a year ago. And this is a good Army team, with a fine line and more than one or two good, if not great, backs.

If Navy can beat Army in the closing show in Philadelphia, Navy will be beating one of the strong teams of the country. Navy, unlucky most of the fall, will need a few breaks to turn this trick.

Three Streams Stocked; Season To Open Feb. 15

Twelve thousand bluegill or sunfish fingerlings were distributed in three Allegany county streams on Thanksgiving Day and may be taken along with catfish, carp, eels and suckers, commencing February 15, it was announced yesterday by Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

Cameron is undefeated in 10 games, has scored 341 points to the opposition's 74 while winning the Oklahoma Junior College Conference. Since joining the conference 16 years ago, the school has won 11 championships, finishing second the other seven years.

Unsuccesful candidates for the eastern bid included Duluth, Minn., Burlington, Ia., and McCook, Neb.

Potomac State of Keyser, W. Va., was mentioned among the candidates for the Little Rose Bowl several weeks ago.

TO PLAY HERE—Ernest Fortney, one-time Duquesne University star, will be seen in action when the Akron (Ohio) Collegians come here tomorrow to battle the Cumberland Dukes at 3:30 p. m. at the State Armory. Fortney played here last year with the Akron Goodyear Aircraft quint against the Amvets. He was All-Eastern center at Duquesne, played two years with the Pittsburgh Pirates and five years with the Akron teams. Ernie is 6 feet 4 inches tall.

Sentinels Retain City Title, 25-0; LaSalle Is Victor

6,000 See Fort Hill Win Over Allegany Gridders

Fort Hill High School retained the city football championship by defeating Allegany High School, 25 to 0, before 6,000 persons in the local stadium, and LaSalle High School won its second annual game from Beall High School by the score of 20 to 0, before 4,000 spectators, at Frostburg State Teachers' Field, on Thanksgiving Day.

The Turkey Day games lowered the curtain on the 1947 football season in the tri-state district. Fort Hill won nine games and lost one, Allegany won two, lost six and tied two, LaSalle won three, lost six and tied one while Beall bagged three victories and suffered five setbacks.

Fort Hill's 25-point victory margin was the biggest enjoyed by either school in 20 meetings since 1932. AHS won in 1932 by the score of 21-0 and Fort Hill copped the 1946 game by the same score.

In closing out its successful season with a string of nine straight triumphs, the Fort Hill team scored twice in both the first and third periods.

Manges Scores Twice

Jimmie Manges marked up 13 points in two touchdowns and an extra point while the other touchdowns were credited to Milford Dean and Edgar Tucker. The longest run of the game was credited to Earl "Lefty" Bruce, AHS sprint star, who galloped 41 yards to within four yards of the goal line in the second period. McKenzie of Fort Hill recovered Cecil's fumble on the next play.

Fort Hill collected 15 first downs to Allegany's 11 and piled up 296 yards rushing to the Campers' 123. The winners failed to complete two passes tried while AHS completed one out of seven for 10 yards and had one intercepted. Fort Hill was set back 50 yards on penalties and Allegany 33.

Jimmie Collins Stars

The Explorers' halfback registered six-pointers in the first half on 31 and 51 yard gallops and climaxed his brilliant performance with a touchdown smash from the two-inch line to climax a 51-yard drive.

Louis Arnone plunged both extra points.

It was the second shutout triumph scored by LaSalle over Beall on Turkey Day. In 1946 Coach Johnny Long's eleven marked up a 26-0 victory.

LaSalle reeled off 10 first downs to Beall's 8 and racked up 235 net yards rushing to 80 for Frostburg. The Explorers completed 2 of 12 passes for 37 yards and three aerials were intercepted. The Mounties tried 13 passes, completed 5 for 39 yards and had one intercepted. The winners were penalized 55 yards and the losers set back 30 yards.

TCU And Mississippi Are Delta Bowl Foes

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 28 (AP)—Texas Christian University will meet the University of Mississippi in the new Delta Bowl at Memphis, Tenn., on Jan. 1 if permission is secured from the Southwest Conference.

Frog officials refused any definite statement on the invitation but it was learned the players voted to accept the bid Thursday.

It was further learned the school officials would accept if conference permission is obtained.

Buehler, Peters Banned In Laurel Rock Salt Case

Horse Was Destroyed After Striking Rail

BALTIMORE, Nov. 28 (AP) — Two horsemen today were ruled off Maryland tracks for life for cruelty to the race horse Saguaro.

The Maryland Racing Commission revoked the owner's license of Frank Buehler, St. Leonard, Md., and the trainer and owner licenses of Maurice Peters, Marlboro, Md. Commissioner H. Courtenay Jenifer said both will be banned at all Maryland tracks.

Horse Suffers Broken Leg

Hit in the rump, the six-year-old gelding bolted from the starting gate, crashed into the outside guard rail and broke his right foreleg. He was then destroyed by Laurel guards.

Buehler said he was helping Peters school the horse, "a bad actor," to make a fast break.

He intended to frighten the riderless forse by firing in the air, but "the gun went off" when Saguaro "backlashed in the starting gate," Buehler said.

Jockey Don Fay testified he was shot in the leg with a charge of rock salt when he rode Saguaro out of the starting gate the previous day. Fay did not say who fired the shot.

Pending Is Fined $50

The commission also fined Richard Pending $50 for failure to register Saguaro as having been "nerved." This operation involves destroying sensitive leg nerves and weakens the horse.

Buehler owns one horse, Major Stone, which broke its leg at Pimlico early this month.

Jenifer said cases against four other horsemen questioned on charges of mistreating Saguaro had been dismissed for lack of evidence.

He said cruelty to animals is a misdemeanor in Maryland and that it would be up to the state's attorney for Anne Arundel County to decide whether to bring civil charges in the case.

Cloud Is Captain Of All-Southern

Gambino, Maryland's Halfback, Is Chosen

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 28 (AP) — Line-plunging Jack (Flying) Cloud added another honor to his lengthy list of collegiate gridiron achievements today when the sophomore fullback of William and Mary's Dixie Bowl-bound powerhouse was named captain of the mythical All-Southern Conference football team of the Associated Press for 1947.

Cloud, of Norfolk, Va., gained the captaincy when he polled more votes than any other league player in the balloting by loop coaches and sports writers.

The husky Indian bruiser, who stands two inches short of the six-foot mark and weighs 200 pounds, edged the University of North Carolina's Charlie (Choo-Choo) Justice, the Tar Heels' great tailback by the narrow margin of a single vote in the scramble for captaincy honors.

Cloud was one of four William and Mary players selected to the All-Southern team. The other three were end Robert Steckroth, Hazleton, Pa., senior; guard Knox Ramsey, of Maryville, Tenn., and center Tommy Thompson, of Woodbridge, N. J.

Justice, who has been named the conference's most valuable player, and two of his teammates—tackle Len Szafaryn of Ambridge, Pa., and end Art Weiner, of Newark, N. J.—were North Carolina's aces who made the all-star cast.

With Cloud and Justice in the All-Southern backfield were Fred Folger, Jr., Duke's triple-threat star from Mt. Airy, N. C., and Lucien Gambino, Maryland's high-scoring halfback from Baltimore, Md.

The tackle berth opposite Szafaryn, who had to hustle to nose out Duke's Al Derogatis in the voting, went to Malachi Mills, Virginia Military Institute's 206-pound captain from New Orleans, La. Edward Royston, Wake Forest senior from Baltimore, Md., was the other guard.

There was no unanimous selection, Cloud coming the closest. Ramsey was named for the third straight year, the last two as a guard and in 1945 as a tackle. Justice and Cloud also were holdovers from 1946, and this was the second appearance for Mills, who made the grade in 1945 and last season dropped to the third team.

Not a single freshman was selected, but there were four sophomores —Weiner and a trio of backs, Justice, Gambino and Cloud. Folger, the fourth backfield ace, is a junior.

Game Is Postponed

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 28 (AP)—The scheduled Alabama-University of Miami football game in the Orange Bowl tonight has been postponed until tomorrow night because of stormy weather.

Bowl officials said that puddles of water stood two and three inches deep over most of the field from rains which have persisted throughout the day.

Ramblin' Wreck Of Georgia Tech To Play Kansas

Teams Are Selected For Orange Bowl Tilt

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 28—(AP)—Georgia Tech has been selected to oppose the University of Kansas in the Bowl here New Years Day.

Announcement that Tech—beaten only once in nine games—came only a few hours after the Orange Bowl committee announced that the Kansas Jayhawkers would appear in the 14th annual New Years Day classic.

Tech's only loss was a 14 to 7 beating by powerful Alabama.

Dodd Accepts Bid

Bowl President John G. Thompson said the bid was accepted by Tech head coach Bobby Dodd by telephone.

Thompson said the bid was made this afternoon, Dodd called his players together and a vote was taken. The vote was unanimous to accept, Thompson said.

Georgia Tech has piled up 213 points against 35 for nine opponents. They started the season by drubbing Tennessee 27-0; Tulane, 20-0; VMI, 20-0; Auburn, 27-7; Citadel, 38-0; Navy, 16-14; and then lost to Alabama, 14-7; and last week swamped Furman, 51-0.

They have the traditional Georgia game to play tomorrow in the regular season.

Tech has been a bowl team contender for the past two decades. In 1929 when they beat California 8-7 in the Rose Bowl, in 1940 they beat Missouri here in the Orange Bowl, in 1943 Texas beat them in the Cotton Bowl 14-7; next year in the Sugar Bowl they deadlocked with Tulsa (Okla.) 20-20, the next year Tulsa beat them 26-12 in the Orange Bowl and last year swamped St. Mary's 41-19 in the Oil Bowl.

Kansas will be making its first bowl appearance and will receive in the neighborhood of $50,000, President Jack Thompson of the Orange Bowl committee said.

Of the three teams under consideration, Georgia Tech appears to be the number one contender, but Mississippi with its colorful passing combination of Chuck Conerly and Barney Poole rates about on even par, with the Tarheels bringing up the rear.

Kansas Tied Twice

The Jayhawkers were chosen, Thompson said, after receiving numerous favorable reports. "The team was described to me as a great, aggressive club, one bound to give a good show," he added.

The Jayhawkers have piled up 236 points to their opponents' 54. They battled to a 0-0 tie with Texas Christian in their season's opener, and halved at 13-13 contest with Oklahoma. They defeated Denver, 9-0; Iowa State, 27-7; South Dakota State, 86-6; Kansas State, 55-0; Nebraska 13-7; Okalhoma A&M, 13-7, and Missouri, 20-14.

Armed Is Voted Horse Of Year

By BOB GRUBB

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—Despite the fact that he was dethroned by Stymie as the world's leading money-winning thoroughbred, Calumet Farm's golden gelding Armed has been voted "horse of the year" in the first of two major polls among turf experts.

Of a total of 28 ballots cast by staff members of the Triangle Racing Publications, 25 went to the Calumet champion. Two voted for Assault, last season's choice, while Stymie was named on only one ballot.

Last year's poll crowned Armed chief of the handicap division, and he again leads in that category this time.

Another star of the Warren Wright stable, the brilliant colt Citation, took the divisional title of best two-year-old of either sex. The only dissenting vote went to still another Calumet candidate, Bewitch, which was an easy winner of the best two-year-old filly award.

King Ranch's But Why Not was easily the choice among the three-year-old fillies. C. V. Whitney's Phalanx was narrowly nominated over Pervent as the best three-year-old and as the best colt in his age division. But Why Not again emerged on top in the handicap division for fillies and mares, shading Gallorette by one vote.

Among the sprinters, Polynesian was an almost universal choice, Mrs. A. B. Widener's speedy stallion garnering all the votes except two for With Pleasure and two for Spy Song in this division.

War Battle was adjudged the best steeplechaser over Adaptable, winner of the Belmont Grand Nationau which Kent Miller's horse lost by a head. War Battle was carrving 163 pounds to Adaptable's 147 in that race.

Turn Down Bid

NICEVILLE, Fla., Nov. 28—(AP)—Niceville High School's football team, without a home gridiron or even a practice field with goal posts, received a bid for a post-season game but turned it down.

Principal J. H. Burner said in turning down the bid to play against Century, Fla., High, "Our boys have played enough considering the size of our squad and basketball starts soon."

POTOMAC STATE'S DEFENSIVE RECORD TOPS CONFERENCE

BECKLEY, W. Va., Nov. 28 (AP)—West Liberty State College and one of its star backs, Bill Young, led the West Virginia inter-collegiate conference in team and individual offensive performances during the football season ended last week conference statistician George Springer reported.

Springer said West Liberty rolled up an average per game of 253.1 yards rushing and 333.4 yards rushing and passing combined during the season, bowing to Davis and Elkins only in the yards-gained-passing department. The Senators were the leading passers, gaining 98.7 yards by that method.

On the defense, Potomac State held the lead in all departments, and 92.6 yards rushing and passing.

Steelers Are Crippled For Crucial Game

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 28 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers will take the field for a pivotal National Football League game with the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday minus the service of four regular players.

The Eagles-Steeler clash at Philadelphia will decide leadership of the league's eastern division.

OX QUITS—John (Ox) DaGrosa, head football coach at Holy Cross College since 1945, has resigned as coach of the Crusaders, effective with the last game of the season today when the Crusaders meet Boston College. DaGrosa, seeking a long-term agreement, declined to accept a one-year contract.

Three Big Contests Scheduled In South

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—A team that has lost two and tied two of the eight games it has played—Army—and a team that has lost six and salvaged one tie out of eight starts—Navy—will get together tomorrow to prove that championships and bowls aren't the biggest thing in collegiate football.

The 48th Army-Navy game will, as usual, be about the biggest game of the college season in the eyes of the public. And it will, also as usual, draw a sellout crowd of 102,000 at Philadelphia's vast Municipal Stadium.

Elsewhere, the biggest games on the schedule probably are Georgia vs. Georgia Tech, Mississippi vs. Mississippi State, Texas Christian vs. Southern Methodist and, Holy Cross vs. Boston College.

The Southeastern Conference championship and probably a bid to one of the major bowls is involved in the first two contests. Mississippi, the leader, has to win to take the title, but should Charley Conerly and his teammates falter, Georgia Tech could go to the top by beating Georgia or Mississippi State could make it by hopping over both the leaders. Each team has lost only once in conference play this season.

Southern Methodist, already elected to play Penn State in the Cotton Bowl, is aiming at a perfect season and an undisputed claim to the Southwest Conference championship. Boston College, frequently mentioned in speculation about Bowl teams, has to conquer its old and usually strong rival, Holy Cross, to remain in the running.

In the Border Conference Hardin-Simmons and Texas Tech, both unbeaten in league play, will have it out for the title while third-place West Texas State meets New Mexico.

Other traditional season-end pairings include Fordham vs. New York University, Maryland vs. North Carolina State, Oklahoma vs. Oklahoma A. and A., Rice vs. Baylor, Vanderbilt vs. Tennessee, Virginia vs. North Carolina and West Virginia vs. Pittsburgh.

Kansas State will meet Florida, Kansas will play Arizona, Oregon State will face Nebraska and Michigan State, traveling all the way to Honolulu, will play Hawaii.

ST. PATRICK'S WINS CYO LEAGUE TITLE

St. Patrick's won the football championship of the Catholic Youth Organization League, sponsored by the Cumberland K. of C., by defeating St. Mary's by the score of 27 to 7 in the preliminary to the LaSalle-Beall game in Frostburg on Thanksgiving Day.

Arnone scored two of St. Patrick's touchdowns while Long and O'Rourke registered one each. Sheffler made the three extra points. McKenzie scored St. Mary's touchdown and the extra point was chalked up by Brown. Lineups:

TERPS SEEK VICTORY TO GET BOWL INVITE

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 28 (AP)—The University of Maryland and North Carolina State, both fresh from upsets, meet here tomorrow in their final football game of the season before an anticipated capacity crowd of 16,000.

The Terrapins likewise are "up" after trouncing Vanderbilt to which they were figured to lose by two touchdowns.

By coincidence, a victory over the Wolfpack will give Maryland a chance for an invite to the 'Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla. That's the same bowl which Coach Jim Tatum took his Oklahoma team to last January 1 and beat North Carolina State.

Whether Maryland would accept a bowl bid is something not yet known. But with a victory tomorrow to make a record of eight wins and two losses in Tatum's first year here, the Terrapins definitely would be in line for a post-season invitation.

Freddie Mills Scores Over French Heavy

At 176 pounds, Mills was outweighed by 20 pounds but he attacked savagely in the first round, dropped Olek for a count of two and kept the Frenchman retreating until the third.

The middle rounds were more even but Mills stormed back to clinch the tenth with jarring left leads and crossing rights that had Olek wobbly.

Mills' handlers said he was out to justify his claims for return bouts with Gus Lesnevich, world light heavyweight champion, and Bruce Woodcock, European heavyweight titleholder.

WRITERS' CHOICE—His arm encased in a cast after a recent operation, Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees, turns southpaw to take a turn at the plate for his Thanksgiving dinner. The Baseball Writers' Association of America voted Joe the Most Valuable Player in the American League this year for the third time, the honor having been conferred on him previously in 1939 and 1941. DiMaggio received 202 points to Ted Williams' 201.

The Sportlight by GRANTLAND RICE

Half-Million Dollar Show

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 28—In a short while, over 100,000 spectators will be moving in the general direction of the Army-Navy football game at the Sesquicentennial Stadium.

Army hasn't won a big game this fall, with a record of two ties and two defeats against her toughest opponents. Navy has beaten Cornell, tied Duke and lost every other game. Yet this vast parade is paying over $500,000 to see two traditional rivals meet, regardless of past scores. This is the way football should be. College tradition means a great deal in football.

The Sesquicentennial Stadium is about as easy to reach as either the North or South Poles. There isn't a penguin in sight. The penguins can't take it. It is even tougher on the getaway after the game, where a year ago, after a three-mile walk carrying a typewriter, we finally reached the famous City of Brotherly Love, and were surrounded by a milling mob of some 50,000 spectators in the same fix—minus private cars, taxis or busses, with every subway station clogged. Napoleon, leaving Moscow, had a kick-in.

In the entrance and exit connected with an Army-Navy game, the spectator takes at least double the beating suffered by both teams on the field. When 104,000 spectators can pay out over $500,000 to hurdle these handicaps, an Army-Navy football game must have an appeal beyond all human logic. They must like the spirit and the all-out, hammer-and-tongs battle they are certain to see.

This game is part of a triple mop-up that no pro team could ever meet—102,500 for Southern California-U.C.L.A.,—105,000 for Notre Dame-Southern California—104,000 for Army and Navy—a total of more than 300,000 spectators for three games at $4 and $5 a crack—close to $1,500,000 for only three games.

As usual, the City of Brotherly Turmoil was another madhouse last night and today. Minus any reservation, you had to come disguised as a cue ball and sleep on a billiard table. Coaches from all over the map are here—Bernie Bierman, Lonnie Stagg, Lou Little, Dick Harlow, Howie Odell—on and on. Far too many to mention.

Stars long forgotten—and stars of today. Stars that take you back to the big days of Big Bill Hollenbach of Pennsylvania, who has shed 40 years and still might go for a period—Babe Brown of Navy, Red Reeder of Army, both of whom could wear more war decorations than Bronko Nagurski could carry.

Impending Navy Change

There is better than an even chance that Navy will finally give up its itinerant coaching policy, and name Tom Hamilton head coach indefinitely. This would be the smartest move Navy could make. Hamilton is already a high-class coach and, with a year or so more in the way of experience, would be even better. The Captain also has the mental attitude a team needs.

Army made its change several years ago, when Red Blaik was brought in from Dartmouth, and the difference has been entirely on the right side. Navy has a great chance to regain its old place in football in naming Hamilton indefinitely just as Army has done under Red Blaik.

Navy never had a luckier break in having a coach like Captain Tom Hamilton ready to take over a steady job—the same type of job that Lou Little, Fritz Crisler, Frank Leahy, Bernie Bierman and so many others have had through the years. If there is another war—there won't be anything left but war—the battle for existence, the fate of a panel. There certainly won't be any football.

Taking no credit away from Navy's brilliant rally last fall, the opening play injury that wrecked Arnold Tucker made a big difference. Tucker was just about as valuable as Glenn Davis was, even more valuable than Doc Blanchard was in that game. Tucker was a fine offensive leader and Army's best defense back.

He was practically out after the first play. So Navy came with a final rush and almost won. But on the side, this gave Navy a lift for 1947 that was all out of order. Navy was promptly picked as one of the strong teams of the East. But Navy had no material left to merit that rating—especially in her backfield with Bartos graduating and Pete Williams' early-season injury. Also with her killing schedule, far tougher than Notre Dame, Michigan or Penn State had to face.

Army was bitterly disappointed in losing the Rose Bowl bid a year ago. There is no such disappointment this year. So Army can concentrate entirely on Navy. Army's mental viewpoint will be far keener than it was a year ago. And this is a good Army team, with a fine line and more than one or two good, if not great, backs.

If Navy can beat Army in the closing show in Philadelphia, Navy will be beating one of the strong teams of the country. Navy, unlucky most of the fall, will need a few breaks to turn this trick.

Akron Collegians And Dukes Clash Here On Sunday

Locals To Play Four Games In Nine Days

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Cumberland Dukes will play four games in nine days, commencing with the Akron (Ohio) Collegians, who will be met tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 p. m., at the state armory, Robert Whip, business manager, announced last night.

On Wednesday, December 3, the Dukes will play Coach Freddie Crum's East Pittsburgh Pirates in an exhibition game at Wilmerding (Pa.) high school gymnasium at 8 p. m., while on Sunday, December 7, the locals will play their first All-American League home game with Zanesville, Ohio. The Akron team scheduled to play here tomorrow is coached and managed by "Lefty" Byers, who has been associated with outstanding independent teams since the 1920's. He started out with Olsen's Swedes and later played with the Flint Buicks, Hillyards, Firestones, All-Americans, Goodyear Aircraft and Akron Collegians. Last season he headed the Goodyear Aircraft quint of Akron, which split even with the local Amvets in two hard-fought games.

Other members of the Akron Collegians include "Chuck" Bloedorn, who played here last season with Akron; Howard Vocke and Bill Lloyd, formerly of St. John's College, Brooklyn, N. Y. Joe Kelly and Steve Sitko, ex-Notre Dame players; Bud Clark from Akron University; Bob Berger, of the University of Pittsburgh, and Ernie Fortney, who was All-Eastern center while playing for Duquesne seven years ago.

Tomorrow's game will be the third of the season for the Dukes, who have dropped their first two starts to Duquesne University and the Renaissance Big Five.

At 2 p. m., the Cumberland Amvets will play the Westernport American Legion quint.

Bill Hahn and Van Roby will officiate in the main contest.

Three Streams Stocked; Season To Open Feb. 15

Twelve thousand bluegill or sunfish fingerlings were distributed in three Allegany county streams on Thanksgiving Day and may be taken along with catfish, carp, eels and suckers, commencing February 15, it was announced yesterday by Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

The streams stocked with the sunfish were 2,000 in Fifteen Mile Creek, 2,000 in Town Creek and 8,000 in Evitt's Creek from Williams Road to Christie Road.

Stocking was done by Paul Oswald Weber, chairman of the game and fish committee of the Cumberland Outdoor Club, and Minke.

The open season on bluegill in past years started on July 1 but in 1948 the opening date is February 15.

Maryland's six-day open season deer will get under way on Monday. Hunting hours are sunrise (7 p. m.) to sunset (4:45 p. m.)

Those bagging male deer are required to have them checked within 48 hours after the kill. There are ten checking stations in Region No. 1 this year—six in Garrett, three in Allegany and one in Washington.

EAGLES SIGN NEALE TO 3-YEAR CONTRACT

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28. (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League today signed their head coach, Earle (Greasy) Neale, and his two assistants, Line Coach John Kellison and Backfield Coach Charles Ewart, to new three-year contracts.

Neale and Kellison have been with the club since Alexis Thompson purchased the franchise in 1941. Ewart, who played under Neale at Yale, took over the tutoring of the Eagle backs last season.

Cameron is undefeated in 10 games, has scored 341 points to the opposition's 74 while winning the Oklahoma Junior College Conference. Since joining the conference 16 years ago, the school has won 11 championships, finishing second the other seven years.

Unsuccesful candidates for the eastern bid included Duluth, Minn., Burlington, Ia., and McCook, Neb.

Potomac State of Keyser, W. Va., was mentioned among the candidates for the Little Rose Bowl several weeks ago.

TO PLAY HERE—Ernest Fortney, one-time Duquesne University star, will be seen in action when the Akron (Ohio) Collegians come here tomorrow to battle the Cumberland Dukes at 3:30 p. m. at the State Armory. Sentinels Retain City Title, 25-0; LaSalle Is Victor

6,000 See Fort Hill Win Over Allegany Gridders

Fort Hill High School retained the city football championship by defeating Allegany High School, 25 to 0, before 6,000 persons in the local stadium, and LaSalle High School won its second annual game from Beall High School by the score of 20 to 0, before 4,000 spectators, at Frostburg State Teachers' Field, on Thanksgiving Day.

The Turkey Day games lowered the curtain on the 1947 football season in the tri-state district. Fort Hill won nine games and lost one, Allegany won two, lost six and tied two, LaSalle won three, lost six and tied one while Beall bagged three victories and suffered five setbacks.

Fort Hill's 25-point victory margin was the biggest enjoyed by either school in 20 meetings since 1932. AHS won in 1932 by the score of 21-0 and Fort Hill copped the 1946 game by the same score.

In closing out its successful season with a string of nine straight triumphs, the Fort Hill team scored twice in both the first and third periods.

Manges Scores Twice

Jimmie Manges marked up 13 points in two touchdowns and an extra point while the other touchdowns were credited to Milford Dean and Edgar Tucker. The longest run of the game was credited to Earl "Lefty" Bruce, AHS sprint star, who galloped 41 yards to within four yards of the goal line in the second period. McKenzie of Fort Hill recovered Cecil's fumble on the next play.

Fort Hill collected 15 first downs to Allegany's 11 and piled up 296 yards rushing to the Campers' 123. The winners failed to complete two passes tried while AHS completed one out of seven for 10 yards and had one intercepted. Fort Hill was set back 50 yards on penalties and Allegany 33.

Jimmie Collins Stars

The Explorers' halfback registered six-pointers in the first half on 31 and 51 yard gallops and climaxed his brilliant performance with a touchdown smash from the two-inch line to climax a 51-yard drive.

Louis Arnone plunged both extra points.

It was the second shutout triumph scored by LaSalle over Beall on Turkey Day. In 1946 Coach Johnny Long's eleven marked up a 26-0 victory.

LaSalle reeled off 10 first downs to Beall's 8 and racked up 235 net yards rushing to 80 for Frostburg. The Explorers completed 2 of 12 passes for 37 yards and three aerials were intercepted. The Mounties tried 13 passes, completed 5 for 39 yards and had one intercepted. The winners were penalized 55 yards and the losers set back 30 yards.

TCU And Mississippi Are Delta Bowl Foes

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 28 (AP)—Texas Christian University will meet the University of Mississippi in the new Delta Bowl at Memphis, Tenn., on Jan. 1 if permission is secured from the Southwest Conference.

Frog officials refused any definite statement on the invitation but it was learned the players voted to accept the bid Thursday.

It was further learned the school officials would accept if conference permission is obtained.

Buehler, Peters Banned In Laurel Rock Salt Case

Horse Was Destroyed After Striking Rail

BALTIMORE, Nov. 28 (AP) — Two horsemen today were ruled off Maryland tracks for life for cruelty to the race horse Saguaro.

The Maryland Racing Commission revoked the owner's license of Frank Buehler, St. Leonard, Md., and the trainer and owner licenses of Maurice Peters, Marlboro, Md. Commissioner H. Courtenay Jenifer said both will be banned at all Maryland tracks.

Horse Suffers Broken Leg

Hit in the rump, the six-year-old gelding bolted from the starting gate, crashed into the outside guard rail and broke his right foreleg. He was then destroyed by Laurel guards.

Buehler said he was helping Peters school the horse, "a bad actor," to make a fast break.

He intended to frighten the riderless forse by firing in the air, but "the gun went off" when Saguaro "backlashed in the starting gate," Buehler said.

Jockey Don Fay testified he was shot in the leg with a charge of rock salt when he rode Saguaro out of the starting gate the previous day. Fay did not say who fired the shot.

Pending Is Fined $50

The commission also fined Richard Pending $50 for failure to register Saguaro as having been "nerved." This operation involves destroying sensitive leg nerves and weakens the horse.

Buehler owns one horse, Major Stone, which broke its leg at Pimlico early this month.

Jenifer said cases against four other horsemen questioned on charges of mistreating Saguaro had been dismissed for lack of evidence.

He said cruelty to animals is a misdemeanor in Maryland and that it would be up to the state's attorney for Anne Arundel County to decide whether to bring civil charges in the case.

Cloud Is Captain Of All-Southern

Gambino, Maryland's Halfback, Is Chosen

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 28 (AP) — Line-plunging Jack (Flying) Cloud added another honor to his lengthy list of collegiate gridiron achievements today when the sophomore fullback of William and Mary's Dixie Bowl-bound powerhouse was named captain of the Mythical All-Southern Conference football team of the Associated Press for 1947.

Cloud, of Norfolk, Va., gained the captaincy when he polled more votes than any other league player in the balloting by loop coaches and sports writers.

The husky Indian bruiser, who stands two inches short of the six-foot mark and weighs 200 pounds, edged the University of North Carolina's Charlie (Choo-Choo) Justice, the Tar Heels' great tailback by the narrow margin of a single vote in the scramble for captaincy honors.

Cloud was one of four William and Mary players selected to the All-Southern team. The other three were end Robert Steckroth, Hazleton, Pa., senior; guard Knox Ramsey, of Maryville, Tenn., and center Tommy Thompson, of Woodbridge, N. J.

Justice, who has been named the conference's most valuable player, and two of his teammates—tackle Len Szafaryn of Ambridge, Pa., and end Art Weiner, of Newark, N. J.—were North Carolina's aces who made the all-star cast.

With Cloud and Justice in the All-Southern backfield were Fred Folger, Jr., Duke's triple-threat star from Mt. Airy, N. C., and Lucien Gambino, Maryland's high-scoring halfback from Baltimore, Md.

The tackle berth opposite Szafaryn, who had to hustle to nose out Duke's Al Derogatis in the voting, went to Malachi Mills, Virginia Military Institute's 206-pound captain from New Orleans, La. Edward Royston, Wake Forest senior from Baltimore, Md., was the other guard.

There was no unanimous selection, Cloud coming the closest. Ramsey was named for the third straight year, the last two as a guard and in 1945 as a tackle. Justice and Cloud also were holdovers from 1946, and this was the second appearance for Mills, who made the grade in 1945 and last season dropped to the third team.

Not a single freshman was selected, but there were four sophomores—Weiner and a trio of backs, Justice, Gambino and Cloud. Folger, the fourth backfield ace, is a junior.

Game Is Postponed

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 28 (AP)—The scheduled Alabama-University of Miami football game in the Orange Bowl tonight has been postponed until tomorrow night because of stormy weather.

Bowl officials said that puddles of water stood two and three inches deep over most of the field from rains which have persisted throughout the day.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 28. — Well here I am home again and the first news I heard was that Dick Powell will be Mr. Mike in "Mrs. Mike" when Sam Bischoff and Edd Gross start the best seller in March—and that's for sure. You'd be surprised who they are testing for the title role—but that's another story.

Bing Crosby

I heard also that Susan Hayward has been borrowed from Walter Wanger to start in "Pitfall" for Dick's current movie. At one time Veronica Lake was scheduled for this and she wanted to do it because her husband, Andre De Toth, is the director. But Paramount wouldn't give in.

Getting back to "Mrs. Mike," Bischoff paid $200,000 for it—but it's worth it considering that over a million copies of the novel have been sold and it was reprinted by King Features syndicated.

Speaking of Veronica, gone are the days when she was rated as a temperamental babe at Paramount. I think she is so happily married to Andre De Toth that she's forgotten all about being hard to handle.

Never let it be said that this sunshine and light is being lost on the home team who have begun to look on Ronnie as a favorite child. And they aren't going to let her down after "Sainted Sisters." She gets a plum in "Father's Day," the much touted comedy drama about a small Indiana town in 1910.

Mona Freeman is also in the cast along with Billy De Wolfe and Roland Culver.

Artists, and particularly musicians, aren't supposed to be smart business men. But that doesn't include Horace Heidt who has made a bushelful buying and selling hotels, restaurants and ball rooms.

The Las Vagas Biltmore Hotel deal alone netted him a hot $500,000 profit. During the past year he took in more than $2,000,000 from his various interests.

Now after three years away from the bandstand, Heidt swings back into action—not for profit but to get in the juvenile delinquency fight.

Starting December 7, he heads on a cross-country tour appearing in small towns to audition talented kids and to try to set them up as actors and musicians in their own home territory. He feels they can be kept away from Hollywood and New York this way where they just encounter heartbreak and frequently get started on the wrong trail.

Chatter in Hollywood: Bing Crosby, I'm sorry to say, is the latest victim of make-up poisoning. For the past few days they have been shooting him only in profile for "Connecticut Yankee" because the rash has effected just one side of his face. But before the faithful start wailing at the wall, it's responding to treatment. By the time you read this Mr. Popular himself, will be looking the camera in the eye again.

I also hear Bing turned down a national mag lay-out on his famous gams because Marlene Dietrich and Mrs. Frank Henderson (the 71-year-old who put her legs up on a table at the opera) had stolen the "gams" honor for the season.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

That man about New York and Florida, Bruce Cabot, dated Iris Bynum his first night back in Hollywood.

Bob Hope wrote his friend, Madman Muntz that a group of Englishmen have made copies of his air commercials and are selling them as comedy recordings.

If some of Damon Runyon's best known stories are aired, Pat O'Brien will be the star of the show.

Tyrone Power gets home tomordow and, as I told you, Lana Turner left New York today. Further details on this romance will be continued in our next.

Another echo from the big town is that a supposedly happily married couple—both stars—had a beeg tiff in Toots Shor's—so loud it could be heard tables away.

But I'm back in Hollywood now, —so,—

That's all today.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 28. — Well here I am home again and the first news I heard was that Dick Powell will be Mr. Mike in "Mrs. Mike" when Sam Bischoff and Edd Gross start the best seller in March—and that's for sure. You'd be surprised who they are testing for the title role—but that's another story.

Bing Crosby

I heard also that Susan Hayward has been borrowed from Walter Wanger to start in "Pitfall" for Dick's current movie. At one time Veronica Lake was scheduled for this and she wanted to do it because her husband, Andre De Toth, is the director. But Paramount wouldn't give in.

Getting back to "Mrs. Mike," Bischoff paid $200,000 for it—but it's worth it considering that over a million copies of the novel have been sold and it was reprinted by King Features syndicated.

Speaking of Veronica, gone are the days when she was rated as a temperamental babe at Paramount. I think she is so happily married to Andre De Toth that she's forgotten all about being hard to handle.

Never let it be said that this sunshine and light is being lost on the home team who have begun to look on Ronnie as a favorite child. And they aren't going to let her down after "Sainted Sisters." She gets a plum in "Father's Day," the much touted comedy drama about a small Indiana town in 1910.

Mona Freeman is also in the cast along with Billy De Wolfe and Roland Culver.

Artists, and particularly musicians, aren't supposed to be smart business men. But that doesn't include Horace Heidt who has made a bushelful buying and selling hotels, restaurants and ball rooms.

The Las Vagas Biltmore Hotel deal alone netted him a hot $500,000 profit. During the past year he took in more than $2,000,000 from his various interests.

Starting December 7, he heads on a cross-country tour appearing in small towns to audition talented kids and to try to set them up as actors and musicians in their own home territory. He feels they can be kept away from Hollywood and New York this way where they just encounter heartbreak and frequently get started on the wrong trail.

Chatter in Hollywood: Bing Crosby, I'm sorry to say, is the latest victim of make-up poisoning. For the past few days they have been shooting him only in profile for "Connecticut Yankee" because the rash has effected just one side of his face. But before the faithful start wailing at the wall, it's responding to treatment. By the time you read this Mr. Popular himself, will be looking the camera in the eye again.

I also hear Bing turned down a national mag lay-out on his famous gams because Marlene Dietrich and Mrs. Frank Henderson (the 71-year-old who put her legs up on a table at the opera) had stolen the "gams" honor for the season.

That man about New York and Florida, Bruce Cabot, dated Iris Bynum his first night back in Hollywood.

Another echo from the big town is that a supposedly happily married couple—both stars—had a beeg tiff in Toots Shor's—so loud it could be heard tables away.

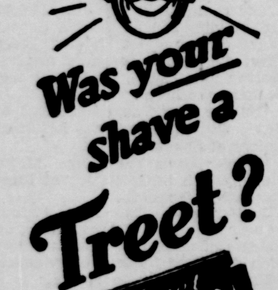

But I'm back in Hollywood now, —so,—

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Man Who Isn't There

Duffy's Tavern (NBC 9 p. m. EST Wednesdays) has a number of special qualities which set it off from all the other saloons on Third Avenue but the oddest single thing about it is its owner. Duffy hasn't set foot in the place since it opened. Once a week Duffy calls up Arch, the manager, to inquire how things are going but otherwise he shows little interest.

Ed Gardner

From the weekly phone conversations (you hear only the other end of it) and from remarks made about him by his staff, it's possible to reconstruct the outlines of Duffy, though nothing like a real portrait. For one thing, he's a tightfisted employer. Eddie, the waiter, gets exactly nothing for working there and frequently threatens to quit. "Sometimes a man needs a few of the luxuries of life," Eddie complained in one of his depressed moods. "A nickel for the subway. New cardboard for his shoes."

Even Arch gets moody and rebellious about his tiny pay check and more than once has threatened to walk out. "That Duffy is becoming irksome. If there's anything I can't stand it's an irk," he told his stupid but loyal friend Finnegan one day. "I'm leaving Duffy's."

In addition to being tightfisted, Duffy is incredibly ignorant about things and especially about people, all of which Arch has to explain to him. He had only the vaguest recollection of Rudy Vallee, for instance, and Arch had to explain: "He was the big star of radio in the old silent days. You know—the pre-historic Perry Como." Duffy had not only never heard of Henry Morgan but didn't even know what he was talking about when Morgan tried to be funny over the phone.

While it is difficult to analyze Duffy with any accuracy, Arch is a different matter. He's a fellow with a worm's eye view of life and an awe-inspiring command of words, all of them the wrong ones. He can define anything if not accurately, at least self confidently. "What's opera? It's suffering set to music. In opera when a guy gets stabbed in the back, instead of bleeding, he sings."

He's a man of small education—his mother read him the camisole section of Sears Roebuck when he was young and later he matriculated to "Esquire"—but he grapples with learning with great determination and his scientific explanations have a sort of wild plausibility. "There's no such thng as a born criminal," he told Finnegan one day. "They're all adopted. There are two kinds of criminals—the neurotics and the oldrotics. It's glandular."

"On what do you base that statement?" asked Finnegan.

"I'll accept that," said Finnegan generously."

Though he's a bit of a Third Avenue snob and looks down his nose at the low born roughnecks of Second Avenue, Arch is a gregarious fellow and is always the life of the annual block party. His activities usually have to be described to him the next day. In his cups he takes to people rather too indiscriminately and invariably offers them jobs at Duffy's. After one block party, a rather horrendous blonde of uncertain vintage walked into the tavern: "Why Poopsie," she said. "Don't you remember me?"

"I think I do but I'm afraid to face the facts," said Arch, horrified.

"You promised me a job as a singer."

"Look, Fifi," said Arch earnestly, "it ain't only that you're ugly you ain't got a card in the musicians' union."

All the people around Duffy's are frustrated and a little loose in the skull—the result of years of hanging around a place where they can't give the free lunch away even to the garbage man. There's Eddie, the waiter, who has no faith in anything; there's Miss Duffy a girl with holes in her head, who suffers from unrequited love for all mankind; and Finnegan, who's barely intelligent enough to breathe. And the clientele! At various times, the paying customers have included a two-headed pitcher, a gorilla, a singing dog (who reached notes detectable only to the human ear) and Rudy Vallee (who defies description.)

I might dismiss the whole place as Third Avenue Chekhov but I got more sense. Nice place to spend half an hour every Wednesday though.

The Man Who Isn't There

Duffy's Tavern (NBC 9 p. m. EST Wednesdays) has a number of special qualities which set it off from all the other saloons on Third Avenue but the oddest single thing about it is its owner. Duffy hasn't set foot in the place since it opened. Once a week Duffy calls up Arch, the manager, to inquire how things are going but otherwise he shows little interest.

Ed Gardner

From the weekly phone conversations (you hear only the other end of it) and from remarks made about him by his staff, it's possible to reconstruct the outlines of Duffy, though nothing like a real portrait. For one thing, he's a tightfisted employer. Eddie, the waiter, gets exactly nothing for working there and frequently threatens to quit. "Sometimes a man needs a few of the luxuries of life," Eddie complained in one of his depressed moods. "A nickel for the subway. New cardboard for his shoes."

Even Arch gets moody and rebellious about his tiny pay check and more than once has threatened to walk out. "That Duffy is becoming irksome. If there's anything I can't stand it's an irk," he told his stupid but loyal friend Finnegan one day. "I'm leaving Duffy's."

"It'll be like losing the cuspidors," said Finnegan sentimentally.

In addition to being tightfisted, Duffy is incredibly ignorant about things and especially about people, all of which Arch has to explain to him. He had only the vaguest recollection of Rudy Vallee, for instance, and Arch had to explain: "He was the big star of radio in the old silent days. You know—the pre-historic Perry Como." Duffy had not only never heard of Henry Morgan but didn't even know what he was talking about when Morgan tried to be funny over the phone.

"It ain't supposed to be funny," Arch explained. "It's satire. The guy's got a dearth of talent."

While it is difficult to analyze Duffy with any accuracy, Arch is a different matter. He's a fellow with a worm's eye view of life and an awe-inspiring command of words, all of them the wrong ones. He can define anything if not accurately, at least self confidently. "What's opera? It's suffering set to music. In opera when a guy gets stabbed in the back, instead of bleeding, he sings."

He's a man of small education—his mother read him the camisole section of Sears Roebuck when he was young and later he matriculated to "Esquire"—but he grapples with learning with great determination and his scientific explanations have a sort of wild plausibility. "There's no such thng as a born criminal," he told Finnegan one day. "They're all adopted. There are two kinds of criminals—the neurotics and the oldrotics. It's glandular."

"On what do you base that statement?" asked Finnegan.

"I think it's obvious."

"I'll accept that," said Finnegan generously."

Though he's a bit of a Third Avenue snob and looks down his nose at the low born roughnecks of Second Avenue, Arch is a gregarious fellow and is always the life of the annual block party. His activities usually have to be described to him the next day. In his cups he takes to people rather too indiscriminately and invariably offers them jobs at Duffy's. After one block party, a rather horrendous blonde of uncertain vintage walked into the tavern: "Why Poopsie," she said. "Don't you remember me?"

"I think I do but I'm afraid to face the facts," said Arch, horrified.

"You promised me a job as a singer."

"Look, Fifi," said Arch earnestly, "it ain't only that you're ugly you ain't got a card in the musicians' union."

All the people around Duffy's are frustrated and a little loose in the skull—the result of years of hanging around a place where they can't give the free lunch away even to the garbage man. There's Eddie, the waiter, who has no faith in anything; there's Miss Duffy a girl with holes in her head, who suffers from unrequited love for all mankind; and Finnegan, who's barely intelligent enough to breathe. And the clientele! At various times, the paying customers have included a two-headed pitcher, a gorilla, a singing dog (who reached notes detectable only to the human ear) and Rudy Vallee (who defies description.)

I might dismiss the whole place as Third Avenue Chekhov but I got more sense. Nice place to spend half an hour every Wednesday though.

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND—Guy Harvey won second place in the medium weight class of Angus steers in a group of 33 steers at the Pittsburgh Livestock Show held last week, it was announced by Joe Steger, assistant county agent for Garrett and Allegany counties. Harvey's entry was the county champion at the 4-H Baby Beef exhibit at the county farm picnic near Bittinger in August.

At the auction sale which followed the show Harvey's steer sold for 40 cents per pound and netted him $410 since his entry weighed 1,025 pounds.

Other Garrett county entries placed in various events. Fifteen 4-H members exhibited 25 baby beeves. Three of the exhibitors were girls.

Five sons of Mr. and Mrs. Earl K. Harvey, Sr., participated. The Harvey boys with eight Angus steers in a total of 122 in the competition, won four ribbons.

There was also a winner in the Hereford class. Melvin R. Custer won seventh place in a class of 47 with a 905½ pound entry.

Hampshire County Man Expected To Recover

By THOMAS WILLIAMS

ROMNEY, W. Va.—Vernon Lane Alt, 25-year-old son of Mrs. Rose Alt, Buffalo Hollow, near Romney, who Hampshire County authorities said shot himself in the chest with a .22 caliber rifle early Thanksgiving morning, was reported in fair condition yesterday in Newton D. Baker Veterans Hospital, Martinsburg, W. Va.

State Trooper E. D. Harbert, Romney, said authorities were told the veteran is expected to recover unless complications set in.

and returned with Trooper

Alt had been to a party in Romney Thanksgiving eve and returned home about 2 a. m. His mother was waiting up for him and when the son became depressed and announced his intention of "killing himself" she awakened another son. The two of them pleaded with Vernon but he found the rifle, which the mother had hidden, and the mother and other son left the house in fear of their own lives. They were in the yard when they heard a shot but were afraid to re-enter the house.

The pair drove to Romney and returned with Trooper Harbert, Justice of Peace A. L. Russell and Dr. James F. Easton. The veteran was found lying on the floor of the living room with the bullet wound in the chest. He shot himself while in the kitchen but had crawled into the next room. The bullet entered the left chest, followed a rib around and lodged in his back.

Members of the family said Vernon had been unemployed for several weeks and been despondent. He formerly worked as a steward at the American Legion Club here.

biles in Switzerland," Miss Babb said as the cost of gasoline is prohibitive. Bicycles are used largely as a means of transportation.

It was surprising to see, continued Miss Babb, well dressed men, carrying brief cases, cycling to work, and on Sundays, bejewelled ladies, wearing furs, pedaling to church.

Although the Swiss people are among the most fortunate in Europe, so far as food is concerned, Miss Babb stated there is still an amazing shortage. For example, she said, it is almost impossible to get milk to drink. Butter is served only once a day, and she said she was served eggs only twice on her entire stay in Switzerland.

In Paris, Miss Babb said she was invited to a French home for dinner. "The lady of the house was a charming, hospitable person who felt such gratitude when our military forces arrived there during the war, (after she had been bombed out) that she decided to go to night school and take a course in English so she might be able to entertain Americans."

The lady, Miss Babb said, was a buyer in a large department store in Paris, and every weekend she invited American soldiers to her home and conducted sight seeing tours for them. Upon their return to the States, many of those boys remembered her kindness by sending her food packages, and she was extremely proud, Miss Babb said, of her small stock she was saving for the coming winter.

Miss Babb said she was most deeply touched when the woman showed her a cellophane package of noodle soup and, with the facial expression of a small girl with her first doll, explained that this was a special Christmas dinner.

"When I think, how this lady shared her small rations with me, because I am an American, it makes me wonder how many of us in this land of plenty would do likewise." Miss Babb said.

Miss Babb is a graduate of Flintstone High School and has been employed in Washington for quite some time.

biles in Switzerland," Miss Babb said as the cost of gasoline is prohibitive. Bicycles are used largely as a means of transportation.

It was surprising to see, continued Miss Babb, well dressed men, carrying brief cases, cycling to work, and on Sundays, bejewelled ladies, wearing furs, pedaling to church.

Although the Swiss people are among the most fortunate in Europe, so far as food is concerned, Miss Babb stated there is still an amazing shortage. For example, she said, it is almost impossible to get milk to drink. Butter is served only once a day, and she said she was served eggs only twice on her entire stay in Switzerland.

In Paris, Miss Babb said she was invited to a French home for dinner. "The lady of the house was a charming, hospitable person who felt such gratitude when our military forces arrived there during the war, (after she had been bombed out) that she decided to go to night school and take a course in English so she might be able to entertain Americans."

The lady, Miss Babb said, was a buyer in a large department store in Paris, and every weekend she invited American soldiers to her home and conducted sight seeing tours for them. Upon their return to the States, many of those boys remembered her kindness by sending her food packages, and she was extremely proud, Miss Babb said, of her small stock she was saving for the coming winter.

Miss Babb said she was most deeply touched when the woman showed her a cellophane package of noodle soup and, with the facial expression of a small girl with her first doll, explained that this was a special Christmas dinner.

"When I think, how this lady shared her small rations with me, because I am an American, it makes me wonder how many of us in this land of plenty would do likewise," Miss Babb said.

Miss Babb is a graduate of Flintstone High School and has been employed in Washington for quite some time.

Stocks Slide Downward With Many Reaching New Lows For This Year

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—Stocks slid slowly downward in today's market, picking up just enough speed in the final hour to produce the widest decline in about a month.

Total transfers were the best of the week at 930,000 shares, compared with 910,000 on Wednesday.

New 1947 lows were reached by Pennsylvania Railroad which closed at 16; American Can, finishing at 79, North American at 17½, International Nickel at 26¾, Air Reduction at 26¾, Owens-Illinois at 69½ and Pepsi-Cola at 23⅞. Other losers of one to more than two points included Santa Fe at 81⅜, Bethlehem at 98, Follansbee Steel (despite a dividend declaration at 31½, Schenley at 33, Chrysler at 60½, General Motors at 57¼, Electric Power and Light at 15⅛, Anaconda Copper at 35¼, Standard Gas and Electric $4 preferred at 21¾, Colgate-Palmolive-Peet at 43 and Dow Chemical at 38½.

Paraffine moved up on a stock split proposal but closed unchanged. Richfield Oil at 16½ was up 1⅛ after an extra dividend was announced, and other gainers included Phillips-Jones (at a new 1947 high) and Anaconda Wire and Cable.

Foreward in the Curb were New Jersey Zinc (on dividend news), Root Petroleum, Kirby Petroleum, Tilo Roofing, Southland Royalty and Cuban Atlantic Sugar. Aluminum Company, Kaiser-Frazer and Cities Service were backward. Turnover here was 250,000 shares against 220,000 Wednesday.

Stocks Slide Downward With Many Reaching New Lows For This Year

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—Stocks slid slowly downward in today's market, picking up just enough speed in the final hour to produce the widest decline in about a month.

Total transfers were the best of the week at 930,000 shares, compared with 910,000 on Wednesday.

New 1947 lows were reached by Pennsylvania Railroad which closed at 16; American Can, finishing at 79, North American at 17½, International Nickel at 26¾, Air Reduction at 26¾, Owens-Illinois at 69½ and Pepsi-Cola at 23⅞. Other losers of one to more than two points included Santa Fe at 81⅜, Bethlehem at 98, Follansbee Steel (despite a dividend declaration at 31½, Schenley at 33, Chrysler at 60½, General Motors at 57¼, Electric Power and Light at 15⅛, Anaconda Copper at 35¼, Standard Gas and Electric $4 preferred at 21¾, Colgate-Palmolive-Peet at 43 and Dow Chemical at 38½.

Paraffine moved up on a stock split proposal but closed unchanged. Richfield Oil at 16½ was up 1⅛ after an extra dividend was announced, and other gainers included Phillips-Jones (at a new 1947 high) and Anaconda Wire and Cable.

Foreward in the Curb were New Jersey Zinc (on dividend news), Root Petroleum, Kirby Petroleum, Tilo Roofing, Southland Royalty and Cuban Atlantic Sugar. Aluminum Company, Kaiser-Frazer and Cities Service were backward. Turnover here was 250,000 shares against 220,000 Wednesday.

Sales totaled $4,400,000, compared with $3,640,000 Wednesday.

United States governments held steady in the over-the-counter market, the Victory Loan 2½s of December 1967-72 remaining at 100 31/32 bid.

Five persons were being held in the county jail last night after being arrested near Grantsville yesterday by State Troopers Harry Bosley and Blair J. Buckle, for using a car believed stolen in Cornith, Miss.

The group, three women and two men were identified as William R. Bowers, 27, and William F. Sonto, 23, Bridgeton, N. J., and Geraldine Jordan, 18, 78 West Lafayette Street, Uniontown, Pa., and Helen Kopachs, 18, and Albina Kopachs, 19, sisters, 149 Easy Street, Uniontown, Pa.

State Police said the car was proceeding eastward on U. S. Route 40, toward this city, and appeared to be traveling at an excessive rate of speed. The officers stopped the car to warn the driver, and upon investigation, discovered the man did not have a driver's license. The car was listed as stolen by Mississippi authorities.

After questioning, the group was confined to the county jail here, but police said last night the three young women will probably released today to return to Bridgeton where they are employed.

The girls told the officers they had been working in Bridgeton, and had told their friend Sonto they wanted to go to Uniontown to visit their families over Thanksgiving. Sonto said he had a friend who would drive them there, they told police, and Bowers appeared with the car.

Police here made a thorough investigation and a check with authorities in New Jersey indicates the girls are not involved in the car theft, but merely accepted the offer of the ride to their homes for the holiday.

Last night, police declared that Bowers is wanted on car theft charges elsewhere, and further investigation is being conducted. Police said he has refused to waive extradition.

At the county jail, both Bowers and Sonto have been quite talkative and asked numerous questions about the jail facilities, routine of deputies, and other information which has caused extra precautions to be taken, sheriff's attaches said.

4-Inch Snowfall Covers Garrett; Mercury Fall Here

Police Report Roads Above Frostburg Bad

Maryland State Police issued the first "chains are needed" warning for the fall with an announcement that Garrett County roads were buried under a four-inch snowfall that fell during the afternoon but cleared early in the night.

Cumberland experienced a diversified day, with frequent snow flurries spaced by bursts of sunshine, but at all times the temperature stayed low and residents went about outdoor duties with collars pulled tightly around their necks.

Inside it was a story of getting the pressure up a "little higher" to combat the snapping coldspell that many experienced the previous day while witnessing the turkey-day football game.

At Thomas, W. Va., there were reports of a four inch snowfall during the day, and the temperature hovered in the low 20s early last night with a cloudy atmosphere prevailing.

The mercury registered a maximum of 42 in Cumberland yesterday and was hanging at 30 degrees on the city's official weather instrument at 10 p. m., but unofficial reports at 11 p. m. said it had dropped to 28 degrees.

State Police said Garrett County road crews were kept busy during the afternoon cindering Route 40 above Big Savage Mountain, and last night declared the first heavy fall of the year had packed hard on the main highways.

Police in the Grantsville, Garrett County area, said traffic was badly snarled late in the afternoon when several cars stalled on small grades in the area. Trooper Blair J. Buckel reported one line of traffic tied up for nearly a half hour on Route 40.

Snow flurries threatened in Frostburg and further down the Georges Creek region throughout the day also, but late last night there were no reports of roads being covered or of more than a collection of flakes across the open fields.

The West Virginia Road Commission urged motorists to drive with extreme care in West Virginia after receiving reports that snow had fallen in almost all sections of the state. The Commission said highways were passable without chains but that extreme caution was necessary.

For today the weatherman predicted more of the same kind of weather for Maryland with a forecast of "partly cloudy and colder with frequent snow flurries."

Two-State Search Under Way For Hit-Run Driver

Victim's Condition Is Reported 'Fair'

Police of two states last night were searching for a hit-run driver whose victim was reported in fair condition by attaches at Potomac Valley Hospital, where he was taken Thursday at 9:50 p. m. after being found lying on Georges Creek Boulevard at Franklin.

Police said the victim, Clyde Dye, 26, Franklin, was admitted to the hospital suffering from possible back and side injuries.

Dye was changing a tire, according to police, when he was hit by "truck made into a car". The driver failed to stop after knocking Dye about 15 feet from the point of impact, according to police.

Officer Leonard Murphy, Westernport Police Department, and Trooper Harry Bosley, Maryland State Police, were sent to the scene of the accident Thursday night, and Officer Murphy accompanied Dye to the hospital.

Police said a description of the vehicle has been broadcasted to all West Virginia and Maryland Police and a search is underway for the driver.

Familiar Salvation Army Kettles To Appear On Streets Here Today

The familiar Salvation Army Christmas kettles will make their appearance on Baltimore Street to usher in the beginning of the Salvation Army's Christmas program here.

Major Elmer Wall, commander of the Salvation Army Citadel, said four kettles manned by Salvation Army lads and lassies will be placed on Baltimore Street today. Beginning December 5 and until Christmas, the kettles will be in place each day on Baltimore Street and on Virginia Avenue.

Although no definite goal has been set for the program this year, Major Wall pointed out that $1,400 was spent by the Salvation Army here during the Christmas season last year. "We will need much more this year," he said, "because the needs are greater and because the price of everything has gone up.

Civic Groups To Aid

On the last Saturday before Christmas, Major Wall said, five civic organizations will man the kettles. The Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions, and Exchange Clubs and the Junior Chamber of Commerce have already volunteered to aid on that day and several other civic groups are expected to co-operate, he said.

Other funds for the program will be realized from donations in some 75 collection boxes to be placed in business establishments in this city.

Letter appeals will also be sent to citizens of Cumberland and Allegany County, he said.

The Salvation Army Outpost on Virginia Avenue has already begun the task of repairing and repainting toys which will be given to needy children here.

Varied Program Planned

The program planned for Christmas by the Salvation Army here includes grocery orders for needy families, packing of Christmas baskets for late calls, Christmas presents for the Sunday School students at the Citadel and Outpost, distribution of clothes and shoes to needy families, a caroling program, Christmas parties for needy families and visits to the county and city jail and the Allegany County Home.

Last year, Major Wall said, the Salvation Army distributed 114 grocery orders to needy families, gave four Christmas parties, presented clothes or shoes to another 174 persons for a total cost of about $1,400 for the entire program. Christmas kettles brought in $918.03 of the cost and the sale of 1,900 Christmas issues of the War Cry added considerable to the total.

If there should be a surplus from the Christmas fund, Major Wall said, the money will be placed in a fund for social relief work in Cumberland during the year.

The Salvation Army Christmas Basket program is cleared through other local social agencies here to guard against duplication of aid.

Raymond True's Death Attributed To Natural Causes

Man Held By Police Dies In Hospital

Medical authorities gave a "natural causes" verdict in the death of Raymond K. True, 53-year-old Baltimore and Ohio Railroad worker who died yesterday at 1:30 p. m. in Memorial Hospital after being in police custody for more than 12 hours.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said True, who was arrested Wednesday night at 10 p. m. on charges of being drunk, suffered a cerebral hemmorhage as the result of high blood pressure for which he had received treatment for about a year.

True, according to police, was taken into custody after residents of Union Street complained that he was acting in a "very unusual manner." Officer John Powers, who made the arrest, said True's action indicated he was under the influence of liquor and he was placed in the sound proof cell at City Jail.

In giving his verdict Dr. Fleming, who with Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, performed an autopsy, said that True's illness was such that it could easily be mistaken as drunkness by persons observing his actions.

Police Investigate

True, according to police was held in jail overnight, but Thursday morning, they became alarmed at his condition and called an ambulance to take him to the hospital at 10:30 o'clock.

Dr. Deming said he was told that a few days before his death True struck his head while at work, and suffered an abrasion above his right eye. According to the report, Dr. Deming said, True was repairing a freight car at the time, but did not report the accident to railroad officials.

Because of the unusual circumstances surrounding the victim's death it was investigated yesterday by State Attorney Morgan C. Harris, County Investigator T. J. Boyle and Lt. Detective Edwin R. Lilya, City Police Department.

Lt. Lilya said that investigation showed that several persons who witnessed True's actions on Union Street before his arrest were under the impression that he was under the influence of liquor, although his family said he was never known to drink.

Medical authorities told police that True was suffering from a "leakage of blood" and while it would not cause complete paralysis it would create sufficient pressure to result in a loss of senses by the victim. True, Dr. Deming said, had been under treatment by a local physician.

According to Lt. Lilya's report, Dr. Deming informed him that "True's condition on the night he was arrested would lead anyone to believe he was drunk."

Questioned By Officers

Witnesses, questioned by Lt. Lilya said True went from door to door on Union Street "pounding" and at one residence he tore down an aerial. He later entered McDade's Grocery Store, Union Street, where he was taken into custody by police.

Arresting officers said True was unable to give his name at the time he was brought into Police Headquarters. He was booked under the name of "John Doe", as prisoners are when they are unable to identify themselves.

Witnesses on Union Street, said True only mumbled answers when questioned as to what he wanted or where he was trying to go.

Officer Powers, in his report to the Chief of Police, stated "in no way was this man abused or roughly handled by me as he offered no resistance." Powers said True had all of the symptoms and actions of

Centre St. Church To Dedicate Echo Organ Tomorrow

Special Musical Programs Arranged

Special services have been arranged for Centre Street Methodist Church, Sunday morning and evening, to dedicate a newly installed Echo organ, provided the church through the generosity of Dr. and Mrs. Adrian G. Kintner, according to Rev. Walter Marion Michael, D. D., pastor.

The morning service will begin at 10:45 a. m. with Dr. Carlisle L. Hubbard, Cambridge, Md., and at the evening service at 7:30 p. m. the Girls Tri-Hi-Y of Allegany Hilgh School will be special guests.

Mrs. Kenneth F. Beek, church organist, will play the following numgers at the morning service: "Pass Me Not, O Gentle Savior," by Doane; "Theme from The Pathetique," by Tschaikowsky; "Shepherd's Song," by Chalmar; "Serenade," by Schubert; and "Allegro from the 4th Concerto for the Harpsichord," by Dupuis.

The Chancel Choir, directed by Mrs. Blanche Stanton Gunter, will sing, "Praise To The Lord, The Almighty," by Christianson.

The Chapel Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Ivan W. Hall, will sing, "Pity Us, O Father," by Bliss.

Rev. Michael said the ritual for dedication of organs will be used at the morning service. R. R. Parker, president of the Board of Trustees, will accept the gift of the organ on behalf of the church.

At the evening service, Mrs. Beck will play, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," by Bach; "Day Is Dying in the West," by Sherwin; "Kamenoi-Ostrow," by Rubinstein; "Nocturne," by Mendelssohn; "Alpine Pastorale," and "Arioso," by Handel.

The Chapel Choir will sing, "Over the Stars There Is Rest," by Abt. The Chancel Choir will sing "O Thou In Whose Presence," by Lewis-Cain; and "Now Thank We All Our God," by Cruger-Mueller.

Speaking of the organ which was provided for in a specific bequest in the will of the late Dr. Kintner, formerly choir director of the church, Dr. Michael said the instrument was added to the church's original Moller Argan Opus 5376, which was installed in 1929. The Echo division is located in a room off the balcony at the rear of the church.

The purpose of an Echo division is to provide delicate soft effects, for the accompaniment of various portions of the Church services or for more special occasions. Metal pipes of this division are chiefly of what is called spotted metal, which is an alloy of tin and lead, considered highly acceptable by organ builders.

Dr. Michael said yesterday that the services Sunday are open to the public.

Decatur Street Man Found Lying On Street Here

Tells Police He Was Hit By Car

An elderly Decatur Street man was taken to Allegany Hospital last night suffering from lacerations and bruises after he was found lying next to the curb at the intersection of Henderson Avenue and Frederick Street at 7:15 p. m.

Police said George Reagan, 73, 300 Decatur Street, was taken to the hospital by Myron Landis, 815 Bedford Street, who saw him lying on the street. Reagan told police that he was struck by a car.

Officer Carl Stouffer, who investigated, reported that a Baltimore and Ohio watchman on duty at the crossing had not seen the man, and Landis told police several cars passde without the drivers noticing the man.

William E. Niland, 30, reported to police that a woman stepped in front of a truck he was operating for the Cumberland Laundry and "fell as she jumped back suffering a fractured shoulder."

Niland reported that he was driving the truck east on Baltimore Street, when Mary Cunningham, 65, 110 Bedford Street, stepped from between two parked machines. Niland said he was stopping the truck for a traffic signal and was not going more than eight miles an hour.

He told police that he did not think the truck struck the woman, but that she became frightened and in jumping back fell. Niland said he got out to investigate but had to return to move his truck. During the interval the woman got up and walked away. She later went to the hospital, according to Niland's report.

3 Bids For City Airport Filed, Mayor Post Says

York Man Submits Terms For Lease

Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday three bids for a lease on Cumberland's Municipal Airport will be opened Monday at 7:30 p. m. by the Airport Commission in its search for a leasee or manager of the local airport.

The third bidder, according to the Mayor, submitted his bid yesterday afternoon when he was granted an extention on the deadline for bids, because his plane was forced down in Hancock Wednesday by bad weather.

The Mayor confirmed the report that two other bids to lease the airport have been received and said one is from a Cumberland resident while the other is from Baltimore. He said he could not recall the names of the persons submitting the first two bids.

However, several local persons last night confirmed reports that Jack DelaGrange, 802 Trost Avenue, Fred Jenkins and Sanford Jenkins had submitted the local bid.

Oscar Gurley, member of the Airport Commission, said last night that it was his understanding that the deadline had been waived because of the conflict with the holiday, and added that he expects approximately three more bids to be submitted Monday night. He said one would probably be from Newark, N. J.

At least two applications have also been submitted for the position of managing the airport should the city decide against leasing it, but Gurley said the applications do not indicate the experience that would be required of a manager.

He explained his statement by saying "we expect to have two big airlines using the field soon and that will require about 30 men at the airport. That would require a man with a great deal of business experience," he added.

Court Declares Carl Smith Dead

A decree declaring a man legally dead was signed in Circuit Court yesterday by Chief Judge William A. Huster, on the petition of a sister, Mrs. Eleanora K. Senkbeil, filed against the First National Bank of Cumberland.

In the petition, the woman asked the Court to declare her brother, Carl W. Smith, legally dead, as he had not been heard of or from for the past 34 years.

Filed by Clarence Shutter, the petitioner claimed she and her brother are the only legal heirs of their father Henry Smith, who died intestate (without a will) May 20, 1940, at the age of 85.

At the time of his death he owned a property at 505 Central Avenue, and also had on deposit at the First National Bank, $192. Mrs. Senkbeil explained to the Court that her brother Carl W. Smith, left Cumberland at the age of 19, and had been in Detroit, Mich., for a short time. He was last heard from in the summer of 1914.

The petitioner asked for an order to have the bank release the deposits, and have the Court declare the brother legally dead.

In his decree, the Court ruled that Smith is legally dead and instructed the bank to release the deposits to Mrs. Senkbeil since she is the sole survivor.

Impressions Of Switzerland Given By Miss Alice Babb Of Flintstone

By MRS. H. V. BENDER

Miss Alice H. Babb, daughter of C. H. Babb and the late Neoma Babb, Route 2, Flintstone, recently returned from Switzerland, where she was sent last April by the United States Department of State as a member of the International Conference of Trade and Employment, tells some interesting impressions of her stay in Switzerland with side trips to France and Italy.

Miss Babb states that Geneva is so close to France and Italy that one would expect travel to those countries to be as simple as going from Cumberland to West Virginia or Pennsylvania. But not so, it is actually a very complicated process. Each weekend trip into one of the countries requires: a special visa on your passport, changing currency, learning the rate in effect that certain day, passing custom inspection in both countries, and finally, of course, solving the language difficulties. Boundaries are real barriers say Miss Babb and are not to be crossed lightly.

Miss Babb stated that most Swiss people speak several languages, including English. She said their elevator boy spoke four languages yet was very patient at their attempt to speak their language. Because of the neutrality of Switzerland, its people are independent and do not cater to Americans. They are a thrifty, healthy, happy, carefree and unhurried group of people and there is a spirit of friendliness among them that is shown to visitors as well, she added.

Meeting a young Swiss man who had never met an American girl before, makes you acutely aware of the responsibility involved in representing America, Miss Babb said. "It's a frightening thing to think his entire opinion of America would be based on what I said and did.

"We did not find many automo-

Beall Sponsors Stamp For Francis Scott Key

Rep. J. Glenn Beall, of the sixth Congressional District, has received word from the Post Office Department that a commemorative stamp, honoring Francis Scott Key, author of the Star Spangled Banner, will be struck in 1948.

He said last night he has requested the Post Office Department to have the first 100 stamps cancelled at the Frederick, Md. post office, since Francis Scott Key was a native of that Maryland community, and is interred there.

Minke said when he arrested the men they were both armed and had a rabbit in their possession.

Chief Of Police Warns Motorists To Prepare Cars For Icy Weather

Drive slow in rain, sleet or snow, Chief Flynn warned, because traffic accident rates increase 24 to 53 per cent during snow and ice months. Now with more vehicles operating this winter than ever before, every driver must ready his seasonal safety equipment and be on the double alert, he declared.

In co-operation with the International Association of Chiefs of Police, Flynn urged study-proven methods which will help reduce the toll of deaths, accidents and traffic tieups caused by disregarding snow, ice and poor visibility.

"Only serious consideration of these fundamental rules, based on scientific research and tests by the National Safety Council, will save drivers and pedestrians a lot of unnecessary trouble and sorrow," Chief Flynn explained.

The six rules laid down by Flynn to minimize the accident rate in the city during the winter months are:

1. Get the "feel" of the road surface when you start out.
2. Reduce speed when road surfaces are snowy or icy so you can stop in time.
3. Keep windshields and windows clear of snow and ice on the outside and fog and frost on the inside.
4. Use steel tire chains when snow and ice conditions prevail.
5. Carbon monoxide poisoning is dangerous. Never warm your car up in a closed garage.
6. Good tires are desirable because they improve the chances of stopping on wet pavement, but do not depend on even new tires or rubber chains to help on ice or packed snow.

LaFevre To Check County Land Plats

Allegany County Commissioners passed on order yesterday rescinding an order passed November 4, naming Harry T. Skelly of the County Roads Department as acting county engineer to check and approve plats to be prepared for the land record office.

At the same time, an order was passed appointing Douglas P. LeFevre, local engineer as supervisor of the plat record work, to be paid $2 per hour for each hour actually spent on the plats.

Russell C. Riggs, 502 Park Street, applied to the Board for appointment as constable at large for the county, but the clerk was instructed to inform him there are no vacancies now for the appointment of another constable.

Three Women And Two Men Held In Car Theft Case

State Police Check Record Of Driver

Five persons were being held in the county jail last night after being arrested near Grantsville yesterday by State Troopers Harry Bosley and Blair J. Buckle, for using a car believed stolen in Cornith, Miss.

The group, three women and two men were identified as William R. Bowers, 27, and William F. Sonto, 23, Bridgeton, N. J., and Geraldine Jordan, 18, 78 West Lafayette Street, Uniontown, Pa., and Helen Kopachs, 18, and Albina Kopacha, 19, sisters, 149 Easy Street, Uniontown, Pa.

State Police said the car was proceeding eastward on U. S. Route 40, toward this city, and appeared to be traveling at an excessive rate of speed. The officers stopped the car to warn the driver, and upon investigation, discovered the man did not have a driver's license. The car was listed as stolen by Mississippi authorities.

After questioning, the group was confined to the county jail here, but police said last night the three young women will probably released today to return to Bridgeton where they are employed.

The girls told the officers they had been working in Bridgeton, and had told their friend Sonto they wanted to go to Uniontown to visit their families over Thanksgiving. Sonto said he had a friend who would drive them there, they told police, and Bowers appeared with the car.

Police here made a thorough investigation and a check with authorities in New Jersey indicates the girls are not involved in the car theft, but merely accepted the offer of the ride to their homes for the holiday.

Last night, police declared that Bowers is wanted on car theft charges elsewhere, and further investigation is being conducted. Police said he has refused to waive extradition.

At the county jail, both Bowers and Sonto have been quite talkative and asked numerous questions about the jail facilities, routine of deputies, and other information which has caused extra precautions to be taken, sheriff's attaches said.

Two-State Search Under Way For Hit-Run Driver

Victim's Condition Is Reported 'Fair'

Police of two states last night were searching for a hit-run driver whose victim was reported in fair condition by attaches at Potomac Valley Hospital, where he was taken Thursday at 9:50 p. m. after being found lying on Georges Creek Boulevard at Franklin.

Police said the victim, Clyde Dye, 26, Franklin, was admitted to the hospital suffering from possible back and side injuries.

Dye was changing a tire, according to police, when he was hit by "truck made into a car". The driver failed to stop after knocking Dye about 15 feet from the point of impact, according to police.

Officer Leonard Murphy, Westernport Police Department, and Trooper Harry Bosley, Maryland State Police, were sent to the scene of the accident Thursday night, and Officer Murphy accompanied Dye to the hospital.

Police said a description of the vehicle has been broadcasted to all West Virginia and Maryland Police and a search is underway for the driver.

Familiar Salvation Army Kettles To Appear On Streets Here Today

The familiar Salvation Army Christmas kettles will make their appearance on Baltimore Street to usher in the beginning of the Salvation Army's Christmas program here.

Major Elmer Wall, commander of the Salvation Army Citadel, said four kettles manned by Salvation Army lads and lassies will be placed on Baltimore Street today. Beginning December 5 and until Christmas, the kettles will be in place each day on Baltimore Street and on Virginia Avenue.

Major Wall pointed out that the main support for the Salvation Army's Christmas activities comes from cash donations dropped in the kettles.

Although no definite goal has been set for the program this year, Major Wall pointed out that $1,400 was spent by the Salvation Army here during the Christmas season last year. "We will need much more this year," he said, "because the needs are greater and because the price of everything has gone up.

Civic Groups To Aid

On the last Saturday before Christmas, Major Wall said, five civic organizations will man the kettles. The Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions, and Exchange Clubs and the Junior Chamber of Commerce have already volunteered to aid on that day and several other civic groups are expected to co-operate, he said.

Other funds for the program will be realized from donations in some 75 collection boxes to be placed in business establishments in this city.

Letter appeals will also be sent to citizens of Cumberland and Allegany County, he said.

The Salvation Army Outpost on Virginia Avenue has already begun the task of repairing and repainting toys which will be given to needy children here.

Varied Program Planned

The program planned for Christmas by the Salvation Army here includes grocery orders for needy families, packing of Christmas baskets for late calls, Christmas presents for the Sunday School students at the Citadel and Outpost, distribution of clothes and shoes to needy families, a caroling program, Christmas parties for needy families and visits to the county and city jail and the Allegany County Home.

Last year, Major Wall said, the Salvation Army distributed 114 grocery orders to needy families, gave four Christmas parties, presented clothes or shoes to another 174 persons for a total cost of about $1,400 for the entire program. Christmas kettles brought in $918.03 of the cost and the sale of 1,900 Christmas issues of the War Cry added considerable to the total.

If there should be a surplus from the Christmas fund, Major Wall said, the money will be placed in a fund for social relief work in Cumberland during the year.

The Salvation Army Christmas Basket program is cleared through other local social agencies here to guard against duplication of aid.

Man Held By Police Dies In Hospital

Medical authorities gave a "natural causes" verdict in the death of Raymond K. True, 53-year-old Baltimore and Ohio Railroad worker who died yesterday at 1:30 p. m. in Memorial Hospital after being in police custody for more than 12 hours.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said True, who was arrested Wednesday night at 10 p. m. on charges of being drunk, suffered a cerebral hemmorhage as the result of high blood pressure for which he had received treatment for about a year.

True, according to police, was taken into custody after residents of Union Street complained that he was acting in a "very unusual manner." Officer John Powers, who made the arrest, said True's action indicated he was under the influence of liquor and he was placed in the sound proof cell at City Jail.

In giving his verdict Dr. Fleming, who with Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, performed an autopsy, said that True's illness was such that it could easily be mistaken as drunkness by persons observing his actions.

Police Investigate

True, according to police was held in jail overnight, but Thursday morning, they became alarmed at his condition and called an ambulance to take him to the hospital at 10:30 o'clock.

Dr. Deming said he was told that a few days before his death True struck his head while at work, and suffered an abrasion above his right eye. According to the report, Dr. Deming said, True was repairing a freight car at the time, but did not report the accident to railroad officials.

Because of the unusual circumstances surrounding the victim's death it was investigated yesterday by State Attorney Morgan C. Harris, County Investigator T. J. Boyle and Lt. Detective Edwin R. Lilya, City Police Department.

Lt. Lilya said that investigation showed that several persons who witnessed True's actions on Union Street before his arrest were under the impression that he was under the influence of liquor, although his family said he was never known to drink.

Medical authorities told police that True was suffering from a "leakage of blood" and while it would not cause complete paralysis it would create sufficient pressure to result in a loss of senses by the victim. True, Dr. Deming said, had been under treatment by a local physician.

According to Lt. Lilya's report, Dr. Deming informed him that "True's condition on the night he was arrested would lead anyone to believe he was drunk."

Questioned By Officers

Witnesses, questioned by Lt. Lilya said True went from door to door on Union Street "pounding" and at one residence he tore down an aerial. He later entered McDade's Grocery Store, Union Street, where he was taken into custody by police.

Arresting officers said True was unable to give his name at the time he was brought into Police Headquarters. He was booked under the name of "John Doe", as prisoners are when they are unable to identify themselves.

Witnesses on Union Street, said True only mumbled answers when questioned as to what he wanted or where he was trying to go.

Officer Powers, in his report to the Chief of Police, stated "in no way was this man abused or roughly handled by me as he offered no resistance." Powers said True had all of the symptoms and actions of

Centre St. Church To Dedicate Echo Organ Tomorrow

Special Musical Programs Arranged

Special services have been arranged for Centre Street Methodist Church, Sunday morning and evening, to dedicate a newly installed Echo organ, provided the church through the generosity of Dr. and Mrs. Adrian G. Kintner, according to Rev. Walter Marion Michael, D. D., pastor.

The morning service will begin at 10:45 a. m. with Dr. Carlisle L. Hubbard, Cambridge, Md., and at the evening service at 7:30 p. m. the Girls Tri-Hi-Y of Allegany Hilgh School will be special guests.

Mrs. Kenneth F. Beck, church organist, will play the following numgers at the morning service: "Pass Me Not, O Gentle Savior," by Doane; "Theme from The Pathetique," by Tschaikowsky; "Shepherd's Song," by Chalmar; "Serenade," by Schubert; and "Allegro from the 4th Concerto for the Harpsichord," by Dupuis.

The Chancel Choir, directed by Mrs. Blanche Stanton Gunter, will sing, "Praise To The Lord, The Almighty," by Christianson.

The Chapel Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Ivan W. Hall, will sing, "Pity Us, O Father," by Bliss.

Rev. Michael said the ritual for dedication of organs will be used at the morning service. R. R. Parker, president of the Board of Trustees, will accept the gift of the organ on behalf of the church.

At the evening service, Mrs. Beck will play, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," by Bach; "Day Is Dying in the West," by Sherwin; "Kamenoi-Ostrow," by Rubinstein; "Nocturne," by Mendelssohn; "Alpine Pastorale," and "Arioso," by Handel.

The Chapel Choir will sing, "Over the Stars There Is Rest," by Abt. The Chancel Choir will sing "O Thou In Whose Presence," by Lewis-Cain; and "Now Thank We All Our God," by Cruger-Mueller.

Speaking of the organ which was provided for in a specific bequest in the will of the late Dr. Kintner, formerly choir director of the church, Dr. Michael said the instrument was added to the church's original Moller Argan Opus 5376, which was installed in 1929. The Echo division is located in a room off the balcony at the rear of the church.

The Echo section plays off the great organ of the original organ console. The Echo division consists of a total of 292 pipes, both wood and metal, supplied with wind by their own blower. The Division sounds through a grill in the sanctuary.

The stops chosen for the makeup are necessarily of echo quality and consist of muted string, soft flute, and an Echo English horn.

The purpose of an Echo division is to provide delicate soft effects, for the accompaniment of various portions of the Church services or for more special occasions. Metal pipes of this division are chiefly of what is called spotted metal, which is an alloy of tin and lead, considered highly acceptable by organ builders.

Dr. Michael said yesterday that the services Sunday are open to the public.

Beall Sponsors Stamp For Francis Scott Key

Rep. J. Glenn Beall, of the sixth Congressional District, has received word from the Post Office Department that a commemorative stamp, honoring Francis Scott Key, author of the Star Spangled Banner, will be struck in 1948.

At the session of Congress in 1944, Congressman Beall introduced a resolution, which was passed, requesting the stamp issue.

He said last night he has requested the Post Office Department to have the first 100 stamps cancelled at the Frederick, Md. post office, since Francis Scott Key was a native of that Maryland community, and is interred there.

Impressions Of Switzerland Given By Miss Alice Babb Of Flintstone

By MRS. H. V. BENDER

Miss Alice H. Babb, daughter of C. H. Babb and the late Neoma Babb, Route 2, Flintstone, recently returned from Switzerland, where she was sent last April by the United States Department of State as a member of the International Conference of Trade and Employment, tells some interesting impressions of her stay in Switzerland with side trips to France and Italy.

Miss Babb states that Geneva is so close to France and Italy that one would expect travel to those countries to be as simple as going from Cumberland to West Virginia or Pennsylvania. But not so, it is actually a very complicated process. Each weekend trip into one of the countries requires: a special visa on your passport, changing currency, learning the rate in effect that certain day, passing custom inspection in both countries, and finally, of course, solving the language difficulties. Boundaries are real barriers say Miss Babb and are not to be crossed lightly.

Miss Babb stated that most Swiss people speak several languages, including English. She said their elevator boy spoke four languages yet was very patient at their attempt to speak their language. Because of the neutrality of Switzerland, its people are independent and do not cater to Americans. They are a thrifty, healthy, happy, carefree and unhurried group of people and there is a spirit of friendliness among them that is shown to visitors as well, she added.

Meeting a young Swiss man who had never met an American girl before, makes you acutely aware of the responsibility involved in representing America, Miss Babb said. "It's a frightening thing to think his entire opinion of America would be based on what I said and did.

"We did not find many automo-

SGT. GEORGE CAFFREY

Decatur Street Man Found Lying On Street Here

Tells Police He Was Hit By Car

An elderly Decatur Street man was taken to Allegany Hospital last night suffering from lacerations and bruises after he was found lying next to the curb at the intersection of Henderson Avenue and Frederick Street at 7:15 p. m.

Police said George Reagan, 73, 300 Decatur Street, was taken to the hospital by Myron Landis, 815 Bedford Street, who saw him lying on the street. Reagan told police that he was struck by a car.

Officer Carl Stouffer, who investigated, reported that a Baltimore and Ohio watchman on duty at the crossing had not seen the man, and Landis told police several cars passde without the drivers noticing the man.

William E. Niland, 30, reported to police that a woman stepped in front of a truck he was operating for the Cumberland Laundry and "fell as she jumped back suffering a fractured shoulder."

Niland reported that he was driving the truck east on Baltimore Street, when Mary Cunningham, 65, 110 Bedford Street, stepped from between two parked machines. Niland said he was stopping the truck for a traffic signal and was not going more than eight miles an hour.

He told police that he did not think the truck struck the woman, but that she became frightened and in jumping back fell. Niland said he got out to investigate but had to return to move his truck. During the interval the woman got up and walked away. She later went to the hospital, according to Niland's report.

Pair Is Arrested On Hunting Charges

Two Twiggtown men yesterday were convicted of hunting without licenses and sentenced to serve 20 days in Allegany County Jail in default of $20 fines, but one was later released on bond when he appealed the Trial Magistrate Court decision.

Mathew Dolly and Blane A. Dolly were arrested by Joseph A. Minke, Regional Game Warden and pleaded guilty to the charges. Blane Dolly, however, appealed the sentence of Magistrate Frank A. Perdew.

Minke said when he arrested the men they were both armed and had a rabbit in their possession.

3 Bids For City Airport Filed, Mayor Post Says

York Man Submits Terms For Lease

Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday three bids for a lease on Cumberland's Municipal Airport will be opened Monday at 7:30 p. m. by the Airport Commission in its search for a leasee or manager of the local airport.

The third bidder, according to the Mayor, submitted his bid yesterday afternoon when he was granted an extention on the deadline for bids, because his plane was forced down in Hancock Wednesday by bad weather.

The Mayor confirmed the report that two other bids to lease the airport have been received and said one is from a Cumberland resident while the other is from Baltimore. He said he could not recall the names of the persons submitting the first two bids.

However, several local persons last night confirmed reports that Jack DelaGrange, 802 Trost Avenue, Fred Jenkins and Sanford Jenkins had submitted the local bid.

Oscar Gurley, member of the Airport Commission, said last night that it was his understanding that the deadline had been waived because of the conflict with the holiday, and added that he expects approximately three more bids to be submitted Monday night. He said one would probably be from Newark, N. J.

At least two applications have also been submitted for the position of managing the airport should the city decide against leasing it, but Gurley said the applications do not indicate the experience that would be required of a manager.

He explained his statement by saying "we expect to have two big airlines using the field soon and that will require about 30 men at the airport. That would require a man with a great deal of business experience," he added.

Court Declares Carl Smith Dead

A decree declaring a man legally dead was signed in Circuit Court yesterday by Chief Judge William A. Huster, on the petition of a sister, Mrs. Eleanora K. Senkbeil, filed against the First National Bank of Cumberland.

In the petition, the woman asked the Court to declare her brother, Carl W. Smith, legally dead, as he had not been heard of or from for the past 34 years.

Filed by Clarence Shutter, the petitioner claimed she and her brother are the only legal heirs of their father Henry Smith, who died intestate (without a will) May 20, 1940, at the age of 85.

At the time of his death he owned a property at 505 Central Avenue, and also had on deposit at the First National Bank, $192. Mrs. Senkbeil explained to the Court that her brother Carl W. Smith, left Cumberland at the age of 19, and had been in Detroit, Mich., for a short time. He was last heard from in the summer of 1914.

The petitioner asked for an order to have the bank release the deposits, and have the Court declare the brother legally dead.

In his decree, the Court ruled that Smith is legally dead and instructed the bank to release the deposits to Mrs. Senkbeil since she is the sole survivor.

Chief Of Police Warns Motorists To Prepare Cars For Icy Weather

Pointing to huge increases in traffic accidents during winter over other seasons of the year, Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn, yesterday warned motorists to prepare for hazardous winter weather and road conditions ahead.

Drive slow in rain, sleet or snow, Chief Flynn warned, because traffic accident rates increase 24 to 53 per cent during snow and ice months. Now with more vehicles operating this winter than ever before, every driver must ready his seasonal safety equipment and be on the double alert, he declared.

In co-operation with the International Association of Chiefs of Police, Flynn urged study-proven methods which will help reduce the toll of deaths, accidents and traffic tieups caused by disregarding snow, ice and poor visibility.

"Only serious consideration of these fundamental rules, based on scientific research and tests by the National Safety Council, will save drivers and pedestrians a lot of unnecessary trouble and sorrow," Chief Flynn explained.

The six rules laid down by Flynn to minimize the accident rate in the city during the winter months are:

1. Get the "feel" of the road surface when you start out.

2. Reduce speed when road surfaces are snowy or icy so you can stop in time.

3. Keep windshields and windows clear of snow and ice on the outside and fog and frost on the inside.

4. Use steel tire chains when snow and ice conditions prevail.

5. Carbon monoxide poisoning is dangerous. Never warm your car up in a closed garage.

6. Good tires are desirable because they improve the chances of stopping on wet pavement, but do not depend on even new tires or rubber chains to help on ice or packed snow.

Police Report Roads Above Frostburg Bad

Maryland State Police issued the first "chains are needed" warning for the fall with an announcement that Garrett County roads were buried under a four-inch snowfall that fell during the afternoon but cleared early in the night.

Cumberland experienced a diversified day, with frequent snow flurries spaced by bursts of sunshine, but at all times the temperature stayed low and residents went about outdoor duties with collars pulled tightly around their necks.

Inside it was a story of getting the pressure up a "little higher" to combat the snapping coldspell that many experienced the previous day while witnessing the turkey-day football game.

At Thomas, W. Va., there were reports of a four inch snowfall during the day, and the temperature hovered in the low 20s early last night with a cloudy atmosphere prevailing.

Deal, Pa., residents experienced a one-inch fall of snow but the weather cleared early last night. The temperature was "well below" freezing.

The mercury registered a maximum of 42 in Cumberland yesterday and was hanging at 30 degrees on the city's official weather instrument at 10 p. m., but unofficial reports at 11 p. m. said it had dropped to 28 degrees.

State Police said Garrett County road crews were kept busy during the afternoon cindering Route 40 above Big Savage Mountain, and last night declared the first heavy fall of the year had packed hard on the main highways.

Police in the Grantsville, Garrett County area, said traffic was badly snarled late in the afternoon when several cars stalled on small grades in the area. Trooper Blair J. Buckel reported one line of traffic tied up for nearly a half hour on Route 40.

Snow flurries threatened in Frostburg and further down the Georges Creek region throughout the day also, but late last night there were no reports of roads being covered or of more than a collection of flakes across the open fields.

The West Virginia Road Commission urged motorists to drive with extreme care in West Virginia after receiving reports that snow had fallen in almost all sections of the state. The Commission said highways were passable without chains but that extreme caution was necessary.

For today the weatherman predicted more of the same kind of weather for Maryland with a forecast of "partly cloudy and colder with frequent snow flurries."

LaFevre To Check County Land Plats

Allegany County Commissioners passed on order yesterday rescinding an order passed November 4, naming Harry T. Skelly of the County Roads Department as acting county engineer to check and approve plats to be prepared for the land record office.

At the same time, an order was passed appointing Douglas P. LaFevre, local engineer as supervisor of the plat record work, to be paid $2 per hour for each hour actually spent on the plats.

Russell C. Riggs, 502 Park Street, applied to the Board for appointment as constable at large for the county, but the clerk was instructed to inform him there are no vacancies now for the appointment of another constable.
